International Economics Rajat Acharyya, 2022-08-18 Complementing trade theories with relevant trade empirics this book covers three aspects of the study of International Economics pure theory of trade trade policy and theory of Balance of Payments BoP and exchange rate In the first part it discusses the basic principles of international trade between dissimilar countries as well as between similar countries and implications thereof in terms of welfare income distribution and growth The approach taken here is distinctly different from that in most of the existing textbooks on international economics Instead of model specific discussions of the basic issues it discusses the basic principles governing trade gains from trade and characteristics of international equilibrium in the context of a general trading environment of open economies Subsequently specific models of trade are introduced as alternative theoretical explanations for the basic principles of trade In the second part a wide range of policy issues are analysed including unilateral trade restrictions and promotions reciprocity trade policy choices through regionalism product standards that regulate trade between developed and developing countries and implications of capital inflow FDI fragmentation and global value chains In the third part the book discusses different currency and exchange rate regimes and their implications for a country's balance of payments and foreign exchange reserves Drawing upon the basic theories it studies expenditure reducing and expenditure switching policies to correct for BoP imbalances under a pegged exchange rate regime Finally some reflections on the choice of exchange rate regime and optimum currency area wind up discussions of monetary issues in international economics

Approaches to Geo-mathematical Modelling Alan G. Wilson, 2016-08-26 Geo mathematical modelling models from complexity science Sir Alan Wilson Centre for Advanced Spatial Analysis University College London Mathematical and computer models for a complexity science tool kit Geographical systems are characterised by locations activities at locations interactions between them and the infrastructures that carry these activities and flows They can be described at a great variety of scales from individuals and organisations to countries

Our understanding often partial of these entities and in many cases this understanding is represented in theories and associated mathematical models In this book the main examples are models that represent elements of the global system covering such topics as trade migration security and development aid together with examples at finer scales This provides an effective toolkit that can not only be applied to global systems but more widely in the modelling of complex systems All complex systems involve nonlinearities involving path dependence and the possibility of phase changes and this makes the mathematical aspects particularly interesting It is through these mechanisms that new structures can be seen to emerge and hence the current notion of emergent behaviour The range of models demonstrated include account based models and biproportional fitting structural dynamics space time statistical analysis real time response models Lotka Volterra models representing war agent based models epidemiology and reaction diffusion approaches game theory network models and finally integrated models Geo mathematical modelling Presents mathematical models with spatial dimensions Provides representations of path dependence and phase changes Illustrates complexity science using models of trade migration security and development aid Demonstrates how generic models from the complexity science tool kit can each be applied in a variety of situations This book is for practitioners and researchers in applied mathematics geography economics and interdisciplinary fields such as regional science and complexity science It can also be used as the basis of a modelling course for postgraduate students
