Singh,2025-10-24 The book challenges the notion that Israel is a homogeneous state whether in theory or in practice It offers a detailed and critical intersectional analysis of nationalism ethnicity gender and marginality in Israeli society revealing how these forces converge to produce multiple as well as fused identities within a complex social fabric Examining the ruptures and fault lines that shape a multi layered society the study contends that Israel s exceptionality lies not in its self proclaimed Jewish and democratic character but in its resort to exceptional legal and coercive measures to mask internal diversity By obscuring this heterogeneous reality the state cultivates an illusion of a monolithic and uniform Israeli identity The analysis presents a society far more fragmented and stratified than official narratives suggest offering readers an understanding of how intersecting structures of identity and power operate in the Israeli context and how social and political institutions respond to and regulate internal difference This book will be of interest to academic researchers postgraduate and doctoral students and policymakers engaged with questions of nationalism marginality identity and Middle Eastern politics foreground emotion in critical ways become a productive pedagogical intervention in conflicted societies Emotion and Traumatic Conflict takes us through an ethnographic journey into a specific site of conflict to show how emotions are entangled with educational efforts towards peacebuilding healing and reconciliation While sociologists anthropologists historians and political scientists have long analyzed the emotional dynamics of conflict and peace rarely have educators looked into the emotional complexities of traumatic conflict the impact of emotion in everyday school interactions and pedagogical practices and the consequences of the role of emotion in what has become known as critical peace education This book not only offers an analysis of the emotional consequences of traumatic conflict in schools it also develops an innovative compelling and cross disciplinary perspective on the entanglement of emotion power politics trauma healing and critical education The book provides a detailed ethnographic analysis of the ideological appropriation of emotions of conflict in schools yet it pushes boundaries further through a theorization of the consequences of this appropriation and the pedagogical interventions required to challenge undermine or subvert this process Zembylas argues that these pedagogical interventions rooted in both psychoanalytic and socio political perspectives of trauma and emotion ought to engage emotions as critical and transformative forces in peace education Grounded in recent literature on affect and emotion that spans the social sciences Zembylas s analysis of the emotions of traumatic conflict in education offers a provocative proposal for the role of critical peace education in healing and reconciliation
