Transforming Literacies and Language Caroline M. L. Ho, Kate T.

Anderson, Alvin P. Leong, 2010-11-18 Technology mediated communication cannot help but inform our literacies This book is a reconceptualization of the role of language and pedagogy in what Kress 2003 has termed the new media age At the heart of the volume is the notion of transformation a change in discourse practices meaning making technology and as a result literacy acquisition itself The chapters look at language as positioned in a hugely multimodal world Communication extends beyond the traditional realms of discourse from the collaborative efforts of wikis to the hybrid speech and text of online messaging These new areas of meaning making are excellent and extremely important avenues to explore for academics interested in applied linguistics language and literature language acquisition and multimodality

Writing and Cognition

Mark Torrance, Luuk van Waes, David Galbraith, 2007-01-01 Writing is central to the functioning of developed societies However the psychological processes that allow us to transform complex ideas into language and express them on paper or computer screen are poorly understood Writing and Cognition goes some way towards remedying this It describes new and diverse work both by field leaders and by newer researchers exploring the complex relationships between language the mind and the environments in which writers work Chapters range in focus from a detailed analysis of single word production to the writing of whole texts They explore the basic processes involved in writing the effects of writing on thought and how these vary across different educational and workplace contexts Writing and Motivation Suzanne Hidi,Pietro Boscolo,2006-11-01 The aim of this volume is to bring together contributions from international research on writing and motivation It not only addresses the basic question of how motivation to write can be fostered but also provides analyses of conceptual and theoretical issues at the intersection of the topics of motivation and writing What emerges from the various chapters is that the motivational aspects of writing represent a rich productive and partially still unexplored research field This volume is a step in the direction of a more systematic analysis of the problems as well as an effort to present and compare various models perspectives and methods of motivation and writing It addresses the implications of writing instruction based on the 2 main approaches to writing research cognitive and socio cultural It provides systematic analysis of the various models perspectives and methods of motivation and writing It brings together the international research available in this burgeoning field

Creation, Use, and Deployment of Digital Information Herre van Oostendorp,Leen Breure,Andrew Dillon,2005-05-06 Using a philosophical cognitive and technical standpoint this volume addresses the issue of what digital information actually is The work also presents research outcomes from the perspective of research in information science covering a range of theoretical and practical approaches Translation of Thought to Written Text While Composing Michel Fayol,M. Denis Alamargot, Virginia Berninger,2012-05-04 Translation of cognitive representations into written language is one of the most important processes in writing This volume provides a long awaited updated overview of the field The contributors discuss each of the commonly used research methods for studying translation theorize about the nature of the cognitive and language representations and cognitive linguistic transformation mechanisms involved in translation during writing and make the case that translation is a higher order executive function that is fundamental to the writing process The book also reviews the application of research to practice that is the translation of the research findings in education and the work world for individuals who interact with others using written language to communicate ideas This volume provides a rich resource for student theorists and empirical researchers in cognitive psychology linguistics and education and teachers and clinicians who can use the research in their work Students Writing in the University Carys Jones,Joan Turner,Brian Street,2000-01-15 This volume aims to raise awareness of the underlying complexities concerning student writing in the universities The authors address a series of theoretical as well as practical questions regarding the literacies required of students in Higher Education from the perspective of both students themselves and of their tutors The research described here intends to move beyond the narrow confines of current policy debates and the quick fix solutions of writing manuals to explore the epistemological cultural historical and theoretical bases of such writing Issues addressed include the nature of competing epistemologies that underlie the writing process and the varying degrees of explicitness about what academic writing entails ways of challenging the institutional marginalisation of academic writing as teaching learning and research practice what counts as knowledge and how far it is mediated by the rhetorical conventions of one culture to what extent the challenging of such rhetorical conventions is itself a crucial epistemological issue Writing in this volume then is addressed in terms of academic literacy practices involving relations of power issues of identity and theories of knowledge

Revision

Cognitive and Instructional Processes Linda Allal,L. Chanquoy,Pierre Largy,2012-12-06 Revision Revisited LINDA ALLAL LUCILE CHANQUOY University ofGeneva Switzerland UniversityofNantes France Revision is a fundamental component of the writing process So fundamental that for some specialists writing is largely a matter of revising or as Murray 1978 stated Writing is rewriting p 85 Experience with writing does not however automatically translate into increased skill in revision Learning to revise is a lengthy complex endeavor Beginning writers do little revision spontaneously and even experienced writers encounter difficulties in attempting to improve the quality of their texts Fitzgerald 1987 Although revision has been extensively dealt with in the writing and learning to write literature this book proposes to revisit theory and research in this area through a series of new contributions The introduction begins with an overview of what revision encompasses It then examines two parallel interrogations that under lie the chapters assembled here namely 1 What are the implications of research on cognitive processes for instruction in revision 2 What are the questions raised by instructional research for the investigation of cognitive processes of revision A final section presents the chapters of this book
