Frontiers Of Anthropology:

Frontiers of Anthropology Ashley Montagu, 1974      Frontiers of Anthropology Murray J. Leaf, Bernard Grant Campbell, 1974      Untaming the Frontier in Anthropology, Archaeology, and History Bradley J. Parker, Lars Rodseth, 2005-10

Despite a half century of attempts by social scientists to compare frontiers around the world the study of these regions is still closely associated with the nineteenth century American West and the work of Frederick Jackson Turner. As a result the very concept of the frontier is bound up in Victorian notions of manifest destiny and rugged individualism. The frontier it would seem has been tamed. This book seeks to open a new debate about the processes of frontier history in a variety of cultural contexts: untaming the frontier as an analytic concept and releasing it in a range of unfamiliar settings. Drawing on examples from over four millennia it shows that throughout history societies have been formed and transformed in relation to their frontiers and that no one historical case represents the normal or typical frontier pattern. The contributors, historians, anthropologists and archaeologists, present numerous examples of the frontier as a shifting zone of innovation and recombination through which cultural materials from many sources have been unpredictably channeled and transformed. At the same time they reveal recurring processes of frontier history that enable world historical comparison: the emergence of the frontier in relation to a core area, the mutually structuring interactions between frontier and core and the development of social exchange, merger or conflict between previously separate populations brought together on the frontier. Any frontier situation has many dimensions and each of the chapters highlights one or more of these from the physical and ideological aspects of Egypt's Nubian frontier to the military and cultural components of Inka outposts in Bolivia to the shifting agrarian, religious and political boundaries in Bengal. They explore cases in which the centripetal forces at work in frontier zones have resulted in cultural hybridization or creolization and in some instances show how satellite settlements on the frontiers of core polities themselves develop into new core polities. Each of the chapters suggests that frontiers are shaped in critical ways by topography, climate, vegetation and the availability of water and other strategic resources and most also consider cases of population shifts within or through a frontier zone. As these studies reveal, transnationalism in today's world can best be understood as an extension of frontier processes that have developed over thousands of years. This book's interdisciplinary perspective challenges readers to look beyond their own fields of interest to reconsider the true nature and meaning of frontiers.

Bioarchaeology of Frontiers and Borderlands presents a series of cases addressing how living on or interacting with the frontier can affect health and socioeconomic status. The goal is to explore how people in the past might have maintained created or manipulated their identity while living in a place of liminality stuck in between worlds The zone of in betweenness of demarcation between two or more spheres of influence is a very dynamic and potentially violent place This book aims to explore how different groups stuck in these zones were affected how they interacted with the different worlds and how they lived their lives on the edge Frontiers of Anthropology Ajit K. Arnold, Johanna Minich, 2018-09-12 This is the first volume to bring together archaeology anthropology and art history in the analysis of pre Columbian pottery While previous research on ceramic artifacts has been divided by these three disciplines this volume shows how integrating these approaches provides new understandings of many different aspects of Ancient American societies Contributors from a variety of backgrounds in these fields explore what ceramics can reveal about ancient social dynamics trade ritual politics innovation iconography and regional styles Essays identify supernatural and humanistic beliefs through formal analysis of Lower Mississippi Valley Great Serpent effigy vessels and Ecuadorian depictions of the human figure They discuss the cultural identity conveyed by imagery such as Andean head motifs and they analyze symmetry in designs from locations including the American Southwest Chapters also take diachronic approaches methods that track change over time to ceramics from Mexico s Tarascan State and the Valley of Oaxaca as well as from Maya and Toltec societies This volume provides a much needed multidisciplinary synthesis of current scholarship on Ancient American ceramics It is a model of how different research perspectives can together illuminate the relationship between these material artifacts and their broader human culture Contributors Dean Arnold George J Bey III Michael Carrasco David Dye James Farmer Gary Feinman Amy Hirshman Yumi Park Huntington Johanna Minich Shelia Pozorski and Thomas Pozorski Jeff Price Sarahh Scher Dorothy Washburn Robert F Wald Research Frontiers in Anthropology ,1998 Pergamon Frontiers of anthropology ,1976 South African Homelands as Frontiers Steffen Jensen, Olaf Zenker, 2018-02-02 This book explores what happened to the homelands in many ways the ultimate apartheid disgrace after the fall of apartheid The nine chapters contribute to understanding the multiple configurations that currently exist in areas formerly declared homelands or Bantustans Using the concept of frontier zones the homelands emerge as areas in which the future of the South African postcolony is being renegotiated contested and remade with hyper real intensity This is so because the many fault lines left over from apartheid its loose ends so to speak between white and black between different ethnicities between rich and poor or differentiated by gender generation and nationality between traditions and modernities or between wilderness and human habitation are particularly acute and condensed in these so called communal areas Hence the book argues that it is particularly in these settings that the postcolonial promise of liberation and freedom must face its test As such the book offers highly nuanced and richly detailed analyses that go to the heart of the diverse dilemmas of post apartheid South Africa as a whole but simultaneously also provides in condensed form an extended case study on the predicaments of African postcoloniality in general This book was originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Southern African Studies
