Geography In British Schools 1850 2000 Making A World Of Difference Woburn Education Series:

Geography in British Schools, 1850-2000 Rex Walford, 2001 No book has yet been published that has attempted to cover the history of geography as a school subject Yet the story of the growth of this subject a major player in the league table of student preferences and examination entries is woven deep into the social history of the nation as well as being studded with colourful personalities

Geography in British Schools, 1885-2000 Rex Walford, 2019-07-23 This history charts how geography rose to popularity on a tide of imperial enthusiasms in Victorian time and made its way into many elementary schools in the latter half of the 19th century Many geography lessons were not dominated by the rote learning of capes and bays and some of the pioneers of the subject led the way in the use of models visual aids and object lessons in schools The book explores Scott Keltie's report of 1886 as a catalyst for development Despite the founding of the Geographical Association in 1893 the subject needed a series of concerted political campaigns in the early 20th century to establish itself in the secondary sector The growth of the regional approach field work and of sample studies expanded the subject between the world wars before a major conceptual revolution invigorated and challenged teachers of the subject in the post war period

Geography in British Schools, 1850-2000 Rex Walford, 2001 This history of geography as a major subject in the British school curriculum in the past 150 years deconstructs some of the myths which have grown up around school geography's Victorian image considers geography's struggle for examination recognition in the early years of the 20th century and describes periods of different emphases in the field It analyzes the revolution in teaching geography in the 1960s and 1970s and examines the effect of the National Curriculum Includes bandw historical photos Walford taught postgraduate courses for geography teachers at the University of Cambridge from 1973 to 1999 Distributed by ISBS c Book News Inc

The Geography Teaching Adventure Steve Puttick, 2023-09-28 Children are born explorers full of wonder and hungry for stories about the world What role might geography teaching play What geographical stories do we tell about the world What stories do we tell about geography itself The book revisits an older vision of geography that is much bigger than exams and memorising information dreams of adventure and discovery But where geography's imperial past used these tools for domination and control this book reclaims exploration to nurture wonder and tell better stories that work towards more just equitable and sustainable futures Positioning geography teaching in relation to major global challenges author Steve Puttick argues that the subject has a unique role to play through its ability to think across natural and social sciences in equipping young people with the skills and knowledge they need to respond The book offers a critical and accessible analysis of geography's entanglements with colonialism by exploring the striations of Empire in the subject Each chapter draws on a wide range of research in geography and finishes with practical activities and questions for reflection that can be used individually and collectively to support teachers ongoing professional development The book is essential reading for all geography teachers at any stage of their career as well as geography teacher educators subject leads and school leaders with responsibility for curriculum development      The School Textbook William E. Marsden, 2013-01-11 A study of the school textbook grounded in historical and comparative perspectives The approach is broadly chronological revealing changes in the theory and practice of textbook production and use The book focuses largely on three associated subjects geography history and social studies

Global Perspectives in the Geography Curriculum Alex Standish, 2008-10-07 For geographers across the globe this book provides the arguments for a return to the teaching of geography and why they should reject the politicisation of the subject by education policy makers and politicians Standish's careful critique shows the necessity of a depoliticised geography curriculum the irony of which would be that it would ensure that every child could point to Iraq Iran and Afghanistan on a map Prof Dennis Hayes Oxford Brookes University UK A prescient and critical analysis of the changing face of geography teaching This book deserves to be widely read and debated Alex Standish's book puts current trends in geography teaching in historical and critical context It comprises a forthright and timely defence of geographical education for its own sake Dr Jim Butcher FRSA Department of Sport Science Tourism and Leisure Canterbury Christ Church University Since the early 1990s educational policy makers and some subject leaders have been seeking to fundamentally change the teaching of geography in UK and US schools from a subject which encourages students to explore spatial concepts ideas and skills to a more ethics based subject concerned with the promotion of environmentalism cultural diversity and social justice In this book the new approach is critically examined within a historical and ideological context addressing a number of fundamental questions Should geography be used as a tool for the delivery of citizenship ideals How does this affect the intellectual and moral value of geographical education for young people If the state and teachers are taking more responsibility for the values attitudes and emotional responses of students how will they learn to develop these qualities for themselves If global perspectives shift the focus of education from learning about the outside world to learning about the self what is its vision of social progress and conception of social change This book advocates a return to liberal models of education arguing that the new approach to geography currently being promoted for schools fundamentally undermines the educational value of the subject and the freedom of young people to shape the world in which they live A vital resource for teachers and student teachers alike Global Perspectives in the Geography Curriculum makes a significant contribution to the growing debate about the future direction of the discipline itself

