Growing Up In A Changing Urban Landscape:

Growing Up in a Changing Urban Landscape Ronald Camstra, 1997 Selectie van papers gepresenteerd op het congres Building identities gender perspectives on children and urban space gehouden van 11-13 april 1995 Geselecteerd is op de relevantie m.b.t. kindvriendelijke vormgeving van de moderne stedelijke vormgeving in landen die enigszins het karakter van een welvaartsstaat hebben Het boek bestaat uit vier delen manier waarop kinderen worden beperkt door hun woonomgeving analyse van het gedrag van kinderen waarbij hun voorkeuren centraal staan planning van de woonomgeving verschillen tussen autochtone en allochtone kinderen In elke bijdrage komen de verschillen tussen meisjes en jongens aan de orde Bevat een samenvatting in het Nederlands Embodied Geographies Elizabeth Kenworthy Teather, 2005-06-23 Embodied Geographies provides a comprehensive account of different types of life crises which develop our identities and affect how we live our lives Chapters focus on pregnancy childbirth teenagers and parenthood migration the threat and reality of violence illness and disability bereavement the ensuing family responsibilities and death itself It includes case studies from the UK Australia New Zealand Singapore Hong Kong Canada and the USA Children's Places Karen Fog Olwig, Eva Gullov, 2013-04-15 Children's Places examines the ways in which children and adults from their different vantage points in society negotiate the proper place of children in both social and spatial terms It looks at some of the recognised constructions of children including perspectives from cultures that do not distinguish children as a distinct category of people as well as examining contexts for them from schools and kindergartens to inner cities and war zones The result is a much needed insight into the notions of inclusion and exclusion the placement and displacement of children within generational ranks and orders and the kinds of places that children construct for themselves Based on in depth ethnographic research from Europe Asia Africa North America Australia and New Zealand Understanding Urban Ecosystems Alan R. Berkowitz, Charles H. Nilon, Karen S. Hollweg, 2003 Nowhere on Earth is the challenge for ecological understanding greater and yet more urgent than in those parts of the globe where human activity is most intense cities This book is a first of its kind effort to bring together leaders in the biological physical and social dimensions of urban ecosystem research with leading education researchers administrators and practitioners to show how an understanding of urban ecosystems is vital for urban dwellers to grasp the fundamentals of ecological and environmental science and to understand their own environment Changing Urban Landscapes AA. VV., 2013-09-02T00:00:00+02:00 The vast territory from Asia to Eastern Europe that was part of or under the influence of the Soviet Union comprised cities which have undergone profound changes in the last twenty years The opening of borders combined with the affirmation of market dynamics privatization and concentration of wealth and the emergence of nationalist discourses have upset ways of life and value systems leaving deep marks on the urban landscape and organization of living space These essays take an in depth look at specific cases Samarkand Sarajevo Berlin Almaty and others to offer a complex picture of the transformations affecting the post communist city Growing Up in an Urbanizing World Louise Chawla, 2016-05-13 Half the world's children live in cities and the proportion is growing. Their environment critically determines their futures and the world they will make as adults. This text by an interdisciplinary team of international child environment authorities explores how crucial the relationship of the young and their surroundings is. Covering eight countries it shows the enormous benefits for them for the wider society and for the future of involving children especially from underprivileged communities in planning and implementing urban improvements. It continues and updates Kevin Leech's pioneering 1970s MIT project Growing Up in Cities. Childhood Chris Jenks, 2005 Childhood is an extremely complex and highly contested concept. It refers to a life phase as well as to the age group defined as children but is also a cultural construction part of the social and economic structure of communities. The key scholarship collected, introduced and reprinted in these volumes reflects this complexity and introduces the reader to the wide variety of interpretations that have been and continue to be placed on it. It might be suggested that the push or initiative in theorizing childhood has derived from advances within sociology and anthropology. However, the future provides potential for interdisciplinary study which this collection also reflects. The contemporary study of childhood must comprise a conjoining of disciplines: sociology, anthropology, psychology, social geography, history, philosophy and socio-legal theory all have something to add to the field and are represented within the collection. The Child's World Margaret Robertson, Rodney Gerber, 2000 Young people who live most of their lives in the 21st century face dilemmas hardly experienced in the 20th century world: the rapid compression of space and time, an unprecedented rate of cultural and technological change, the dissolution of many traditional boundaries. Already children live in a world unknown to us in our childhood: they surf the net, play virtual games and interact with cyberspace. What skills are required to help children navigate these very different spaces? How

