Education For A Culture Of Peace In A Gender Perspective:

Education for a Culture of Peace in a Gender Perspective Betty Reardon, 2001 The UN Declaration and Programme of Action on a Culture of Peace was adopted by the UN General Assembly in 1999 and has as one of its eight pillars the aim of fostering an international peace culture through education This book approaches the issues of social justice and peace studies from the perspective of gender equality The book is designed as a training resource for pre service and in service teacher training at upper secondary school level but can also be used at other educational levels as well as in non formal education Its aim is to help students develop the skills and capacities to promote the values and attitudes consistent with a culture of peace The book also contains suggested reading and internet sites for further study Gender and Peacebuilding Maureen P. Flaherty, Thomas G. Matyók, Sean Byrne, Hamdesa Tuso, 2015-10-16 The twenty first century has brought with it a shift from the notion of human security being located in secure national borders to the need to secure the safety freedom and dignity of all Despite efforts to equalize women s status in the world evidenced by changes in many international projects requiring a gender focus women and men experience most of the world in very different ways according to gender Further the reality is that humans who do not all fall neatly into one of these categories male or female often find their lives further challenged In the 1980s Peace and Conflict Studies first began to acknowledge and study the different experiences males and females have during war and peace Since then there have been books about women and war women working at grassroots levels to build peace women and transitional justice women and peace education and women s views of human security All of these works have contributed to the discourse of our changing world This book brings together some of those themes and voices and adds more with the final product being more than the sum of its parts We add to the conversation a book that considers foundational fundamental issues that span from the interpersonal to the global Many of the chapters describe empirical research completed with author and community shared here for the first time Part One is a collection of case studies documenting challenges and responses to peacebuilding by women from various parts of the world Part Two focuses on Peace and Conflict Studies PACS as a discipline examining not only what is but also what should be taught This section critiques today s efforts at teaching Peace and Conflict Studies and provides suggestions of how this important work might be shared in more open and equitable ways Part Three enters territory found even less in the PACS literature In this section our authors confront patriarchy engage in a discussion about the contribution queer theory makes to PACS and tussle with the notion of inclusivity with considerations of both gender and disability It then ends with a discussion about the contribution feminist methodologies make to PACS Handbook of Research on Promoting Peace Through Practice, Academia, and the Arts Lutfy, Mohamed Walid, Toffolo, Cris, 2018-09-07 Academic disciplines perceive tranquility and a sense of contentment differently among themselves and therefore contribute to peace building initiatives differently Peace is not merely a function of education or a tool that produces amicable systems but rather a concept that educational contributions can help societies progress to a more peaceful existence The Handbook of Research on Promoting Peace Through Practice Academia and the Arts aims to provide readers with a concise overview of proactive positive peace models and practices to counter the overemphasis on merely ending wars as a solution While approaching peace building through multiple vantage points and academic fields such as the humanities arts social sciences and theology this valuable resource promotes peace building as a cooperative effort This publication is a vital reference work for humanitarian workers leaders educators policymakers academicians undergraduate and graduate level students and researchers Pacifism, Politics, and Feminism, 2019-04-09 Pacifism Politics and Feminism Intersections and Innovations discusses a how feminist analyses allow for and encourage the re conceptualization of concepts and ideas once thought familiar from traditional ethical and political philosophy and b traditional political topics and issues through pacifist and feminist lenses The chapters that focus on the former explore the possibility of queering such concepts as autonomy violence resistance peace religion and politics while the chapters that focus on the latter bring feminist and pacifist sensibilities and arguments to bear on classic political questions such as when and how violence and war are justified the appropriateness of various responses to climate change and the correct way to engage with such topics and themes in educational institutional settings Contributors are David Boersema Barrett Emerick Tamara Fakhoury Jane Hall Fitz Gibbon William C Gay Jennifer Kling John Lawless Megan Mitchell and Harry van der Linden

Anthropologica ,2006

The Gender Imperative Betty A. Reardon, Asha Hans, 2012-12-06 The book asserts that human security derives from the experience and expectation of human well being which depends on four essential conditions a life sustaining environment the meeting of essential physical needs respect for the identity and dignity of persons and groups protection from avoidable harm and expectations of remedy from them The book demonstrates their integral relationship to human security Patriarchy being the germinal paradigm from which most major human institutions such as the state the economy organised religions and social relations have evolved the book argues that fundamental inequalities must be challenged for the sake of equality and security The fundamental point raised is that expectation of human well being is a continuing cause of armed conflict which constitutes a threat to peace and survival of all humanity and human security cannot exist within a militarised security system The editors of the book bring together 14 essays which critically examine militarised security in order to find human security pathways show ways in which to refute the dominant paradigm indicate a clear gender analysis that challenges the current system and suggests alternatives to militarised security With a mix of female and male feminist scholar activists as contributors the book makes an important contribution to a new discourse on human security