The Making of Geography as a Secondary School Subject John Mortimer, Tom O'Donoghue, 2021-06-02 No work has ever been produced previously that shows how historically geography has been constructed as a subject for the senior years of secondary schooling in Western Australia from 1917 to 1997 In doing so this book contributes to the existing corpus of international research on the history of curriculum and particularly the history of geography as a senior secondary school subject Much of it is based on primary sources including the textbooks and atlases used along with syllabus manuals and geography examination papers It also provides a framework for investigating the construction of senior secondary school geography curricula in other constituencies and could act as a model for engaging in further research in curriculum history for other school subjects state wide nationally and internationally The book also makes an important contribution to the fields of curriculum design curriculum development and curriculum innovation It will be of great interest to historians of education comparative educationists education leaders policy makers and librarians      2001 Massimo Mastrogregori,2011-08-02 Annually published since 1930 the International bibliography of Historical Sciences IBOHS is an international bibliography of the most important historical monographs and periodical articles published throughout the world which deal with history from the earliest to the most recent times The works are arranged systematically according to period region or historical discipline and within this classification alphabetically The bibliography contains a geographical index and indexes of persons and authors      Knowledge Steven Puttick,Victoria Elliott,Jenni Ingram,2024-06-13 Key to teacher education is the knowledge base of the teacher educator and the ways in which knowledge is conceptualised This book explores how ideas about knowledge are used in teacher education to critically examine what knowledges are valued across research policy and practice The authors explore international and interdisciplinary perspectives on the nature of knowledge and what counts as knowledge and how these perspectives on knowledge translate into teacher education with a final chapter dedicated to exploring consequences for practice

Debates in Geography Education David Lambert,Mark Jones,2013 Debates in Geography Education encourages student and practising teachers to engage with and reflect on key issues concepts and debates in their specialist subject teaching It aims to enable geography teachers to reach their own informed judgements and argue their point of view with deeper theoretical knowledge and understanding Expert editors and contributors provide a balance of experience and perspectives and offer international historical and policy contexts evidence informed classroom debates and a glimpse of the subject s expanding horizons Debates considered include what constitutes knowledge in geography constructing the curriculum how do we link assessment to making progress in geography the contribution of fieldwork and outdoor experiences technology and media how we use Geographical Information how geography contributes to global learning sustainable development and geography education The comprehensive rigorous coverage of these key issues together with carefully annotated selected further reading reflective questions and a range of specific web based resources will help support shape your own research and writing Debates in Geography Education is a source of knowledge experience and debate that will be essential reading for all students studying at Masters level practising teachers who want to develop a better understanding of the issues that shape their practice and Education Studies students considering in depth subject teaching      The Invention of the English Landscape Peter Borsay,Rosemary Sweet,2023-07-27 Since at least the Reformation English men and women have been engaged in visiting exploring and portraying in words and images the landscape of their nation The Invention of the English Landscape examines these journeys and investigations to explore how the natural and historic English landscape was reconfigured to become a widely enjoyed cultural and leisure resource Peter

Borsay considers the manifold forces behind this transformation such as the rise of consumer culture the media industrial and transport revolutions the Enlightenment Romanticism and the Gothic revival In doing so he reveals the development of a powerful bond between landscape and natural identity against the backdrop of social and political change from the early modern period to the start of the Second World War Borsay's interdisciplinary approach demonstrates how human understandings of the natural world shaped the geography of England and uncovers a wealth of valuable material from novels and poems to paintings that expose historical understandings of the landscape This innovative approach illuminates how the English countryside and historic buildings became cultural icons behind which the nation was rallied during war time and explores the emergence of a post war heritage industry that is now a definitive part of British cultural life

