Euphrates and Tigris, Mesopotamian Ecology and Destiny J. Rzóśka, 2012-12-06 Scope and limitations of this book I am trying here to present the natural history of a land largely created and dominated by two great rivers the Euphrates and Tigris All rivers have two main functions quite different from lakes they transport water and eroded material sometimes over large distances The astute Greeks who penetrated here in the 4th century B C called the land Mesopotamia an apt name it is the only region in the Near East except Egypt having the benefit of large rivers Another name coined in antiquity was Fertile Crescent stretching from Egypt to present day Iraq Herodotus marvelled at the fertility of the soils the abundance of water and the magnificent cities of Mesopotamia Thus a further role of some great rivers is recognized as foci of human development The desire to collate this book arose from a similar motif as in the Nile book 1976 the intricate connection between man and rivers

Henk Breman, Jan-Joost Kessler, 2012-12-06 This book provides a quantitative analysis of the role of woody plants in semi arid regions for the assessment of their benefits in agrosylvopastoral land use systems with productive and sustainability objectives The insights presented and conclusions drawn allow the additional benefits of woody plants for specific climatic and physical site conditions and land use systems to be estimated The Sahel and Sudan zones in West Africa on which the book focusses represent resource poor conditions whose ecological dynamics have been relatively well studied The role of woody plants in this region as assessed in this book is extrapolated to other semi arid regions leading to general conclusions on agroforestry's potential as an option for sustainable land use in semi arid regions The origins of this book go back to 1982 when the Club du Sahel requested that available data on woody plants in the Sahel region be synthesised to provide basic information to enable better attention to be given to woody plants in rural development programmes We are grateful to the Club du Sahel for this challenge Various people contributed to studies used in this book The preliminary inventory of the data available was made by Frits Ohler later his work was continued by Franciska Dekker Range
