Developing Caring Relationships Among Parents, Children, Schools, and Communities Dana McDermott, 2008. This book focuses on parents and teachers as adult learners who should be growing and learning along with the children in their care. It lays out a theory of what parents and teachers need to care for children and themselves and then it shows how the author has assisted parents and teachers to put these theories into practice. McDermott relies on stories and listening to the voices of parents, teachers and children to make her case. She weaves together the latest theories and research with these stories. Father Involvement in Young Children's Lives Jyotsna Pattnaik, 2012-12-30. This vital addition to Springer's Educating the Young Child series addresses gaps in the literature on father involvement in the lives of young children, a topic with a fast rising profile in today's world of female breadwinners and single parent households. While the significant body of theoretical understanding and empirical data accumulated in recent decades has done much to characterize the fluidity of evolving notions of fatherhood, the impact of this understanding on policy and legal frameworks has been uneven at an international level. In a field where groups of fathers were until recently marginalized in research, this book adopts a refreshingly inclusive attitude, aiming to motivate researchers to capture the nuanced practices of fathers in minority groups such as those who are homeless, gay, imprisoned, raising a disabled child or from ethnically distinct backgrounds including Mexican and African American and indigenous fathers. The volume includes chapters highlighting the unique challenges and possibilities of father involvement in their children's early years of development. Contributing authors have integrated theories, research, policies and programs on father involvement so as to attract readers with diverse interest and expertise and material from selected countries in Asia, Australia and Africa as well as North America, evincing the international scope of their analysis. Their often interdisciplinary analyses draw too on historical and cultural legacies even as they project a vision of the future in which fathers involvement in their young children s lives develops alongside the changing political economic and educational landscapes around the world Family Life Education Stephen F.
