HUMAN DEVELOPMENT AND SCHOOL LEARNING

Human development can be defined psychologically as the pattern of movement or change that begins at conception and continuous through the human life span (santruck- 2005)

The study of human development gives you insights on where actually you came from (who were you) (who are you) how to come from.

Thus development involves stages from born to death that every individual must have passed through different development task which are the necessary activities and behaviors characterizing each stage of development e.g. childish play.

Human development involves two main concepts which are

- ✓ Growth
- ✓ Maturation

GROWTH

This refers to an increase in body size, weight, shape and height. It involves quantitative changes. Growth is believed to occur rapidly during the pre-natal and adolescence periods of human development.

MATURATION

This refers to change in mental abilities and function ability e.g. language use, thinking etc. Maturation involves to a large extent the unfolding of genetic code and that is significantly a qualitative of human development.

Applications of Flow in Human Development and Education Mihaly Csikszentmihalyi, 2014-08-08 The third volume of the collected works of Mihaly Csikszentmihalyi covers his work on the application of flow in areas that go beyond the field of leisure where the concept was first applied Based on his personal experience with schooling and learning as well as that of many others and contrary to what Cicero claimed Csikszentmihalyi arrived at the conclusion that instead of taking pride in making the roots of knowledge as bitter as possible we should try to make them sweeter Just as flow became a popular and useful concept in voluntary activities it could likewise be applied in education with the end result of young people being more likely to continue learning not just because they have to but because they want to This volume brings together a number of articles in which Csikszentmihalyi develops ideas about how to make education and more generally the process of learning to live a good life more enjoyable Since theory is the mother of good practice the first eleven chapters are devoted to theoretical reflections Some are general and explore what it means to be a human being what it means to be a person when we look at life from the perspective of flow Others are more narrowly focused on such topics as consumption education teaching and learning They help laypeople reflect how they can arrange their lives in such a way as to leave a small ecological footprint while getting the most enjoyment The second section of the volume contains a dozen empirical articles on similar topics They deal with the development of identity and self worth with the formation of goals and motivation with loneliness and family life

Development R. Murray Thomas,2000-10-17 Intended as supplemental reading in courses on theories of development this book augments traditional core texts by providing students with more depth on about two dozen recent and emerging theories that have appeared over the course of the past 20 years This period has seen a decline of the traditional grand theories that attempt to apply to all people all the time in favor of micro theories that focus more on individual differences so a book like this actually points the way toward the future rather than dryly reviewing the past In addition the author inspects the changing ways in which the concept of theory itself has been interpreted during this period and he concludes with a chapter suggesting future directions Theories of Human Development Barbara M. Newman,Philip R. Newman,2015-06-26
