Promoting the Educational Success of Children and Youth Learning English National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine, Health and Medicine Division, Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Board on Science Education, Board on Children, Youth, and Families, Committee on Fostering School Success for English Learners: Toward New Directions in Policy, Practice, and Research, 2017-08-25 Educating dual language learners DLLs and English learners ELs effectively is a national challenge with consequences both for individuals and for American society Despite their linguistic cognitive and social potential many ELs who account for more than 9 percent of enrollment in grades K 12 in U S schools are struggling to meet the requirements for academic success and their prospects for success in postsecondary education and in the workforce are jeopardized as a result Promoting the Educational Success of Children and Youth Learning English Promising Futures examines how evidence based on research relevant to the development of DLLs ELs from birth to age 21 can inform education and health policies and related practices that can result in better educational outcomes This report makes recommendations for policy practice and research and data collection focused on addressing the challenges in caring for and educating DLLs ELs from birth to grade 12

The Promise of Early Childhood Development in Latin America and the Caribbean Emiliana Vegas, Lucrecia Santib ez, 2009-12-03 Early childhood development outcomes play an important role throughout a person s life affecting one s income earning capacity and productivity longevity health and cognitive ability The deleterious effects of poor early childhood development outcomes can be long lasting affecting school attainment employment wages criminality and social integration of adults The authors first take stock of early childhood development indicators in the region and explore access to early childhood development services for children of different backgrounds They review recent evidence on the impact of early childhood development interventions in the region and investigate more deeply a selection of programs in Latin America and the Caribbean to distill lessons related to their design implementation and institutionalization processes The book concludes with a discussion of the challenges of scaling up and presents policy options to develop national early childhood development policies and programs that may be effective and sustained over time

After-School Programs to Promote Child and Adolescent Development Institute of Medicine, National Research Council, Commission on Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Board on Children, Youth, and Families, Committee on Community-Level Programs for Youth, 2000-09-12 This report summarizes the presentations and discussion at a workshop entitled Opportunities to Promote Child and Adolescent Development During the After School Hours convened on October 21 1999 The workshop was organized by the Board on Children Youth and Families and its Forum on Adolescence of the National Research Council and the Institute of Medicine with funding from the David and Lucile Packard Foundation This workshop brought together policy makers researchers and practitioners to examine research on the developmental needs of children and adolescents ages 5 to 14 years and the types of after school programs designed to promote the health and development of these young people. Intended to provide a forum for discussion among the various stakeholders, the workshop did not generate conclusions about the types of programs that are most effective nor did it generate specific recommendations about after school programs or promote a particular approach. The workshop coincided with release of the Packard Foundation's fall 1999 issue of The Future of Children entitled "When School Is Out: Focusing on after school programs." The journal provided some context for the workshop, providing a backdrop for discussing the importance of after school programs, the types of programs that exist across the country, and the policy climate that surrounds after school programs. This report summarizes the workshop.

Data Needs for Food Policy in Developing Countries Joachim Von Braun, Detlev Puetz, 1993-01-01. This volume is an effort to enhance both directly and indirectly the benefits of information for poverty alleviation through more informed food policy. This volume resulted from a multidisciplinary workshop held at the International Food Policy Research Institute in September 1992. It is divided into three parts: food policy issues and new challenges; data strengths and weaknesses of different survey approaches for food policy design; and data quality and design of survey modules.

Nursing Diagnosis Reference Manual Sheila Sparks Ralph, Cynthia M. Taylor, 2005. Nursing Diagnosis Reference Manual, Sixth Edition, helps nursing students and practicing nurses prepare care plans accurately and efficiently for every NANDA approved nursing diagnosis. The book features a life cycle format with sections on adult, adolescent, child, maternal, neonatal, and geriatric health. Sections on community-based health care plans, on home health, health promotion, and more, and psychiatric mental health round out the volume. Each care plan includes clear cut criteria for identifying the right nursing diagnosis, assessment guidelines, outcome statements, rationales, with all interventions and documentation guidelines.

Handbook of Applied Developmental Science Richard M. Lerner, Francine Jacobs, Donald Wertlieb, 2003. The Handbook of Applied Developmental Science is the only work to comprehensively present the latest theory, research, and application from applied developmental science, ADS, and the positive psychology movement. It summarizes and synthesizes the best scientific knowledge from ADS to help readers understand the efforts being made around the world to ensure that all children and adolescents develop into healthy adults who contribute positively to society. The Handbook is also the first resource to organize and integrate both the prevention and promotion approaches to programs and policies for children, adolescents, and families. In addition, the Handbook provides a detailed road map for future research and for actions that will promote positive child, youth, and family development. Published in four volumes, the Handbook features 95 chapters by more than 150 contributors, many of who are renowned leaders in the field. Volume 1 describes the foundation of applied developmental science, its historical development, and current scientific and professional efforts to develop policies and programs that promote positive child, adolescent, and family development. Volume 2 examines public policy and government service systems. Volume 3 discusses community systems for enhancing citizenship and promoting a civil society. Finally, Volume 4 outlines methods for university engagement and academic outreach. Feature
