over eight thousand pages to help reveal the inscrutable figure behind the legendary pen Beginning with her junior year at Barnard in 1941 Highsmith ritualistically kept a diary and notebook the former to catalog her day the latter to brainstorm stories and hone her craft This volume weaves diary and notebook simultaneously exhibiting precisely how Highsmith's personal affairs seeped into her fiction and the sheer darkness of her own imagination Charming yet teetering on the egotistical young Pat lays bare her dizzying social life in 1940s Greenwich Village barhopping with Judy Holliday and Jane Bowles among others Alongside Flannery O'Connor and Chester Himes she attended at the recommendation of Truman Capote the Yaddo artist colony in 1948 where she drafted Strangers on a Train Published in 1950 and soon adapted by Alfred Hitchcock this debut novel brought recognition and brief financial security but left a heartsick Highsmith agonizing What is the life I choose Providing extraordinary insights into gender and sexuality in mid twentieth century America Highsmith's diaries convey her euphoria writing The Price of Salt 1951 Yet her sophomore novel would have to be published under a pseudonym so as not to tarnish her reputation Indeed no one could anticipate commercial reception for a novel depicting love between two women in the McCarthy era Seeking relief from America Highsmith catalogs her peripatetic years in Europe subsisting on cigarettes and growing more bigoted and satirical with age After a stay in Positano with a new lover she reflects in her notebooks on being an expat and gleefully conjures the unforgettable The Talented Mr Ripley 1955 it would be this sociopathic antihero who would finally solidify her true fame At once lovable detestable and mesmerizing Highsmith put her turbulent life to paper for five decades acutely aware there must be a few usable things in literature A memoir as significant in our own century as Sylvia Plath's journals and Simone de Beauvoir's writings were to another time Patricia Highsmith Her Diaries and Notebooks is an historic work that chronicles a woman's rise against the conventional tide to unparalleled literary prominence

Historical Dictionary of Italian Cinema Gino Moliterno, 2020-12-08 Italian cinema is now regarded as one of the great cinemas of the world Historically however its fortunes have varied Following a brief moment of glory in the early silent era Italian cinema appeared to descend almost into irrelevance in the early 1920s A strong revival of the industry which gathered pace during the 1930s was abruptly truncated by the advent of World War II The end of the war however initiated a renewal as films such as Roma città aperta Rome Open City Sciusci Shoeshine 1946 and Ladri di biciclette Bicycle Thieves

1948 flagbearers of what soon came to be known as Neorealism attracted unprecedented international acclaim and a reputation that only continued to grow in the following years as Italian films were feted worldwide. Ironically they were celebrated nowhere more than in the United States where Italian films consistently garnered the lion's share of the Oscars with Lina Wertmüller becoming the first woman to ever be nominated for the Best Director award. This second edition of Historical Dictionary of Italian Cinema contains a chronology, an introduction and an extensive bibliography. The dictionary section has over 400 cross-referenced entries on major movements, directors, actors, actresses, film genres, producers, industry organizations and key films. This book is an excellent resource for students, researchers and anyone wanting to know more about Italian Cinema. Filmotsav '84, Bombay, 1984 Post-Wall German Cinema and National History

Mary-Elizabeth O'Brien, 2014. German history films that focus on utopianism and political dissent and their effect on German identity since 1989. Since unification a radical shift has taken place in Germans' view of their country's immediate past with 1989 replacing 1945 as the primary caesura. The cold war, division, the failed socialist state, the 68 student movement and the Red Army Faction historical flashpoints involving political oppression, civil disobedience and the longing for utopian solutions to social injustice have come to be seen as decisive moments in a collective history that unites East and West even as it divides them. Telling stories about a shared past, establishing foundational myths and finding commonalities of experience are pivotal steps in the construction of national identity. Such nation building is always incomplete but the cinema provides an important forum in which notions of German history and national identity can be consumed, negotiated and contested. This book looks at history films made since 1989 exploring how utopianism and political dissent have shaped German identity. It studies the genre including popular successes, critical successes and perceived failures as a set of texts and a discursive network gauging which conventions and storylines are resilient. At issue is the overriding question: to what extent do these films contribute to a narrative that legitimizes the German nation state? Mary Elizabeth O'Brien is Professor of German and The Courtney and Steven Ross Chair in Interdisciplinary Studies at Skidmore College. Das Schweizer Buch, 2007
