he invited the reporters to a private reception at the Cuban Embassy in Washington where he presented them with engraved gold medals While the medals revealed Castro s perception of the correspondents as like minded partisans the journalists themselves had no such intentions Some had journeyed to Cuba in pursuit of scoops that could rejuvenate or jump start their careers others sought to promote press freedom in Latin America still others were simply carrying out assignments from their editors Bringing to light the disparate motives and experiences of the thirteen journalists who reported on this crucial period in Cuba s history Reporting the Cuban Revolution is both a masterwork of narrative nonfiction and a deft analysis of the tension between propaganda and objectivity in the work of American foreign correspondents     Communication Yearbook 26 William B.
