

Where does paper come from?

- Paper comes from trees
- It is made from a mixture of all types of trees
- The trees are cut down and the branches are cut off
- They are then loaded onto a lorry and taken to the paper mill
- New trees are planted to replace the ones that are cut down

How is paper made?

- The logs are put into a log chaser and turntable around until all the bark has come off. The bark does not make good quality paper
- The logs are then squared and cracked into tiny pieces called chips. Water is added to make a pulp that looks a bit like porridge
- When the water is drained away the pulp is all stuck together to make paper
- This has to be spread out very thinly and left to dry