The social world of the school Hester

Barron,2022-08-02 This book shows why the study of schooling matters to the history of twentieth century Britain integrating the history of education within the wider concerns of modern social history Drawing on a rich array of archival and autobiographical sources it captures in vivid detail the individual moments that made up the minutiae of classroom life It focuses on elementary education in interwar London arguing that schools were grounded in their local communities as lynchpins of social life and drivers of change Exploring crucial questions around identity and belonging poverty and aspiration class and culture behaviour and citizenship it provides vital context for twenty first century debates about education and society showing how the same concerns were framed a century ago Making Geography Matter Noel

Castree,Trevor Barnes,Jennifer Salmond,2025-02-28 What is the purpose of Geography What do geographers study and why How do they seek to shape the world they interrogate This book addresses these questions by examining the lives and works of individual geographers both past and present Like all disciplines Geography is no more nor less than the collective endeavours of researchers and teachers operating in specific contexts The contexts both shape and are shaped by these individuals This book s biographical and autobiographical chapters transport readers to the times and places where geographers have sought to make Geography matter The result is a more vivid grounded understanding of the discipline than the many high level surveys of geographic thought paradigms currently written for university students This book s accessible essays each conclude with a study task Making Geography Matter is aimed at university students and their teachers who wish to understand the goals history and evolving practice of Geography It provides an alternative perspective both concrete and engaging to the many student focussed texts that map out numerous isms and ologies The Development of

University Teaching Over Time Tom O'Donoghue,2024-06-03 Examining two centuries of university education this book charts the development of pedagogical approaches since the year 1800 and how they have transformed higher education While institutions for promoting advanced learning in various forms have existed in Asia Africa and the Arab world for centuries the beginning of the nineteenth century saw the emergence of the modern model of a university with which we are familiar today This book argues that in the time since seven broad teaching approaches were developed across the world which continue to be used today the disputation the lecture the tutorial the research seminar workplace teaching teaching through material making and role play O Donoghue demonstrates how each has been reconfigured and developed over time in response to the changing nature of higher education as well as society more generally This expansive book will be of great interest to historians of education scholars of education more generally and teacher practitioners interested in the pedagogical models that shape modern academia Geographers Elizabeth Baigent,André Reyes Novaes,2019-12-26

Women are the exclusive focus of the 38th volume of Geographers For the first time in the series history the entire volume is devoted to important work of distinguished female geographers amply demonstrating how these scholars professional lives enrich the discipline s history It also illustrates how reading and writing their biographies not only expands our understanding of geography's past but points to its more diverse future. The collection includes biographies of Doreen Massey, winner of geography's Nobel prize, the prix Vautrin Lud, for her remarkable contribution to geography and neighbouring disciplines which discovered the importance of space through her work; Helen Wallis, geographer and historian of cartography who for many years had charge of the UK's foremost collection of maps; Alice Saunier, who applied her geographical training and formidable energy to teaching and educational reform in France; Isabel Margarida Andr, who lived through a turbulent political period in her native Portugal and meticulously investigated its effect on women and political geography; and the many women who helped to create the UK's first Geography department, the University of Oxford's School of Geography, including Fanny Herbertson, Nora MacMunn, Marjorie Sweeting, Mary Marshall, Barbara Kennedy, and other women geographers who are memorialised in a group article. Displacing Orientalism Alan C. Braddock, 2003. Children, Education and Geography Lauren Hammond, Mary Biddulph, Simon Catling, John H. McKendrick, 2022-11-30. This book examines the intersections between children's education and geography. With a particular focus on children's geographies and geographies of education, the book draws upon cutting edge research to consider how geographical education can be enhanced through increased engagement with these fields. The book is underpinned by the position that the lives of children and young people are inherently geographical, as are educational institutions, systems and processes. The volume explores the ways in which the diverse relationships between children's education and geography can enrich research and work with and for children and young people. Chapters in this book consider how injustices are reproduced through education. Chapters also explore how insights generated by thinking in and across geography and education can be used to support and empower young people in both formal education and in their everyday lives. Ultimately, this book is written for children and young people. Not as the readership, but as people often marginalised in decision making at a variety of scales in education, and who we contend should be at the heart of all educational thinking. The book is of value to undergraduate and postgraduate students interested in geography, education, and children's geographies, as well as teachers of geography, both new and experienced.
