Educational Development:

Educational Development Through Information and Communications Technology Rakesh Bhanot, Stephen Fallows, 2003-12-16 Information and Communications Technology ICT has proved to be one of the key drivers of change in education In higher education particularly ICT is enabling educators educational developers and institutions to reach out to learners using innovative approaches based on the flexibility accessibility and diversity that it offers This book is based on the experiences of expert educational developers from the UK United States Canada South Africa and Malaysia It considers the ways in which ICT can be used to enhance learning both on and off campus and how educators and institutions have tackled the issues associated with the adoption of new approaches and technologies However as the development of new technology is relentless the book recognizes that ICT is not a panacea in itself good teaching remains crucial to good education With this in mind the contributors address issues beyond technology looking at the importance of teaching and at the skills of teachers themselves if ICT is to be truly successful Coverage is grouped into four key themes strategic issues for ICT initiatives introducing ICT into the classroom using ICT in practice using ICT in learning and educational support International in scope and written by educators and educational developers rather than by technologists this book is intended to be accessible to anyone with a critical interest in improving education through the use of ICT It will be of particular interest to staff and educational developers ICT coordinators course leaders and course developers at both policy and practice levels Gu Mingyuan's Educational Thought Yingjie Wang, 2025-04-01 This book systematically reviews the educational thought of Mr Gu Mingyuan one of the most prestigious educationists in contemporary China and details the development of his pioneering educational ideas The content covers virtually all areas of education from pre school to higher education and lifelong learning from general education to vocational education and informal learning In the process it comprehensively reflects Mr Gu s insights on global education and his perspectives on Chinese education reviews China s educational history assesses the status quo and outlines the future of education Since he has not only been a significant witness but also a key promoter of all major educational changes since China s reform and opening up over the past 40 years this book is more than a personal biography of a Chinese educationist rather it epitomizes the evolution of China s educational thinking over the past four decades Learning Development in Higher Education Peter Hartley, John Hilsdon, Christine Keenan, 2010-11-17 This book shows how Learning Development enhances the student experience and promotes active engagement Written by staff from the UK s largest collaborative Centre for Excellence in Teaching and Learning CETL the book includes important insights for everyone interested in supporting student retention progression and success The Status of Education Research and Development in the United States National Institute of Education (U.S.), 1976 Resources in Education , 2000-10 Research in Education , 1970 Education Fever Michael J. Seth, 2002-09-30 In the half century after 1945 South Korea went from an impoverished largely rural nation ruled by a succession of authoritarian regimes to a prosperous democratic industrial society No less impressive was the country s transformation from a nation where a majority of the population had no formal education to one with some of the world s highest rates of literacy high school graduates and university students Drawing on their premodern and colonial heritages as well as American education concepts South Koreans have been largely successful in creating a schooling system that is comprehensive uniform in standard and universal The key to understanding this educational transformation is South Korean society s striking nearly universal preoccupation with schooling what Korean s themselves call their education fever This volume explains how Koreans concern for achieving as much formal education as possible appeared immediately before 1945 and quickly embraced every sector of society Through interviews with teachers officials parents and students and an examination of a wide range of written materials in both Korean and English Michael Seth explores the reasons for this social demand for education and how it has shaped nearly every aspect of South Korean society He also looks at the many problems of the Korean educational system the focus on entrance examinations which has tended to reduce education to test preparation the overheated competition to enter prestige schools the enormous financial burden placed on families for costly private tutoring the inflexibility created by an emphasis on uniformity of standards and the misuse of education by successive governments for political purposes World Yearbook of Education 2006 Jenny Ozga, Terri Seddon, Thomas S. Popkewitz, 2013-01-11 This volume considers the ways in which educational research is being shaped by policy across the globe Policy effects on research are increasingly influential as policies in and beyond education drive the formation of a knowledge based economy by supporting increased international competitiveness through more effective evidence based interventions in schooling education and training systems What consequences does this increased steering have for research in education How do transnational agencies make their influence felt on educational research How do national systems and traditions of educational research and relations with policy respond to these new pressures What effects does it have on the quality of research and on the freedom of researchers to pursue their own agendas The 2006 volume of the World Yearbook of Education explores these issues focusing on three key themes globalising policy and research in education steering education research in national contexts global local politics of education research The 2006 volume has a truly global reach incorporating transnational policy perspectives from the OECD and the European Commission alongside national cases from across the world in contrasting contexts that include North and South America Canada France Singapore China Russia and New Zealand The range of contributions reflect how pervasive these developments are how much is new in this situation and to what extent evidence based policy pressures on research in education build on past relationships between education and policy This book considers the impact of the steering processes on the work and identities of individual researchers and considers how research can be organised to play a more active role in the politics of the knowledge economy and learning society

The Scholarship of Teaching and Learning in Higher Education Shirley Booth, Laurie Woollacott, 2015-12-31 This book makes a significant contribution to the literature on the Scholarship of Teaching and Learning SoTL It provides both theoretical and practical insights that should be of interest to many SoTL scholars and practitioners worldwide The theme of teaching and learning and SoTL as fundamentally communicative acts connects the entire volume and will be picked up by SoTL scholars elsewhere as a useful and critical frame for future scholarship The cases from South Africa and Sweden offer new perspectives on teaching learning and SoTL

Tribal Education in India Macharlla Ramesh, 2018-04-30 India has the largest tribal population in the world A major factor that can bring transformation in the overall condition among tribal population is education Education is the only primary agent which can help individuals overcome income barriers and expand the horizon of the community when it comes to making career choices personal growth build confidence and a sustained development Education alone is a chief avenue that will upgrade the economic and social stature of the Scheduled Tribes Indian state has taken measures to raise the literacy levels among Scheduled Tribes however there are many miles to reach out as the issues and challenges faced by them remain unaddressed in terms of attaining education and development This book tried to fill the gap and made a modest attempt to understand the concerns and problems faced by them in accessing the state sponsored modern educational system

Higher

Education in South Africa Eli Bitzer, 2009-10-01 Higher Education in South Africa should be of considerable interest to higher education researchers outside of South Africa as well as within for the general and comparative assessments it makes. The South African higher education researchers included within its covers have clearly engaged with research and writing from many parts of the world which they have then applied to make sense of their own condition. Authenticity in and Through Teaching in Higher Education Carolin Kreber, 2013 In developing the notion of the scholarship of teaching as an authentic practice the author draws on several complementary philosophical ideas to explore the nature of this practice why it is imperative for universities to engage in it what meaningful engagement would look like and the conditions under which it might qualify as authentic. Core constructs employed include practice virtue communicative action being power critical reflection and transformation. The scholarship of teaching is described as a practice sustained through critical reflection and critical self reflection. Being a scholar of teaching is viewed as an ongoing transformative learning process a process of becoming authentic the latter ultimately aimed at both helping students to become authentic and creating a better world in which to teach learn and live.
