Geographic Information Research Massimo

Craglia, H. Couclelis, 2020-10-28 The contributors to this edited collection demonstrate that geographic information research is truly global in character cutting across a wide range of disciplines and addressing conceptual methodological technical ethical and political issues alike Of the six themes two are broadly concerned with data integration geographic data infrastructures GIS diffusion and implementation two are more technical and conceptual in nature generalisation concepts and paradigms and two reflect to a larger extent the application driven nature of GIS technology spatial analysis and multimedia Each section is introduced by chapters highlighting the key research issues Further chapters explore these issues in greater depth and benefit from the international collaboration Through the comparison of results included in this book the prospects for advancing the field and addressing the challenges of GIS research are greatly improved Mapping the Determinants of Spatial Data Sharing Uta Wehn de Montalvo, 2024-11-01 This title was first published in 2003 With the increasing use of GIS in industrialised and developing countries the availability of spatial data has become an issue that affects many public and private sector organisations They are faced with the high cost and substantial effort involved in the generation of spatial data and so the sharing of this data is increasingly being seen as a way of overcoming expense and easing availability and access But this can provide a way of using GIS effectively only if the key players involved in the use and supply of spatial data are willing to share This book employs a theory from social psychology as an organising framework to systematize the determinants of organisations spatial data sharing behaviour It develops a model which explains the likely willingness of key individuals within organisations to engage in spatial data exchanges across organisational boundaries and then tests this on a survey based in South Africa Emergent Methods in Social Research Sharlene Nagy Hesse-Biber, Patricia Leavy, 2006-02 Introducing state of the art social research methods that address the growing methods theory gap within and across the disciplines this text provides readers with a comprehensive view of new and cutting edge research methods and methodologies The SAGE Handbook of GIS and Society Timothy Nyerges, Helen Couclelis, Robert McMaster, 2011-04-13 The definitive guide to a technology that succeeds or fails depending upon our ability to accommodate societal context and structures This handbook is lucid integrative comprehensive and above all prescient in its interpretation of GIS implementation as a societal process Paul Longley University College London This is truly a handbook a book you will want to keep on hand for frequent reference and to which GIS professors should direct students entering our field Selection of a few of the chapters for individual attention is difficult because each one contributes meaningfully to the overall message of this volume An important collection of articles that will set the tone for the next two decades of discourse and research about GIS and society Journal of Geographical Analysis Over the past twenty years research on the evolving relationship between GIS and Society has been expanding into a wide variety of topical areas becoming in the process an increasingly challenging and multifaceted endeavour The SAGE Handbook of GIS and Society is a retrospective and prospective overview of GIS and Society research that provides an expansive and critical assessment of work in that field Emphasizing the theoretical methodological and substantive diversity within GIS and Society research the book highlights the distinctiveness and intellectual coherence of the subject as a field of study while also examining its resonances with and between key themes and among disciplines ranging from geography and computer science to sociology anthropology and the health and environmental sciences Comprising 27 chapters often with an international focus the book is organized into six sections Foundations of Geographic Information and Society Geographical Information and Modern Life Alternative Representations of Geographic Information and Society Organizations and Institutions Participation and Community Issues Value Fairness and Privacy Aimed at academics researchers postgraduates and GIS practitioners this Handbook will be the basic reference for any inquiry applying GIS to societal issues

The Transformation of Human Rights Fact-Finding Philip Alston, Sarah Knuckey, 2015-11-23 Fact finding is at the heart of human rights advocacy and is often at the center of international controversies about alleged government abuses In recent years human rights fact finding has greatly proliferated and become more sophisticated and complex while also being subjected to stronger scrutiny from governments Nevertheless despite the prominence of fact finding it remains strikingly under studied and under theorized Too little has been done to bring forth the assumptions methodologies and techniques of this rapidly developing field or to open human rights fact finding to critical and constructive scrutiny The Transformation of Human Rights Fact Finding offers a multidisciplinary approach to the study of fact finding with rigorous and critical analysis of the field of practice while providing a range of accounts of what actually happens It deepens the study and practice of human rights investigations and fosters fact finding as a discretely studied topic while mapping crucial transformations in the field The contributions to this book are the result of a major international conference organized by New York University Law School s Center for Human Rights and Global Justice Engaging the expertise and experience of the editors and contributing authors it offers a broad approach encompassing contemporary issues and analysis across the human rights spectrum in law international relations and critical theory This book addresses the major areas of human rights fact finding such as victim and witness issues fact finding for advocacy enforcement and litigation the role of interdisciplinary expertise and methodologies crowd sourcing social media and big data and international guidelines for fact finding
