Geography And Transition In The Post Soviet Republics:

Geography and Transition in the Post-Soviet Republics Michael J. Bradshaw, 1997 This collection of essays follows on from the Soviet Union A New Regional Geography published in 1991 It examines the events that have taken place since 1994 in the context of theoretical developments in contemporary geography Written by authorities from all over the world it brings us up to date with the events in the former Soviet Union and uncertainty over the future Geography in America at the Dawn of the 21st Century Gary L. Gaile, Cort J. Willmott, 2005 Geography in America at the Dawn of the 21st Century surveys American geographers current research in their specialty areas and tracks trends and innovations in the many subfields of geography As such it is both a state of the discipline assessment and a topical reference It includes an introduction by the editors and 47 chapters each on a specific specialty The authors of each chapter were chosen by their specialty group of the American Association of Geographers AAG Based on a process of review and revision the chapters in this volume have become truly representative of the recent scholarship of American geographers While it focuses on work since 1990 it additionally includes related prior work and work by non American geographers The initial Geography in America was published in 1989 and has become a benchmark reference of American geographical research during the 1980s This latest volume is completely new and features a preface written by the eminent geographer Gilbert White The NEBI YEARBOOK 2001/2002 P. Joenniemi, Lars Hedegaard, A. Östhol, Bjarne Lindström, K. Peschel, C.-E. Stalvant, 2013-03-09 Thorvald Stoltenberg President of the Norwegian Red Cross Chairman of the Editorial Advisory Board Despite the very optimistic language on the imminence of new accessions to the European Union that came out of the June 2001 European Council in Gothenburg it will serve no good purpose to neglect the fact that EU membership for the Central and Eastern European applicants remains a difficult process Painful experience makes it prudent to exercise caution in predicting developments within the European Union Negotiations may drag out snags may appear and something may happen on the way to ratification So perhaps it is wise to take a broader view of European integration and therefore integration within the North European Barents and Baltic Sea region that is the focus of this Yearbook EU membership for those countries that are able to satisfy the Copenhagen requirements and the chapters of the acquis communautaire that have subsequently been specified is certainly a prize worth fighting for But all is not lost if some of the applicants end up not joining the Union as a result of the current enlargement round Even more important than formal membership is the process of growing together that has taken place simultaneously with the membership negotiations We are dealing here with integration in the real world of trade investments division of labour politics environment hard and soft security people to people relations etc Russia's Economic Transitions Nicolas Spulber, 2003-04-10 Russia's Economic Transitions examines the three major transformations that the country underwent from the early 1860s to 2000 The first transition under Tsarism involved the partial break up of the feudal framework of land ownership and the move toward capitalist relations The second following the Communist revolution of 1917 brought to power a system of state ownership and administration a sui generis type of war economy state capitalism subjecting the economy's development to central commands The third started in the early 1990s and still unfolding is aiming at reshaping the inherited economic fabric on the basis of private ownership The three transitions originated within different settings but with a similar primary goal namely the changing of the economy's ownership pattern in the hopes of providing a better basis for subsequent development The treatment's originality impartiality and historical breadth have cogent economic social and political relevance seen alternatively as peace wreckers or peace makers as products of forced migration related to conflicts or as targets of securitization policies Transported conflicts occurring within and between diasporas in their countries of residence however remain relatively underexplored tend to be misunderstood and often associated with criminal or terrorist activities The chapters in this volume draw our attention to various interconnected temporalities explaining patterns of conflict transportation such as the temps long of diasporic mobilisation the here and now of what is happening in both host and home countries and micro temporalities and diasporans life trajectories Finally the contributions demonstrate that patterns shapes and even occurrence of conflict transportation vary according to scale and space Highly politicized forms of confrontation are not necessarily representative of everyday interactions between diaspora groups which can entail discrete but tangible forms of cooperation and even solidarity This edited volume calls for nuancing our approach to the links between diasporas and conflicts to avoid falling into the essentialisation trap The chapters in this book were originally published in Ethnopolitics

Mapping Modernities Alan Dingsdale, 2013-02-01 When the communist governments of Eastern Europe and the Soviet Union collapsed between 1989 and 1991 there was a revived interest in a region that had been largely neglected by western geographers Mapping Modernities draws on the resulting work and other original theoretical and empirical sources to describe interpret and explain the place and spatial order of modernities in Central and Eastern Europe since 1920 to give a theoretically underpinned regional geography of the area The book interprets the geography of Central and Eastern Europe from 1920 to 2000 in terms of spatial modernity It details the individual and collective development of places produced within the three modernising projects of Nationalism Communism and Neo liberalism A History Of Russia Volume 2
