Group Actions And The Role Of Courts A European Perspective Forum Internationae Vol 23:

Class and Group Actions in Arbitration Bernard Hanotiau, Eric A. Schwartz, 2016-09-23 Several decades ago a typical arbitration would involve one claimant against one respondent. Over the years more and more cases involve several claimants against several respondents. Today one third of all international ICC arbitrations seem to involve multiparty cases, multi contract cases involving multiple contracts, multiple parties. The evolution has continued and the debate today is whether it would be possible for a class of people in the same situation or a group of citizens having the same interest to start one single arbitration procedure as a group or as a class. This publication examines the complex issues involved in class or group arbitration on a comparative law basis. Is there a place for such proceedings within the framework of the arbitration process? Class action procedures as developed in the United States court system and more recently in Canada are almost nonexistent in Europe. The European Commission has advocated collective redress as an important means of access to justice but class actions have found little enthusiasm in the Member States. The book highlights the lessons which have been learned from the experience of cases in the US and in Europe. What does the future hold for class, collective and mass arbitrations? Are they a marginal phenomenon or has their potential yet to be realized? What are possible solutions to the issues that have been encountered? Can we expect to see more of such arbitrations in the future? Written by arbitrators, academics and practitioners, this Dossier will provide the answers to these questions and many more. A Philosophy of European Union Law Jan M. Broekman, 1999 Is the European Union a new Walden? Although a contrast in form and format, the Union is surprisingly close to the latter's underlying philosophy. One can read this proximity in the Treaties or the many facets of the European idea which mirrors in the Union's emerging legal system. Today there is no longer a Union of a limited number of Nation States desiring to end divisions among themselves to acquire mutual respect and prosperity or a higher standard of living and working conditions for its members. European citizenship shows a global orientation and is in continuous competition with the discourse of a globalizing economy and its Internet democracy. Analyses of concepts such as political geography, global supra national and regional citizenship, democracy, learning society, native tongue and market lead to the insight that the Union's legal system wishes to ensure its citizens a legally engendered, formatted and protected global position for action. Walden's philosophy has a new face. China's Insolvency Law and Interregional Cooperation Xinyi Gong, 2017-11-20 As a result of resumption of sovereignty over Hong Kong and Macao as well as the uncertain relationship between the Mainland and Taiwan, China has become a country composed of peculiar political compounds resulting in four independent jurisdictions. This makes inter regional legal cooperation a complicated yet compelling topic. Divided into five parts, this book considers possible solutions to problems in China's inter regional cross border insolvency cooperation. These solutions are developed on the basis of two groups of comparative studies including comparison among the cross border insolvency systems of the four independent jurisdictions in China and comparison between EU Insolvency Regulation and the UNCITRAL Model Law. The author discusses the advantages and disadvantages of the two systems and presents original recommendations for the way forward The book will be a valuable resource for academics and policy makers in insolvency law Asian law and comparative law

Cross-Border EU Competition Law Actions Mihail Danov, Florian Becker, Paul Beaumont, 2013-06-18 This book written within the framework of a research project funded by the European Commission Civil Justice Programme identifies the ways in which cross border EU competition law actions can best be handled in Europe Employing traditional library based legal research methods as well as qualitative interviews with legal practitioners in Germany and England countries sharing different legal traditions and policy makers in Brussels the book considers how private EU competition law actions are functioning at the moment and how they could and should be developed The study proposes solutions for some of the most pressing practical problems and includes chapters by the following academics legal practitioners and judges Judge I Pelik nov General Court of the EU J Lawrence and A Morfey Freshfields P Lasok QC Monckton Chambers H Mercer QC Essex Court Chambers J Webber Shearman T Reher CMS Hasche Sigle Germany P Bos and J M hlmann BarentsKrans the Netherlands P Beaumont Aberdeen S Bariatti Milan G Howells Manchester D Fairgrieve BIICL J Fitchen Aberdeen A Andreangeli Edinburgh D Tzakas Athens Bar Greece S Dnes Sidley Austin Brussels F Becker and J Kammin Kiel University Germany and M Danov Brunel University

Business and Human Rights Dorothée Baumann-Pauly, Justine Nolan, 2016-04-28 In a global economy multinational companies often operate in jurisdictions where governments are either unable or unwilling to uphold even the basic human rights of their citizens The expectation that companies respect human rights in their own operations and in their business relationships is now a business reality that corporations need to respond to Business and Human Rights From Principles to Practice is the first comprehensive and interdisciplinary textbook that addresses these issues It examines the regulatory framework that grounds the business and human rights debate and highlights the business and legal challenges faced by companies and stakeholders in improving respect for human rights exploring such topics as the regulatory framework that grounds the business and human rights debate challenges faced by companies and stakeholders in improving human rights industry specific human rights standards current mechanisms to hold corporations to account future challenges for business and human rights With supporting case studies throughout this text provides an overview of current themes in the field and guidance on practical implementation demonstrating that a thorough understanding of the human rights challenges faced by business is now vital in any business context

Personal Insolvency in the 21st Century Iain Ramsay,2017-05-04 Since 1979 the world has witnessed a remarkable cycle of personal insolvency law reform Changes in capitalist economies financial crises and political interest groups all contributed to this cycle of reform This book examines the role of interest groups and distinct narratives in shaping reform in different countries while drawing attention to the role of timing path dependency and unintended consequences in the development of personal insolvency law The book presents case studies of personal insolvency law in the US France Sweden and England and Wales It then analyses how following the Great Recession of 2008 international financial institutions paid greater attention to the significance of household debt in contributing to financial instability and the role of individual insolvency law in providing a fresh start Personal insolvency law reform became part of EU responses to the eurozone crisis and the EU has proposed harmonisation of individual insolvency law to promote entrepreneurialism This book examines the extent to which these developments represent an emerging international commonsense about personal insolvency and its relationship to neo liberalism Finally this book discusses whether the international emergence of individual personal insolvency law represents a progressive step or a band aid for the costs of neo liberal policies where a significant number of people live close to the precipice of over indebtedness Substance and Procedure in Private International Law Richard Garnett,2012-03-08 When the law of a foreign country is selected or pleaded by a claimant or defendant a question arises as to whether the issue pertains to substance in which case it may be resolved by foreign law or procedure in which case it will be governed by the law of forum This book examines the distinction between substance and procedure questions in private international law and analyses where and whether each is appropriate To do so it examines previous attempts to define the scope of procedure in private international law considers alternative choice of law methods for referring matters to the law of forum and examines the influence of the doctrine of characterization on procedure Substance and Procedure in Private International Law also provides detailed analysis of the decisional law in which the substance procedure distinction has been employed creating a clear assessment of its application in various practical situations and providing valuable guidance for practitioners on how the distinction should be applied The book also considers procedural topics such as service of process and the taking of evidence abroad in order to show how the application of forum law may further be limited by foreign laws With a foreword by the Hon Sir Anthony Mason
