Growing Up Human:

Growing Up Human Brenna Hassett, 2022-06-30 Brings the science of biological anthropology to bear on understanding how our evolutionary history has shaped a phenomenon everyone has experienced childhood Tracking deep into our evolutionary history anthropological science has begun to unravel one particular feature that sets us apart from the many many animals that came before us our uniquely long childhoods Growing Up Human looks at how we have diverged from our ancestral roots to stay forever young or at least what seems like forever and how the evolution of childhood is a critical part of the human story Beginning with a look at the ways animals invest in their offspring the book moves through the many steps of making a baby from pair bonding to hidden ovulation points where our species has repeatedly stepped off the standard primate path From the mystery of monogamy to the minefield of modern parenting advice biological anthropologist Brenna Hassett reveals how differences between humans and our closest cousins lead to our messy mating systems dangerous pregnancies and difficult births and what these tell us about the kind of babies we are trying to build Using observations of our closest primate relatives the tiny relics of childhood that come to us from the archaeological record and the bones and teeth of our ancestors science has started to unravel the evolution of our childhood right down the fossil record In our species investment doesn't stop at birth and as Growing Up Human reveals we can compare every aspect of our care and feeding from the chemical composition of our milk to our fondness for formal education from ancient times onwards in order to understand just what we evolved our weird and wonderful childhoods for

- 1 Humans are weird We are the only species that has chosen to live forever and to be forever young We are the result of millions of tiny decisions made by our parents parents parents Our choices today determine what kind of humans we will be tomorrow Let's take a closer look at each of these statements It is a meaningless statement if true but it is far from true The truth is that humans are very weird indeed and it is not just the stuff we do but the kind of stuff we do The world that humans have built has largely been built to keep us alive and to keep us young The foods that humans eat the medicines that humans use the clothes that humans wear all of these have been selected over millennia precisely because they keep us alive and young Humans have been selected to do strange things just because they seem strange to other animals Take sleep deprivation as an example Sleep deprivation is death so it makes sense that other animals sleep all the time They have evolved to need the kinds of functions that require sleep eating sex and the complex interconnections of the brain all require sleep They are weirdly adapted for sleep and they need it
