John Sutton Lutz, 2009-01-01 John Lutz traces Aboriginal people's involvement in the new economy and their displacement from it from the arrival of the first Europeans to the 1970s Drawing on an extensive array of oral histories manuscripts newspaper accounts biographies and statistical analysis Lutz shows that Aboriginal people flocked to the workforce and prospered in the late nineteenth century He argues that the roots of today's widespread unemployment and welfare dependency date only from the 1950s when deliberate and inadvertent policy choices what Lutz terms the white problem drove Aboriginal people out of the capitalist wage and subsistence economies offering them welfare as compensation At Home with the Bella Coola Indians Douglas Cole, John Barker, 2012-01-01 Between 1922 and 1924 the young Canadian anthropologist T F McIlwraith spent eleven months in the isolated community of Bella Coola British Columbia living among the people of the Nuxalk First Nation During his time there McIlwraith gained intimate knowledge of the Nuxalk culture and of their struggle to survive in the face of massive depopulation loss of traditional lands and the efforts of the Canadian government to ban the potlatch McIlwraith's resulting ethnography The Bella Coola Indians 1948 is widely considered the finest published study of a Northwest Coast First Nation This volume is a rich complement to McIlwraith's classic work incorporating his letters from the field as well as previously unpublished essays on the Nuxalk Vivid and lively the letters show the human side of the anthropologist and provide a fascinating insight into the famous Northwest winter ceremonials and potlatch events in which McIlwraith was one of the few white men privileged to participate as a dancer and partner Extensive editorial annotations and striking photographs make this book a pleasurable read that will appeal to anthropologists and historians as well as those with interests in Northwest cultures and the history of anthropology in Canada

In the Valleys of the Noble Beyond John Zada, 2019-07-02 A journalist travels through British Columbia exploring one of the world's most baffling mysteries the existence of the Sasquatch On the central and north coast of British Columbia the Great Bear Rainforest is the largest intact temperate rainforest in the world containing more organic matter than any other terrestrial ecosystem on the planet The area plays host to a wide range of species from thousand year old western cedars to humpback whales to iconic white Spirit bears According to local residents another giant is said to live in these woods For centuries people have reported encounters with the Sasquatch a species of hairy bipedal man apes said to inhabit the deepest recesses of this pristine wilderness Driven by his own childhood obsession with the creatures John Zada decides to seek out the diverse inhabitants of this rugged and far flung coast where nearly everyone has a story to tell from a scientist who dedicated his life to researching the Sasquatch to members of the area's First Nations to a former grizzly bear hunter turned nature tour guide With each tale Zada discovers that his search for the Sasquatch is a quest for something infinitely more complex cutting across questions of human perception scientific inquiry indigenous traditions the environment and the power and desire of the human imagination to believe in or reject something largely unseen Teeming with gorgeous nature writing and a driving narrative that takes us through the forests and into the valleys of a remote and seldom visited region In the Valleys of the Noble Beyond sheds light on what our decades long pursuit of the Sasquatch can tell us about ourselves and invites us to welcome wonder for the unknown back into our lives Praise for In the Valleys of the Noble Beyond Books on supernatural phenomena typically steer one of two courses tabloid gullibility or mean spirited debunkery Zada deftly tightropes between the two In the Valleys of the Noble Beyond is not really about sasquatch It is about how we see what we want to see and don't see what we're not prepared to see A quirky and oddly captivating tale Eric Weiner Washington Post An adventure story in the tradition of Paul Theroux and in parts Jon Krakauer Zada is a latter day Henry David Thoreau or John Muir Searching for an elusive ape Zada has a knack for meeting unforgettable humans Peter Kuitenbrouwer Globe and Mail If people can believe in God why not Sasquatch Zada takes us through the temperate rainforest of British Columbia looking for both the hairy bipedal and the mythology and landscape surrounding it Terrific nature writing with a furry twist Kerri Arsenault Orion Raincoast Chronicles 23 Peter A. Robson, 2015-04-25 When the first edition of Raincoast Chronicles was produced by a couple of novice publishers in the unlikely location of Pender Harbour in 1972 it boldly announced that it was going to put BC character on the record Printed in sepia ink and decorated with the rococo flourishes characteristic of that extravagant era the unclassifiable journal cum serial book about life on the BC coast struck a nerve and in time became something very close to what it set out to be a touchstone of British Columbia identity Soon the term Raincoast which had been coined by the editors was appearing on boats puppet theatres interior decorating firms and at least one other publishing enterprise Raincoast Chronicles also created another publishing enterprise Harbour Publishing Many of the stories that started out as articles in the Chronicles grew into books and so the White family was more or less forced to get into book publishing to deal with them That undertaking went on to publish some six hundred books and counting about every possible aspect of BC and in 2014 celebrated its fortieth anniversary in the biz To honour that occasion this special double issue of Raincoast Chronicles takes a tour down memory lane selecting a trove of the most outstanding stories in all those Harbour books and republishing them in one volume Here are some of Canada's most exciting and iconic writers Al Purdy Anne Cameron Edith Iglauer Patrick Lane and Grant Lawrence to start a long list Here also are stories of disasters at sea scarcely believable bush plane feats eerie events at coastal ghost towns and a First Nations elder who has seen so many sasquatches he finds them sort of boring Full of great drawings and photos this jumbo anniversary edition of Raincoast Chronicles is a feast of great Pacific Northwest storytelling Lessons in Legitimacy Sean Carleton, 2022-09-15 Between 1849 and 1930 government assisted schooling in what is now British Columbia supported the development of a capitalist settler society Lessons in Legitimacy examines state schooling for Indigenous and non Indigenous peoples public schools Indian Day Schools and Indian Residential Schools in one analytical frame Schooling for Indigenous and non Indigenous children and youth functioned in distinct yet complementary ways teaching students lessons in legitimacy that normalized settler capitalism and the making of British Columbia Church and state officials administered different school systems that trained Indigenous and non Indigenous peoples to take up and accept unequal roles in the emerging social order Combining insights from history Indigenous studies historical materialism and political economy this important study reveals how an understanding of the historical uses of schooling can inform contemporary discussions about the role of education in reconciliation and improving Indigenous settler relations

Switchbacks Jennifer Kramer,2011-11-01 Switchbacks explores how the Nuxalk of Bella Coola British Columbia negotiate such complex questions as Who owns culture How should culture be transmitted to future generations Where does selling and buying Nuxalk art fit into attempts to regain control of heritage To answer these questions Jennifer Kramer undertook participant observation at Nuxalk artists studios in the Nuxalk run band school s cultural education classes and during the everyday activities of Nuxalk in their homes She charts the fluid character of tangible material culture such as masks and other regalia and intangible material culture such as songs and dances as they moved in and out of the cultural education curriculum the Western art market and the Western legal system In addition Kramer analyzes the ambivalent reactions of the Nuxalk to ownership appropriation and repatriation of Nuxalk culture The Nuxalk oscillate between essential stances a process Kramer likens to switchbacks on a mountain road Through these recurrent movements they create recreate and validate contemporary Nuxalk identity Kramer demonstrates that loss of cultural objects proves that Nuxalk culture is valuable through external affirmation In this way the Nuxalk use their cultural patrimony to assert their collective national identity At stake are not only definitions of alienable and inalienable property but also a unified national identity that affords the Nuxalk a strong position from whence to reclaim traditional territory and regain self determination in British Columbia Switchbacks will appeal to scholars and students interested in questions of cultural ownership and identity in general and in Nuxalk culture in particular
