Phoenix Road Jon Kelly, 2014-09-22 TRAVEL WITH JON KELLY ON HIS ROAD TO REDEMPTION through the Postmodern Era into the nonconformity of the punk rock eighties rebellion and occult worship in suburban Midwest America Experience his transformation by Jesus Christ on Halloween of 1997 followed by a great consuming fire Phoenix Road is a climactic personal narrative and theological discourse including over 400 footnotes and a detailed index of subject matter for quick reference on the road Angry Rain Maurice Kenny, 2018-09-10 Maurice Kenny's career as a writer teacher publisher and storyteller spanned more than six decades during which he published over thirty books and became one of the most prominent voices in American poetry From the early 1970s onward he was instrumental in the resurgence of Native American literature through both his celebrated volumes of poetry such as I Am the Sun and the award winning The Mama Poems and his work as an editor and publisher Angry Rain his bittersweet memoir reveals this rich literary life by recounting its tumultuous first half plus a bit a time during which he moved through a series of worlds that all left their marks on him Kenny begins with his early years spent among his family in the small northern New York city of Watertown and continues through an adolescence marked by both significant awakenings and grievous traumas Determined Kenny sets out to seek his fortunes and find his poetic voice landing in the Jim Crow era South in St Louis in Indiana and finally in New York City where he becomes part of a motley creative group of performers and poets that offers both fascinating inspiration and disheartening rejection These recollections end with Kenny's maturation into a poet whose reaffirmed indigenous heritage unified an artistic vision that remained in conversation with a wide range of other themes and traditions until his death in 2016 Coming to Life in the Consulting Room Thomas H. Ogden, 2021-12-20 Ogden sets out a movement in contemporary psychoanalysis toward a new sensibility reflecting a shift in emphasis from what he calls epistemological psychoanalysis having to do with knowing and understanding to ontological psychoanalysis having to do with being and becoming Ogden clinically illustrates his way of dreaming the analytic session and of inventing psychoanalysis with each patient Using the works of Winnicott and Bion he finds a turn in the analytic conception of mind from conceiving of it as a thing a mental apparatus to viewing mind as a living process located in the very act of experiencing Ogden closes the volume with discussions of being and becoming that occur in reading the poetry of Robert Frost and Emily Dickinson and in the practice of analytic writing This book will be of great interest not only to psychoanalysts and psychotherapists interested in the shift in analytic theory and practice Ogden describes but also to those interested in ideas concerning the way the mind and human experiencing are created Tomorrow's A New Day Nouf Ismail, 2014

Growing Up Mary Heaton Vorse, 1920 Shaping the Journey of Emerging Adults Richard R. Dunn, Jana L. Sundene, 2012-02-23 In this book Veteran disciplinarians Rick Dunn and Jana Sundene offer concrete guidance for those who shepherd and care for emerging adults emphasizing relational rhythms of discernment intentionality and reflection to meet emerging adults where they are at and then to walk with them further into the Christlife Growing Up and Out of Crime Elias Nader, 2024-02-23 Developmental norms and expectations for young people aged 18-25 have diverged from previous generations creating a new stage in the life course called Emerging Adulthood Theory surrounding this stage of emerging adulthood emphasizes a delay in achieving turning points into adulthood that are typical of this age group. These delays in turn affect how maturation can influence the desistance from crime. Utilizing evidence from the narratives of justice involved emerging adults, this book details key turning points for today's young person trying to desist from crime. Building on evidence from researchers and theorists as well as from the author's own narrative interviews, this book provides a brief and approachable review of the extant literature summarizing work across the fields of developmental psychology, sociology, and criminology to provide the reader with an understanding of the maturation of young people in their late teens and 20s before concluding with considerations for policy and practice building from this evidence. Growing Up and Out of Crime is perfect for students, scholars, and academics who study youth, young adults, and their maturation, deviance, and desistance, as well as for practitioners working with young people engaging in desistance. Raising and Educating a Deaf Child Marc Marschark, 2018. Over the past twenty years, considerable public attention has been focused on the decline of marine fisheries, the sustainability of world fish production, and the impacts of fishing on marine ecosystems. Many have voiced their concerns about marine conservation as well as the sustainable and ethical consumption of fish. But are fisheries in danger of collapse? Will we soon need to find ways to replace this food system? Should we be worried that we could be