Students Writing in the University Carys Jones, Joan Turner, Brian Street, 2000-01-15 This volume aims to raise awareness of the underlying complexities concerning student writing in the universities The authors address a series of theoretical as well as practical questions regarding the literacies required of students in Higher Education from the perspective of both students themselves and of their tutors The research described here intends to move beyond the narrow confines of current policy debates and the quick fix solutions of writing manuals to explore the epistemological cultural historical and theoretical bases of such writing Issues addressed include the nature of competing epistemologies that underlie the writing process and the varying degrees of explicitness about what academic writing entails ways of challenging the institutional marginalisation of academic writing as teaching learning and research practice what counts as knowledge and how far it is mediated by the rhetorical conventions of one culture to what extent the challenging of such rhetorical conventions is itself a crucial epistemological issue Writing in this volume then is addressed in terms of academic literacy practices involving relations of power issues of identity and theories of knowledge

Language Development Across Childhood and Adolescence Ruth Aronson Berman, 2004-01-01 This volume brings together work by scholars with backgrounds in linguistics psycholinguistics developmental psychology education and language pathology As such the book adds psycholinguistic and crosslinguistic perspectives to the clinical and classroom approaches that have dominated the study of later language development Incorporating insights from prior language acquisition research it goes beyond preschool age to consider both isolated utterances and extended discourse conversational interactions and monologic text construction and both written and spoken language use from early school age across adolescence Data from French Hebrew Spanish and Swedish as well as English cover varied domains morphology and lexicon syntax and verb argument structure as well as peer interaction spelling processing of on line writing and reading poetry The epilogue suggests explanations for the findings documented Across the book the authors show how cognitive and social maturation combines with increased literacy in the path taken by schoolchildren and adolescents towards the flexible deployment of a growing repertoire of lexical elements in varied morpho syntactic constructions and different discourse contexts that constitutes the hallmark of maturely proficient language use

Crossing Languages and Research Methods Cindy Brantmeier, 2009-11-01 In 2002 this series was launched with its first volume Literacy and the Second Language Learner which contained many noteworthy research studies in the learning and teaching of second language reading The selection of this theme for the series entry on the scene demonstrates the importance of the topic of second language reading Because reading plays a key role in the act of acquiring new knowledge it is important to understand this complex process The series again explores this multifaceted and fruitful area of inquiry in this its seventh volume In recent years an explosion of work that strives to create a more complete understanding of second language reading has occurred and researchers today are making gains in fitting together a model of second language reading This current volume brings together a range of high quality analyses of adult foreign language reading across languages and research methods It provides important research findings that will assist foreign language readers and those who support their efforts

On Second Language Writing Tony Silva, Paul Kei Matsuda, 2012-12-06 On Second Language Writing brings together internationally recognized scholars in a collection of original articles that collectively delineate and explore central issues with regard to theory research instruction assessment politics articulation with other disciplines and standards In recent years there has been a dramatic growth of interest in second language writing and writing instruction in many parts of the world Although an increasing number of researchers and teachers in both second language studies and composition studies have come to identify themselves as specialists in second language writing research and teaching practices have been dispersed into several different disciplinary and institutional contexts because of the interdisciplinary nature of the field This volume is the first to bring together prominent second language writing specialists to systematically address basic issues in the field and to consider the state of the art at the end of the century and the millennium

Growing into Language Liliana Tolchinsky, Ruth A. Berman, 2023-02-28 This book explores how schoolchildren and adolescents employ language in different communicative settings The authors demonstrate how language development is affected by the language and culture in which it evolves and use brain studies to provide a deeper explanation of developmental changes in language behavior

Elizabethan Rhetoric

Peter Mack, 2002-10-17 Peter Mack examines the impact of humanist training in rhetoric and argument on a range of Elizabethan prose texts including political orations histories romances conduct manuals privy council debates and personal letters Elizabethan Rhetoric reconstructs the knowledge skills and approaches which an Elizabethan would have acquired in order to participate in the political and religious debates of the time the approaches to an audience analysis and replication of textual structures organisation of arguments and tactics for disputation Study of the rhetorical codes and conventions in terms of which debates were conducted is currently a major area of historical and literary enquiry and Mack provides a wealth of new information about what was taught and how these conventions were exploited in personal memoranda court depositions sermons and political and religious pamphlets This important book will be invaluable for all those interested in the culture literature and political history of the period Handbook of Reading Research Michael L. Kamil,P. David Pearson,Elizabeth Birr Moje,Peter Afflerbach,2011-03-17 The Handbook of Reading Research is the research handbook for the field Each volume has come to define the field for the period of time it covers Volume IV brings the field authoritatively and comprehensively up to date Writing with Students Lucy Macnaught,2024-08-08 Beginning with a review of the theory and pedagogic practices that have been influential in English for Academic Purposes EAP contexts this book examines the practice of joint construction in a genre based approach to literacy pedagogy It investigates how teachers guide students to co construct a text drawing attention to the contested rationale for teachers taking a leading role when writing collaboratively with their students Informed by systemic functional linguistics the book puts forward an accessible approach to the analysis of classroom discourse that centres on the dynamic mediation of meaning Through examples of classroom interaction involving international students who are studying EAP and specifically as preparation for university entrance it illuminates how classroom metalanguage and the organisation of classroom talk enables teachers to guide but not provide wording metalanguage also enables students to critique and justify their choices as they try out new academic language modify and improve their writing Relating Events in Narrative, Volume 2 Ludo Verhoeven,Sven Stromqvist,2004-02-13 Relating Events in Narrative Volume 2 Typological and Contextual Perspectives edited by Sven Strmqvist and Ludo Verhoeven is the much anticipated follow up volume to Ruth Berman and Dan Slobin s successful frog story studies book Relating Events in Narrative A Crosslinguistic Developmental Study 1994 Working closely with Ruth Berman and Dan Slobin the new editors have brought together a wide range of scholars who inspired by the 1994 book have all used Mercer Mayer s Frog Where Are You as a basis for their research The new book which is divided into two parts features a broad linguistic and cultural diversity Contributions focusing on crosslinguistic perspectives make up the first part of the book This part is concluded by Dan Slobin with an analysis and overview discussion of factors of linguistic typology in frog story research The second part offers a variety of theoretical and methodological perspectives all dealing with contextual variation of narrative construction in a wide sense variation across medium modality speech writing signing genre variation the specific frog story narrative compared to other genres frog story narrations from the perspective of theory of mind and from the perspective of bilingualism and second language acquisition Several of the contributions to the new book manuscript also deal with developmental perspectives but in distinction to the 1994 book that is not the only focused issue The second part is initiated by Ruth Berman with an analysis of the role of context in developing narrative abilities The new book represents a rich overview and illustration of recent advances in theoretical and methodological approaches to the crosslinguistic study of narrative discourse A red thread throughout the book is that crosslinguistic variation is not merely a matter of variation in form but also in content and aspects of cognition A recurrent perspective on language and thought is that of Dan Slobin s theory of thinking for speaking an approach to cognitive consequences of linguistic diversity The book ends with an epilogue by Herbert Clark Variations on a Rararian Theme
