Language Function Ellyn Arwood,2011-05-15 Dr Arwood outlines a revolutionary four tiered model of how learners acquire language and suggests ways to impose visual language functions onto an auditory language like English in order to improve learning for both neurotypical learners and those with neurogenic disabilities Contexts of Competence Margie Berns,2013-06-29 The introduction of communicative competence as the goal of second and for eign language teaching has led to recognition of the role of context in language learning and use As communicative competence is defined by the social and cultural contexts in which it is used no single communicative competence can serve as the goal and model for all learners This recognition has had an impact on program design and materials development One significant change is that the choice of a teaching method is no longer the primary concern Instead the first step for the program designer is becoming familiar with the social and cultural features of the context of the language being taught This includes a consideration of the uses speakers make of the language their reasons for using it and their attitudes toward it Contexts of Competence Social and Cultural Considerations in Commu nicative Language Teaching explores the relationship between context and com petence from a theoretical and practical perspective Its audience is applied linguists in general and language teaching practitioners in particular The overall aim of its five chapters is to provide a framework for consideration of various contexts of language learning and use and to guide the implementation and development of models of communicative language teaching that are responsive to the context specific needs of learners Pedagogy of Language Development Exam Leaders Expert, Language Functions Delia Rusu,2011 The Indiana School Journal ,1899 Educational Patterns and Cultural Configurations Joan I. Roberts,Sherrie K. Akinsanya,1976 Publications of the Training School at Vineland, New Jersey, Department of Research. no.12, 1916 ,1916 Developing Language and Literacy in English across the Secondary School Curriculum Urszula Clark,2018-07-21 This book draws on original research and a language based pedagogy approach to examine how secondary schools in the UK can devise and implement coherent language and literacy across curriculum policies and strategies so that grammar and associated metalanguage becomes an integral part of their day to day curriculum practices The research was undertaken in three 11 to 18 secondary schools in England where the majority of students are categorised as having English as a second language EAL and where a significant minority are also socially disadvantaged in two of the three The author argues that paying explicit attention to the linguistic structures through which subject knowledge is realised can be of benefit to all pupils in ways that are also socially just and democratic This book provides an important bridge between academic theory and educational practice that will appeal to applied linguists and sociolinguists as well as to teachers teacher trainers and practitioners International Journal of the Sociology of Language ,1982 The Teaching of Latin Mason DeWitt Gray,1929 A Mind at a Time Mel Levine,2002-04-04 Different minds learn differently writes Dr Mel Levine one of the best known education experts and pediatricians in America today And that s a problem for many children because most schools still cling to a one size fits all education philosophy As a result these children struggle because their learning patterns don t fit the schools they are in In A Mind at a Time Dr Levine shows parents and others who care for children how to identify these individual learning patterns He explains how parents and teachers can encourage a child s strengths and bypass the child s weaknesses This type of teaching produces satisfaction and achievement instead of frustration and failure Different brains are differently wired Dr Levine explains There are eight fundamental systems or components of learning that draw on a variety of neurodevelopmental capacities Some students are strong in certain areas and some are strong in others but no one is equally capable in all eight Using examples drawn from his own extensive experience Dr Levine shows how parents and children can identify their strengths and weaknesses to determine their individual learning styles For example some students are creative and write imaginatively but do poorly in history because weak memory skills prevent them from retaining facts Some students are weak in sequential ordering and can t follow directions They may test poorly and often don t do well in mathematics In these cases Dr Levine observes the problem is not a lack of intelligence but a learning style that doesn t fit the assignment Drawing on his pioneering research and his work with thousands of students Dr Levine shows how parents and teachers can develop effective strategies to work through or around these weaknesses It s taken for granted in adult society that we cannot all be generalists skilled in every area of learning and mastery Nevertheless we apply tremendous pressure to our children to be good at everything They are expected to shine in math reading writing speaking spelling memorization comprehension problem solving and none of us adults can do all this observes Dr Levine Learning begins in school but it doesn t end there Frustrating a child s desire to learn will have lifelong repercussions This frustration can be avoided if we understand that not every child can do equally well in every type of learning We must begin to pay more attention to individual learning styles to individual minds urges Dr Levine so that we can maximize children s learning potential In A Mind at a Time he shows us how Promoting multilingual practices in school and home environments Anna Szczepaniak-Kozak,Angela Farrell,Sandra Ballweg,Andrea Daase,Emilia Wąsikiewicz-Firlej,Mary Masterson,2023-05-15 European society in the 21st century is characterised by increasing linguistic and cultural diversity and this offers valuable resources both on the economic and ideational level At the same time this growing diversity raises challenges to societies in terms of ensuring greater equity and social cohesion In this book the authors discuss the role of languages and multilingualism in the education system and at the interface of formal education and the home environment in this time of transition They offer perspectives of four European countries namely Germany Greece Ireland and Poland By this the authors aim to provide teacher educators interested teachers and also other stakeholders in the education system with essential contextual information and related pedagogical considerations in the areas of language acquisition multilingualism multilingual upbringing whole school development and language sensitive
