Foreword

Tommy Kngwarreye Thompson is a Kanyetye man. He is a traditional owner for Artarr and Eylerewarr. Tommy is a father of five and he has lived and worked in many different places, from Hatches Creek to Barrow Creek and places in between. He belongs to the ambalangkhe 'cousin' and the thardharr 'cousin' group. He is one of our few grandfathers and elders left and he is a great storyteller. He is an important elder and leader and always plays a major role in all cultural responsibilities. Tommy is well respected by the Kanyetye people for what he does and who he is.

As a mother and an aunt and a granddaughter to Tommy I feel that it is very important to have a book like this because this is a way that we can preserve our language, knowledge and culture and pass it on to our children. This book is also important for non-Aboriginal people so they can learn about our culture and things that are important to us.

Growing Up Kaytetye Stories By Tommy Kngwarraye Thompson:

Growing Up Kaytetye Tommy Kngwarraye Thompson, 2003 Renowned storyteller and Aboriginal elder Tommy Kngwarraye Thompson invites us into the world of the Kaytetye people of Central Australia Accompanied by drawings photographs and maps the reader is taken on a Dreamtime journey revealing the richness and vitality of Kaytetye culture

Morphology and Language History Claire Bowern, Bethwyn Evans, Luisa Miceli, 2008-06-12 This volume aims to make a contribution to codifying the methods and practices linguists use to recover language history focussing predominantly on historical morphology The volume includes studies on a wide range of languages not only Indo European but also Austronesian Sinitic Mon Khmer Basque one Papuan language family as well as a number of Australian families Few collections are as cross linguistic as this reflecting the new challenges which have emerged from the study of languages outside those best known from historical linguistics The contributors illustrate shared methodological and theoretical issues concerning genetic relatedness that is the use of morphological evidence for classification and subgrouping reconstruction and processes of change with a diverse range of data The volume is in honour of Harold Koch who has long combined innovative research on understudied languages with methodological rigour and codification of practices within the discipline

Songs from the Stations Myfany Turpin, Felicity Meakins, 2019 The Gurindji people of the Northern Territory are perhaps best known for their walk off of Wave Hill Station in 1966 protesting against mistreatment by the station managers The strike would become the first major victory of the Indigenous land rights movement Many discussions of station life are focused on the harsh treatment of Aboriginal workers Songs from the Stations portrays another side of life on Wave Hill Station Amongst the harsh conditions and decades of mistreatment an eclectic ceremonial life flourished during the first half of the 20th century Constant travel between cattle stations by Indigenous workers across north western and central Australia meant that Wave Hill Station became a cross road of desert and Top End musical styles As a result the Gurindji people learnt songs from the Mudburra who came further east the Bilinarra from the north the Nyininy from the west and the Warlpiri from the south This book is the first detailed documentation of wajarra public songs performed by the Gurindji people in response to contemporary events in their community Featuring five song sets known as Laka Mintiwarra Kamul Juntara and Freedom Day it is an exploration of the cultural exchange between Indigenous communities that was fostered by their involvement in the pastoral industry Publisher's website Australian Aboriginal Studies, 2004 Creative Manoeuvres Shane Strange, Jen Webb, 2014-07-24 Creative Manoeuvres is a collection of new writings on a topic of enduring interest the role of creative practice in the formation of knowledge The contributors to this collection are primarily creative writers working in poetry fiction nonfiction and ethnography Many include the visual or performing arts within their practice and all are academics as well as creative writers Their chapters move the study of creative writing beyond subjective accounts of how I write towards broader issues of how knowledge is addressed by or incorporated into or embodied in art Each chapter also does double duty as a case study on approaches to creative and research work both describing and critically exploring the strategies or creative manoeuvres these writers have adopted to advance their practice in both creative and critical domains In this way the book not only exemplifies moves in the contemporary academy to understand better the value creative practice can offer to the university but also provides a rich and engaging set of narratives about ways of being ways of making and ways of coming to know In both practical and theoretical modes it contributes to the ongoing questions about creativity and versus scholarship that have been debated over recent decades

