There given seals are those of the Grimoire of Ars-del, a medieval French Grimoire, translated in the twentieth century by S.L. MacGregor Mathers, that possibly had its origins with the deposed Merovingian dynasty — supposedly the bloodline of Yeshua Ben Padish — and found ers of the Knights Templar under the Catholic Order of Lion As such they may also reflect the ancient Gnostic doctrines of the Essenes recovered by the Templars during their excavations at Herod's Temple. Good evidence for this comes from the mention of the rependant archer Sakketh in the seal of Michael. It is also curious to note that these seals were meant to be printed on paper, since they are given with color instructions (as they appear used) rather than those for metallurgy, as was then more common, and without elaborate inscriptions. Aside from meditation their conjuring is unknown, and their cipher lost.
Since several of them derive from the apocryphal of Enoch, it is likely that they do derive from the same mystery as Ben Padish's Angel Scroll, and they are probably copied from descriptions of their original Hebrew and Greek characters.
