Educational Choice And Labor Markets In Japan:

Educational Choice and Labor Markets in Japan Mary Jean Bowman, 1981 Educational Choice and Labor Markets in Japan Mary J. Bowman, Impact of Science Education on the GCC Labor Market Alexander W. Wiseman, 2011-09-21

The large population of expatriates and other non nationals has outpaced the population of nationals in many Gulf Cooperation Council GCC countries Expatriates have come to Gulf countries to fill several niches in the labor market which has segmented the labor market around wages skills and employment sectors This labor market segmentation has been characterized by GCC nationals holding stable and high status jobs in the public sector which generally do not require specific education or skills However the labor market is becoming increasingly less segmented as expatriates and non nationals continue to fill private sector positions throughout the GCC labor market at all levels of pay and responsibility Evidence suggests that creating both a competitive and amenable labor market for GCC nationals in the private sector will require a labor strategy focusing on strengthening investment in human capital Doing this requires a significant investment in education either formally or informally From a policy perspective science education has been perceived to be one of the most important and rapid methods of building human capital for labor market readiness and productivity This monograph contextualizes the labor market relative to science education and vice versa in the GCC countries and summarizes the literature on the topic before turning to the 2007 Trends in International Mathematics and Science Study TIMSS data to examine comparatively science education and expectations for university and labor market transitions within and across GCC countries compared to international trends This data is also examined to determine the specific differences in GCC nationals and non nationals science knowledge and skills acquisition which contribute to labor market participation and productivity in GCC countries Finally the TIMSS 2007 data is analyzed to compare the differences between national and non national expectations and understanding of the labor market relative to their science knowledge and skills The findings reported here provide a data based portrait of the contribution of science education in GCC countries to labor market potential and participation of nationals and non nationals The results of these analyses provide a strong evidence base for policymakers in GCC countries to make decisions about science education and labor market policy Finally the monograph itself concludes with several evidence based policy recommendations for complementing existing strategies aimed at creating a more competitive environment for the transition of GCC nationals into the private sector labor market in GCC countries Public Policy and Private Education in Japan Estelle James, Gail R Benjamin, 1988-09-29 Education and Training in Japan Thomas P. Rohlen, Christopher Bjork, 1998 This collection written by Japanese and foreign scholars represents an inclusive cross section of the most important work in key areas of this field Topics include the impact of Japanese education and training on Japan's economy and culture the Japanese influence on the East Asian approach to education in comparison with the educational systems of Korea Taiwan Singapore and Hong Kong Japan's promotion of learning organizations and Knowledge workers for the Information Age Competition and Cooperation in Japanese Labour Markets C. Mosk,1995-10-09 This volume explains the salient features of the Japanese labour market The key idea in this book is integrated segmentation Emphasis is upon segmentation on the demand side within the educational system and on supply side monitoring costs which underlie labour contracts Using long run official government statistical evidence it is argued that what is peculiar to Japan is the integration of segmented labour markets By virtue of segmentation the Japanese labour market is deeply competitive By virtue of integration it is highly cooperative EDUCATIONAL CHOICE AND LABOUR MARKETS IN JAPAN Mary Jean Bowman,1981 U.S./Japan Foreign Trade Rita E. Neri,2018-02-21 This bibliography first published in 1988 consists of annotated entries of monographs and journal articles published in English that discuss socio economic aspects of Japanese society as well as the general and economic dynamics of United States Japan trade relations Emphasis is on the Japanese perspective School to Work Transition in Japan Kaori Okano,1993 This participant observation study presents the practice of school to work transition at two Japanese high schools and explains variations about the modal career trajectory of low achieving students drawing on Bourdieu s work It helps to explain the relationship between social values family ethos industry school and economic performance and the relatively low class consciousness in Japan It should be of interest to educationalists sociologists and labour relations specialists studying Japan The Japanese Economy Peter Drysdale,Luke Gower,1998 North American Scholars of Comparative Education Erwin H. Epstein,2019-07-01 This book brings together fifteen comprehensive studies of significant North American scholars of comparative education from the 20th century Providing relevant biographical detail chapters analyse each scholar s approach to comparative education and their on going influences on the field Comparative studies in education have long benefited from the work of significant individuals who have collectively advanced the field making it a vibrant and intellectually fruitful area of educational research Offering a unique systematic exploration of the work of the founders of comparative educational research North American Scholars of Comparative Education emphasizes the importance of understanding the accomplishments of key historical figures in the field and considers the legacies such individuals have created Chapters move beyond descriptions of comparativists work to illustrate the pivotal role played by each scholar in driving a progression through humanistic and scientific approaches to new epistemological traditions within the field of comparative education This in turn reveals critical historical epistemological transitions which have had lasting impacts on the field Including contributions written by leading scholars in the field this volume will be of great interest to researchers academics and scholars in comparative and international education Japanese Schooling James J. Shields,2010-11-01 Economics of Education George Psacharopoulos,2014-05-17 Economics of Education Research and Studies reviews key topics in the field of economics of education since 1960s This book is organized into 12 parts Part I and Part II focus on the supply side of human capital and narrower aspects of human capital creation by means of education Subsequent parts look at the benefits of education relationship between education and employment controversies in the field of economics of education issues of manpower planning and methodology for empirically analyzing the issues in the economics of education The last two parts address the costs of education with emphasis on cost function analysis and on the financing of education

Modern Japanese society / edited by Josef Kreiner, Ulrich Hohwald and Hans Dieter Olschleger. Josef Kreiner, Ulrich Mèohwald, Hans Dieter Ölschleger, 2004 Is Japanese society essentially different from other modern industrialized societies or not This survey work with contributions from the leading scholars in this complicated field presents a full overview of the most important aspects of Japanese society which may lead the reader to find an answer to these two often asked questions Japanese society defined as those institutions shaping the life of individuals and groups as well as being responsible for the dynamics of social development is shown to be as modern as any other industrialized society definitely distinct though are the ways in which institutions are defined and organised as a result of different social and historical roots of the process of modernization