Songlines and Fault Lines Glenn Morrison, 2017-07-31 Visitors to the Red Centre come looking for the real Australia but find a place both beautiful and disturbing There is wilderness desire and artworks depicting an Aboriginal philosophy of home But there is also the confusing countenance of the Australian frontier a meeting place between black and white ancient and modern Songlines and Fault Lines explores the Red Centre on foot through six remarkable stories that have shaped our nation It follows Aboriginal Dreamtime ancestors along a songline and trudges with John McDouall Stuart as he crosses the continent and walks the Finke River in the footsteps of anthropologist TGH Strehlow It keeps pace with conservationist Arthur Groom as he reimagines the country s heart as tourist playground ponders a philosophy of walking with British travel writer Bruce Chatwin and then strolls the grog troubled streets of Alice Springs with Eleanor Hogan Retracing time worn pathways and stories of Australia s centre Glenn Morrison finds fresh answers to age old queries

Writing Home Glenn

Morrison,2017-01-30 Writing Home explores the literary representation of Australian places by those who have walked them In particular it examines how Aboriginal and settler narratives of walking have shaped portrayals of Australia s Red Centre and consequently ideas of nation and belonging Central Australia has long been characterised as a frontier the supposed divide between black and white ancient and modern But persistently representing it in this way is preventing Australians from re imagining this internationally significant region as home Writing Home argues that the frontier no longer adequately describes Central Australia and that the Aboriginal songlines make a significant but under acknowledged contribution to Australian discourses of hybridity belonging and home Drawing on anthropology cultural theory journalism politics and philosophy the book traces shifting perceptions of Australian place and space since precolonial times through six recounted walking journeys of the Red Centre Indigenous People, Race Relations and Australian Sport Christopher J. Hallinan,Barry Judd,2016-05-06

The Indigenous peoples of Australia have a proud history of participation and the achievement of excellence in Australian sports Historically Australian sports have provided a rare and important social context in which Indigenous Australians could engage with and participate in non Indigenous society Today Indigenous Australian people in sports continue to provide important points of reference around which national public dialogue about racial and cultural relations in Australia takes place Yet much media coverage surrounding these issues and almost all academic interest concerning Indigenous people and Australian sports is constructed from non Indigenous perspectives With a few notable exceptions the racial and cultural implications of Australian sports as viewed from an Indigenous Australian Studies perspective remains understudied The media coverage and academic discussion of Indigenous people and Australian sports is largely constructed within the context of Anglo Australian nationalist discourse and becomes most emphasised when reporting on aspects of racial and cultural explanations of Indigenous sporting excellence and failures associated anomalous behaviour This book investigates the many ways that Indigenous Australians have engaged with Australian sports and the racial and cultural readings that have been associated with these engagements Questions concerning the importance that sports play in constructions of Australian indigeneities and the extent to which these have been maintained as marginal to Australian national identity are the central critical themes of this book This book was published as a special issue of Sport in Society

Landscapes of Our Hearts Matthew Colloff,2020-06-30 Compelling multifarious and essential Don Watson Drink in its wisdom Andrew Leigh MP On this ancient continent waves of people have made their mark on the landscape in turn it too has shaped them If we look afresh at our history through the land we live on might Indigenous and non Indigenous Australians find a path to a shared future An epic exploration of our relationship with this country Landscapes of Our Hearts takes us from the Great Barrier Reef to the Central Desert the High Country to Canberra s Limestone Plains It is a book of hope and offers the possibility that a renewed connection to the landscape and to each other could pave the way towards reconciliation It will change the way you see this land Bina Gari Tudor-Smith,Paul Williams,Felicity Meakins,2024-07-30

The incredible story of the resilience and recovery of Australia's First Nations languages Australia's language diversity is truly breathtaking This continent lays claim to the world's longest continuous collection of cultures including over 440 unique languages and many more dialects Sadly European invasion has had severe consequences for the vitality of these languages Amid devastating loss there has also been the birth of new languages such as Kriol and Yumplatok both English based Creoles Aboriginal English dialects are spoken widely and recently there has been an inspiring renaissance of First Nations languages as communities reclaim and renew them Bina First Nations Languages Old and New tells this story from the earliest exchange of words between colonists and First Nations people to today's reclamations It is a creative and exciting introduction to a vital and dynamic world of language Years in the making Bina offers a multidimensional reflection on how many diverse languages across this continent continue to vibrate in rich and profound ways The emergence of Indigenous linguists Gari Tudor Smith and Paul Williams as authors of this survey alongside Felicity Meakins signals an important and welcome shift in the Australian linguistics landscape Professor Clint Bracknell University of Western Australia Nyungar musicologist and musician World Literature Today, 2007
