Glial-Neuronal Communication in Development and Regeneration Hans H. Althaus, Wilfried Seifert, 2013-06-29 This comprehensive volume is a contribution to a new series initiated by the NATO Panel on Gell to Gell Signals in Plants and Animals The book reflects the outcome of an NATO work shop and brings to mind two important questions considering the mass of relevant literature available is there any necessity for a new series of books and considering the flood of comparable meetings is there any point in workshops of this nature and their publication In order to deal with such questions adequately much more space would be needed than is available in a foreword Thus the answers must remain rather superficial and of course rather subjective To simplify the issue the question of publication can be narrowed down to two factors the financial risk undertaken by the publisher and the scientific risk borne by the editor If the book is good with respect to lay out and content it will be a success nothing will be lost the people involved will enhance their reputation We are left with the question of the usefulness of workshops Without doubt it is indeed a useful procedure for experts to come together in an atmosphere of harmony and freedom from external pressures and time limitations to discuss a well defined theme Whether in agreement or disagreement a fair and open forum can be expected for a variety of contributions Cell Motility

Sternberg, Elena L. Grigorenko, 1997-01-28 The debate over nature versus nurture in relation to intelligence is not as clearly drawn as it was ten years ago when geneticists claimed that intelligence is innate while environmentalists claimed that culture is the major determining factor Although the debate has not been resolved it has been significantly refined Robert Sternberg and Elena Grigorenko address the roles and interaction of nature and nurture in Intelligence Heredity and Environment This book provides a comprehensive balanced current survey of theory and research on the origins and transmission of human intelligence The book is unique in the diversity of viewpoints it presents and its inclusion of the very most recent theories and findings It highlights the search for genes associated with specific cognitive abilities interactionist theories cultural relativism educational strategies developmental perspectives and fallacies of previous intelligence research
