Groupwork for Children with Autism Spectrum Disorder Ages 11-16 Christina Howe, Alyson Eggett, Kerrie Old, Liz Ann Davidson, 2018-10-24 This book includes a short, easy-to-read theoretical background to ASD, focusing on the underlying impairments and their impact on sensory processing, motor development, play, language and communication skills, social skills, emotional development and behaviour for the relevant age group. All the books examine the role of various individual professionals while emphasising the need to develop a multi-disciplinary approach combining their areas of expertise. The book also describes a multi-disciplinary approach to groupwork, providing practical advice and photocopyable resources to enable readers to assess individual needs, organise groups, including group members, venue and transport, set individual group targets, plan group sessions, examples of activities for each developmental area are provided and evaluate progress. Its distinctive strength is the focus on thinking group and on theory informed reflective practice. Grounded throughout in the rich experiences of group insiders, the book is both engaging and informative. Definitely a recommended resource for practitioners, students and educators. Ros Thorpe, Professor of Social Work and Community Welfare, James Cook University. Group facilitation is a core skill for social workers, community workers, youth workers, health workers and psychologists. Inside Group Work offers a guide to group work theory and practice in a variety of human service settings. Drawing on thought provoking contributions from experienced group leaders and participants, Fiona McDermott outlines the various ways in which group work can be used. Focusing particularly on psychoeducation groups, psychotherapy groups, mutual aid groups and social action groups, she explains that the purpose of the group should determine the form it takes. The key facilitation skills of listening, observing, intervening and responding under pressure are outlined. But McDermott argues these skills by themselves are not sufficient. Rather, facilitators need to think group in order to be most effective. McDermott also explains the various stages groups go through and looks at ways in which group facilitators can handle typical problems. She explores issues of power and leadership and also the influence of gender, sexuality, ethnicity and age.