The United Nations and Higher Education Kevin Kester, 2020-04-01 In this book Kevin Kester details how the United Nations promotion of higher education for peace and international understanding sometimes unintentionally contributes to the reproduction of conflict and violence across diverse cultures He shows this through an in-depth examination of peace curricula pedagogy and policy in one United Nations higher education institution where he indicates how dominant philosophical and pedagogical models that signify acceptable peace education ultimately undermine the very goals of educational peacebuilding Kester contends that theoretical and pedagogical training must develop beyond the dominant psycho-social-rational and state-centric assumptions that permeate the field today if higher education is to better contribute to personal and societal peacebuilding Drawing from the fields of educational philosophy and sociology he argues for new concepts of poststructural violence and second order reflexivity that can assist scholars in reducing conflict and building peace in lasting ways He complements his fieldwork findings with personal reflections throughout the book to reimagine the transformative possibilities of peacebuilding education for the 21st century

Silber,2016-08-23 What s missing from your teacher education program According to research studies one glaring omission is gender Tomorrow s teachers receive little instruction or training on the tremendous impact of gender in the classroom Just how does gender influence teaching the curriculum and the lives of teachers and students in the classroom This unique book has been designed to answer these questions Gender in the Classroom is intended to be used across the teacher education curriculum from subject specific methods courses to foundations from educational psychology to student teaching It can be adopted for an entire program or several instructors can adopt it jointly or a single instructor can adopt it as one of several or a supplementary text for a course A comprehensive Instructor s Manual provides information and materials for teacher educators who adopt the text Each chapter offers practical information and skills about gender and sex differences curriculum and specific teaching methods Written in a lively style the text features a number of interactive activities to engage and instruct the reader. The chapters follow a common format designed to invite student interest and action. Each is built around Essential Equity Questions that focus on pertinent gender-related questions and issues in a specific subject area: the role of women in education, intersections of the teaching profession, feminism and teachers as activists for social change, gender differences in cognitive ability, attitudes and behavior, how to teach and implement Title IX, how to observe classrooms to see gender bias, social studies education, English language arts methods, science education and mathematics and technology education. Interactions in each chapter engage students in activities to promote understanding. Each Interaction is linked to one or more specific INTASC standards. In the last chapter, the emphasis is on applying many of the skills learned previously; it gives student teachers and their supervisors several tools they can use for analyzing classroom teaching and detecting gender bias. This chapter also includes a culminating activity for identifying and correcting curricular bias. In fact, many of the techniques in this text can be applied to uncover and correct not only gender bias but racial, ethnic, and cultural bias as well. Psychological Components of Sustainable Peace Peter T. Coleman, Morton Deutsch, 2012-06-15. Scholarship on the psychology of peace has been accumulating for decades. The approach employed has been predominantly centered on addressing and preventing conflict and violence and less on the conditions associated with promoting peace. Concerns around nuclear annihilation, enemy images, discrimination, denial of basic human needs, terrorism, and torture have been the focal points of most research. The Psychological Components of a Sustainable Peace moves beyond a prevention orientation to the study of the conditions for increasing the probabilities for sustainable cooperative peace. Such a view combines preventative scholarship with a promotive orientation to the study of peaceful situations and societies. The contributors to this volume examine the components of various psychological theories that contribute to the promotion of a harmonious sustainable peace. Underlying this orientation is the belief that promoting the ideas and actions which can lead to a sustainable harmonious peace will not only contribute to the prevention of war but will also lead to more positive constructive relations among people and nations and to a more sustainable planet. The Psychological Components of a Sustainable Peace is valuable and stimulating reading for researchers in peace psychology, political psychology, and conflict resolution as well as others who are interested in developing a sustainable harmonious world.

Regenerative Ecosystems in the Anthropocene Amar K. J. R. Nayak, 2024-07-25. The book offers a transdisciplinary eco-systemic framework for analysis of ecosystems. It uses eight dimensions: economic, social, political, environmental, and 40 factors to diagnose degenerating ecosystems and to synthesize regenerative ecosystems amid growing uncertainty and inequality in the Anthropocene. Chapter 1 broadly defines the all-interacting evolving systems science AIESS approach in terms of its eco-systemic and transdisciplinary action research methodology. Chapter 2 provides a detailed explanation of the AIESS approach through the four concepts of interconnectedness, interdependence, interactions, and intent to diagnose degeneration and
