Grief In School Communities Effective Support Strategies:

Grief in School Communities Louise Rowling, 2003 An essential guide for all members of a school community and other professionals who need to know how to be supportive in times of crisis including social workers psychologists and bereavement specialists The book is firmly based on theory research and practice Brief Interventions with Bereaved Children Barbara Monroe, Frances Kraus, 2010 Recent years have seen increasing interest in the needs of children facing bereavement and a corresponding increase in services to support them This book addresses and explains the theoretical concepts and practical implications behind the idea of brief work with bereaved children and families Flexible and accessible short term services delivered at the right time underpin the strengths of bereaved children supporting their recovery rather than pathologising the grief process In this way the book also speaks to the current interest in the concept of resilience and working with families strengths and possibilities rather than merely identifying their problems This second edition continues to be a unique book within the growing field of childhood bereavement and the new chapters added to this edition discuss managing situations with learning disability supporting very young children and emotional literacy The book also presents cases from the service user's perspective It looks at different approaches to intervention such as the importance of assessment and the value of groupwork and also covers work with children and families before a death Brief interventions with bereaved children will appeal to practitioners educators and service providers managing scarce resources The editors have more than twenty five years experience as practitioners within the field as service providers and educators The book features chapters from distinguished contributors with backgrounds in healthcare education social work and the police alongside theoretical and practice based chapters from workers in the field of bereavement care for children Supporting Young Children Experiencing Loss and Grief Deborah Price, Clair Barnard, 2020-11-24 Supporting Young Children Experiencing Loss and Grief provides early years practitioners and Key Stage 1 teachers with practical advice to support children experiencing feelings related to change and loss Using key case studies and interviews with children and adults this important text uncovers best practice techniques to help children talk about their feelings Covering more than bereavement it considers the loss children feel when they move home undergo a change in routine experience their parents or carers separation move settings or lose contact with a close friend nursery practitioner or teacher Providing answers to the key question of how to support children who have feelings of loss and grief Supporting Young Children Experiencing Loss and Grief is a must read text for all those working with young children in caring environments who are looking to provide children with the tools they need to talk about their emotions Death, Loss, and Grief in Literature for Youth Alice Crosetto, Rajinder Garcha, 2012-11-21 All human beings encounter loss and death as well as the grief associated with these experiences It is therefore important for children and adolescents to understand that such events are inevitable and to learn how to accept loss and cope with their emotions In order to help children through their pain parents and caregivers need access to the proper resources that will help them discuss these topics and educational professionals need reliable resources for creating courses of study on these subjects In Death Loss and Grief in Literature for Youth Alice Crosetto and Rajinder Garcha identify hundreds of resources that will help educators professionals parents siblings guardians and students learn about coping with the loss of a loved one and the grief process These resources include books Internet sites and media titles aimed at students and those helping them through the grieving process Chapters in this volume include fiction and non fiction titles about the loss of a family member a friend and a pet as well as general reference resources curricular resources and websites Annotations provide complete bibliographical descriptions of the entries and each entry is identified with the grade levels for which it is best suited Reviews from recognized publications are also included wherever possible Anyone interested in locating helpful resources regarding death and grieving will find much of value in this essential tool

Palliative Care Nursing: Principles And Evidence For Practice Payne, Sheila, Seymour, Jane, Ingleton, Christine, 2008-08-01 This textbook in palliative care nursing draws together the principles and evidence that underpins practice to support nurses working in specialist palliative care settings and those whose work involves end of life care A School for Everyone Ffion Jones, Helen Cowie, Harriet Tenenbaum, 2021-09-21 This discussion tool designed to address pressing social issues for children helps teachers parents and professionals caring for children to alleviate young people's worries and opens up conversations on tricky topics Providing 16 stories told from different perspectives the book covers social and emotional concerns around far ranging issues including refugees disability gender diversity and climate change For each issue raised the story is followed by a fact file a set of interactive activities lesson plans and a bank of resources to further enhance understanding and promote empathy Children, Spirituality, Loss and Recovery Joyce Bellous, 2013-09-13 The book demonstrates the hopeful stance the young take in response to ordinary suffering and significant trauma when adults talk with them about their losses Its underlying themes convey the truth that loss and recovery are normal in the process of growing to maturity It examines the strength of the child's capacity for resilience through partnerships with adults who allow children to focus on the loss and tell the story of its meaning to someone who really hears it The authors agree that adults need to perceive their own losses so that their attentiveness to the young is informed by wisdom that comes through self understanding but also agree that many adults do not offer that help to children because they believe it will make matters worse The book reveals this fear as a false notion by dealing with childhood traumas such as acquired disability warfare HIV AIDS death of one's parents and cultural dislocation The authors are experienced practitioners who provide practical and theoretical insight into the dynamics of loss and recovery The book offers hope for those who live and work with children and youth through its studied approach to addressing loss by describing young people's potential to work towards wholeness even in the face of fundamental losses to their security This book was published as a special issue of the International Journal of Children's Spirituality Oxford Textbook of Public Health Palliative Care Julian Abel, Allan Kellehear, 2022-03-31 Death dying loss and care giving are not just medical issues but societal ones Palliative care has become increasingly professionalised focused around symptom science With this emphasis on minimizing the harms of physical psychological and spiritual stress there has been a loss of how cultures and communities look after their dying with the wider social experience of death often sidelined in the professionalisation and medicalisation of care However the people we know and love in the places we know and love make up what matters most for those undergoing the experiences of death loss and care giving Over the last 25 years the theory practice research evidence base and clinical applications have developed generating widespread adoption of the principles of public health approaches to palliative care The essential principles of prevention harm reduction early intervention and health and wellbeing promotion can be applied to the universal experience of end of life irrespective of disease or diagnosis Compassionate communities have become a routine part of the strategy and service development in palliative care both within the UK and internationally The Oxford Textbook of Public Health Palliative Care provides a reframing of palliative care bringing together the full scope of theory practice and evidence into one volume Written by international leaders in the field it provides the first truly comprehensive and authoritative textbook on the subject that will help to further inform developments in this growing specialty

Resilience in Palliative Care Barbara Monroe, David Oliviere, 2007-09-06 The first book of its kind Resilience and Palliative Care Achievement in adversity takes the increasing international literature on resilience and applies it to palliative and end of life care The book offers an overview of all key aspects of palliative care presented through a resilience perspective Why do some patients and families break down while others surmounts the challenges facing them What interventions strengthen individual family and community coping This book aims to facilitate change with people facing the crisis of death dying and bereavement Much of the existing literature has focused on risk problems and vulnerability the emerging concept of resilience focuses on strengths and possibilities The total pain total care approach pioneered by Dame Cicely Saunders and St Christopher s Hospice now needs reinterpreting in the light of changing contexts and challenges The realities of demographic change and resource constrained health and social care environments have generated an increasingly risk focused approach to service delivery A narrowly medicalised approach has inevitable limitations professional care alone will be unable to meet need and demand in the face of ageing populations changing patterns of illness and the need for equity The resilience approach offers a counterbalance that harnesses the strengths of individuals and the communities in which they live and in which most of their dying will take place Resilience thinking emphasises the importance of public health and creates a partnership between patients professionals and community structures seeking to build community capacity and to deliver a preventive health care that will leave future generations less afraid of the dying and bereavement that will confront all of us This book offers insights into how at all levels of planning and delivering palliative care there is the opportunity to maximise coping build an infrastructure for self help and increase the capacity of
