Growing Up in San Francisco's Chinatown Edmund S Wong, 2017-12-04 Chinese American baby boomers who grew up within the twenty nine square blocks of San Francisco's Chinatown lived in two worlds. Elders implored the younger generation to retain ties with old China even as the youth felt the pull of a future sheathed in red, white and blue. The family owned shops, favorite siu yeh snack joints and the gai chongs where mothers labored as low wage seamstresses contrasted with the allure of Disney, new cars and football. It was a childhood immersed in two vibrant cultures and languages shaped by both. Author Edmund S. Wong brings to life Chinatown's heart and soul from its golden age.

Girl Under a Red Moon: Growing Up During China's Cultural Revolution (Scholastic Focus)
Da Chen, 2019-09-03. New York Times bestselling author Da Chen weaves a deeply moving account of his resolute older sister and their childhood growing up together during the Chinese Cultural Revolution. In a small village called Yellow Stone in southeastern China, Sisi is a model sister, daughter and student. She brews tea for her grandfather in the morning, leads recitations at school as class monitor and helps care for her youngest brother, Da But. When students are selected during a school ceremony to join the prestigious Red Guard, Sisi is passed over. Worse, she is shamed for her family's past; they are former landowners who have no place in the new Communist order. Her only escape is to find work at another school, bringing Da along with her. But the siblings find new threats in Bridge Town too, and Sisi will face choices between family and nation, between safety and justice. With the tide of the Cultural Revolution rising, Sisi must decide if she will swim against the current or get swept up in the wave.

Bestselling author Da Chen paints a vivid portrait of his older sister and a land thrust into turmoil during the tumultuous Chinese Cultural Revolution.