Children's Geographies Sarah L. Holloway, Gill Valentine, 2004-11-23 Children's Geographies is an overview of a rapidly expanding area of cutting edge research. Drawing on original research and extensive case studies in Europe, North and South America, Africa and Asia, the book analyses children's experiences of playing, living and learning. The diverse case studies range from an historical analysis of gender relations in nineteenth century North American playgrounds through to children's experiences of after school care in contemporary Britain to street cultures amongst homeless children in Indonesia at the end of the twentieth century. Threaded through this empirical diversity is a common engagement with current debates about the nature of childhood. The individual chapters draw on contemporary sociological understandings of children's competence as social actors. In so doing they not only illustrate the importance of such an approach to our understandings of children's geographies, they also contribute to current debates about spatiality in the social studies of childhood. Children and the Environment in an Australian Indigenous Community Angela Kreutz, 2014-11-20 Aboriginal children represent one of the fastest growing population segments in Australia yet the lives of Aboriginal children in their environment has rarely been subjected to systematic and in depth study. In this book Angela Kreutz considers the relationship between the environment attachment and development in indigenous children examining theoretical constructs and conceptual models by empirically road testing these ideas within a distinct cultural community The book presents the first empirical study on Australian Aboriginal children's lives from within the field of child environment studies employing an environmental psychology perspective combined with architectural and anthropological understandings Chapters offer valuable insights into participatory planning and design solutions concerning Aboriginal children in their distinct community environment and the cross cultural character of the case study illuminates the commonalities of child development as well as recognising the uniqueness that stems from specific histories in specific places Children and the Environment in an Australian Indigenous Community makes significant theoretical methodological and practical contributions to the international cross disciplinary field of child environment studies It will be of key interest to researchers from the fields of environmental ecological developmental and social psychology as well as anthropologists sociologists and those studying the environment and planning

Childhood, Youth And Social Change Lynne Chisholm, 2005-08-04 The English language version of proceedings of a bilateral UK FRG conference held at Philipps Universitaet Marburg The theme of this conference was the examination of childhood and youth as life stages in the context of contemporary social and cultural change with an eye to future developments Children and the Capability Approach M. Biggeri, J. Ballet, F. Comim, 2011-10-04 Exploring a wide variety of case studies and developmental issues from a capability perspective this book is an original contribution to both development and children's studies that raises a strong case for placing children's issues at the core of human development

The Challenge of Change: Dealing with the Legacy of the Modern Movement Dirk van den Heuvel, Maarten Mesman, Bert Lemmens, 2008-09-15 Conservation of architecture and the conversation of Modern architecture in particular has assumed new challenges Rather than attempting to return a Modern building to its resumed original state the challenge of these proceedings is to revalue the essence of the manifold manifestations of Modern architecture and redefine its meanings in a rapidly changing world of digital revolution worldwide mobility and environmental awareness This volume aims to provide a variety of platforms for the exchange of ideas and experience A large international group of architects historians scholars preservationists and other parties involved in the processes of preserving renovating and transforming Modern buildings has been invited to investigate the paradox of the Modern monument and to reflect on the manifold dilemmas of change and continuity The general theme is elaborated through five sub themes The sub theme Change and Continuity addresses the tensions between change and continuity from a historical theoretical perspective Restructuring Cities and Landscapes focuses on the larger scale of city and landscape while Shifts in Programme and Flexibility draws attention to the scale of the building or building complex and questions limits of re use and flexibility The fourth sub theme deals with education and the fifth sub theme Progress Technology and Sustainability considers specific issues of techniques and materials

City-making, Space and Spirituality Stéphan de Beer, 2023-09-29 This book is about the soul of the city embodied in its spaces and people It traces dynamics in inner city neighbourhoods of South Africa's post apartheid capital Pretoria Viewing the city through its most vulnerable people and places it recognizes that urban space is never neutral and shaped by competing value frameworks The first part of the book invites planners city makers and ordinary urban citizens to consider a new self understanding reclaiming their agency in the city making process Through the metaphor of becoming like children planning practice is deconstructed and re imagined A praxis based methodology is presented cultivating four distinct moments of entering reading imagining and co constructing the city After deconstructing urban spaces and discourses the second part of the book explores a concrete spirituality and ethic of urban space It argues for a shift from planning as technocracy to planning as immersed participatory artistry opening up to the genius of space responsive to urban cries and joining to construct new soul full spaces Local communities and interconnected movements become embodiments of urban alternatives through resistance and reconstruction building on local assets animating local reclamations and weaving nets of hope that will span the entire city Providing a concrete methodology for city making that is rooted in a community based urban praxis this book will be of interest to urban planning researchers professional planners and designers and also grass root community developers or activists

Children, Youth and the City Kathrin Horschelmann, Lorraine van Blerk, 2013-06-17 More than half of the global and around eighty per cent of the western population grow up in cities Here Horschelmann and van Blerk provide a vivid picture of children and youths in the city how they make sense of it and how they appropriate it through their social actions Considering the causes and forms of social inequalities in relation to class gender ethnicity sexuality ability and geographical location this book discusses specific issues such as poverty homelessness and work Each chapter draws on examples and cases from both the developed and developing world and throughout the chapters it contrasts experiences of growing up in the city focuses on urban youth culture consumption and globalization considers contemporary movements towards the role of children and youths in planning processes Horschelmann and van Blerk argue that youths must be recognised as urban social agents in their own right Their informative book though dealing with complex theoretical arguments relates key ideas to this topical subject in a clear and coherent manner making this book an excellent resource for students of human geography urban studies and childhood studies