fishing certain species to extinction? Can commercial fishing be carried out in a sustainable way? While overblown prognoses concerning the dire state of fisheries are plentiful, clear scientific explanations of the basic issues surrounding overfishing are less so, and there remains great confusion about the actual amount of overfishing and its ecological impact. Overfishing: What Everyone Needs to Know will provide a balanced explanation of the broad issues associated with overfishing. Guiding readers through the scientific, political, economic, and ethical issues associated with harvesting fish from the ocean, it will provide answers to questions about which fisheries are sustainably managed and which are not. Ray and Ulrike Hilborn address topics including historical overfishing, high seas fisheries, recreational fisheries, illegal fishing, climate and fisheries, trawling, economic and biological overfishing, and marine protected areas. In order to illustrate the effects of each of these issues, they will incorporate case studies of different species of fish. Overall, the authors present a hopeful view of the future of fisheries. Most of the world's fisheries are not overfished, and many once overfished stocks are now rebuilding. In fact, we can learn from the management failures and successes to ensure that fisheries are sustainable and contribute to national wealth and food security. Concise and clear, this book presents a compelling big picture of the state of oceans and the solutions to ending overfishing. What Everyone Needs to Know is a registered trademark of Oxford University Press. The War of My Generation David Kieran, 2015-08-04. Following the 9/11 attacks, approximately four million Americans have turned eighteen each year, and more than fifty million children have been born. These members of the millennial and post-millennial generation have come of age in a moment marked by increased anxiety about terrorism, two protracted wars, and policies that have raised questions about the United States's role abroad and at home. Young people have not been shielded from the attacks or from the wars and policy debates that followed. Instead, they have been active participants as potential military recruits and organizers for social justice amid anti-immigration policies as students in schools learning about the attacks or readers of young adult literature about wars. The War of My Generation is the first essay collection to focus specifically on how the terrorist attacks and their aftermath have shaped these new generations of Americans. Drawing from a variety of disciplines including anthropology, sociology, cultural studies, and literary studies, the essays cover a wide range of topics from graphic war images in the classroom to computer games designed to promote military recruitment to emails from parents in the combat zone. The collection considers what cultural factors and products have shaped young people's experience of the 9/11 attacks, the wars that have followed, and their experiences as emerging citizen subjects in that moment. Revealing how young people understand the War on Terror and how adults understand the way young people think, The War of My Generation offers groundbreaking research on catastrophic events still fresh in our minds. Research With Children Pia Christensen, Allison James, 2008-03-28 Research with Children is a unique resource book on the methodology of childhood research. Leading and new researchers within the social studies of childhood discuss central questions of epistemology and methodology, demonstrating the links between theory and practice. The theoretical and practical questions are set out in a clear and well-argued fashion and will therefore appeal both to the newcomer to childhood studies and to experienced researchers in the field. How to Have More than Enough Dave Ramsey, 2000-04-01 Let the author of Financial Peace guide you and your family down the road to success with this companion to the bestselling More than Enough. In Financial Peace, Dave Ramsey showed readers how to get out of debt. Now he uses the same blend of down-home wisdom and straight talk to take readers to the next step: building wealth. But success means more than money; it means having a happy marriage and family. In How to Have More Than Enough, Dave Ramsey guides readers down the path to true success. Rather than gimmicks or quick fixes, Ramsey's method for achieving financial and familial stability focuses on ten traits essential to creating prosperity: teaching children about money, living debt-free, and achieving marital bliss when it comes to finances. His easy-to-follow workbook illustrates each of these traits and allows readers to frequently assess their progress and honestly evaluate their situation. How to Have More Than Enough offers readers and their spouses the chance to work toward building wealth and strengthening their families. Common Entrance 13+ English for ISEB CE and KS3 Elly Lacey, 2021-07-09 Exam board: ISEB Level 13 CE and KS3 Subject: English First teaching: September 2021 First exams: November 2022 Support your pupils in developing enhanced comprehension and writing skills across a wide range of challenging, diverse, and engaging themes and genres with Common Entrance English 13 for ISEB CE and KS3.
