Growing Up American Alan Peshkin, 1982-08 Theorizing Social Class and Education Diane Reay, Carol Vincent, 2016-04-08 Theorizing Social Class and Education presents a selection of writing on class analysis within sociology of education as it has evolved over the last decade both in the UK and internationally Moving from a narrow focus on class position and categorisation to a much broader view on behaviours attitudes identities and practices the contributors explore and theorize the ways in which particular individuals develop their perspectives and understandings of the social world and the role education plays in shaping these This book was originally published as a special issue of the British Journal of Sociology of Education Rural Education for the Twenty-first Century Kai A. Schafft, Alecia Youngblood Jackson, 2010-01-01 A collection of essays examining the various social cultural and economic intersections of rural place and global space as viewed through the lens of education Explores practices that offer both problems and possibilities for the future of rural schools and communities in the United States and abroad Provided by publisher Fifty Years of Anthropology and Education 1950-2000 George and Louie Spindler, 2000-06-01 George and Louise Spindler are widely regarded as significant founders of the field of educational anthropology This book brings together their best most seminal work from the last 50 years a time frame representing the developmental epoch of the field and binds them together with a master commentary by George Spindler Previously scattered over a wide range of publications the articles collected here allow for a unified view of the Spindlers work and of the development of the field The book opens with an insightful Foreword by Henry T Trueba a fascinating piece titled A Life With Anthropology and Education Interviews With George and Louise Spindler by Ray McDermott and Frederick Erickson and George Spindler s Previews essay which gives the reader a grasp of the whole to which the parts of the book contribute These pieces frame and contextualize the work that follows In Part I Character Defining many of the major themes of this volume are first encountered this section sets the stage for what follows Part II Comparisons focuses on comparison which the Spindlers view as essential to an anthropological approach Part III Ethnography in Action is devoted to the explicit exposition of ethnographic methods though actually every piece in the book is a demonstration of method Part IV American Culture moves from a traditional representation of American Culture to a processual analysis of how the culture is transmitted in real situations and finally to an interpretation of right wing actions that seem to constitute a reactive movement the implications for education are pursued Part V Cultural Therapy explains what cultural therapy is and how it may be applied to teachers and students The volume concludes with Part VI Orientation Susan Parman s overview of the works of the Spindlers that spans their whole career School as Community Gail Furman, 2012-02-01 An increasingly important and appealing concept for school renewal is that of school as community While community holds multiple promises for schools little is known about the practice of community in schools This collection furthers our understanding about the nature of school community its practice in public schools and the role of leadership in this practice Of particular importance is the question of how community can be created and sustained in K 12 public schools with highly diverse populations Handbook of Qualitative Research in Education Sara Delamont,2012-01-01 The Handbook of Qualitative Research in Education offers both basic and advanced discussions of data collection analysis and representation of all the best qualitative methods used in educational research It contains four comprehensive yet concise sections on perspectives settings data collection and data analysis and representation Authors from North America Europe Australia and New Zealand contribute to a wide ranging and provocative Handbook that will inspire novice researchers and re invigorate experienced scholars Its 44 well documented chapters will serve academics and graduate students in educational research across all sectors of education from pre school to graduate school and all settings from formal to non formal Places of Memory Alan Peshkin,2013-11-26 While visiting New Mexico the author was struck with the opportunity the state presents to explore the school community relationship in rural religious and multiethnic sociocultural settings In New Mexico the school community relationship can be learned within four major culture groups Indian Spanish American Mexican and Anglo Together studies of these culture groups form a portrait of schooling in New Mexico further documenting the range of ways that host communities in our educationally decentralized society use the prerogatives of local control to create schools that fit local cultural inclinations The first of four planned volumes this book studies the Pueblo Indians and Indian High School The school is a nonpublic state accredited off reservation boarding school for more than 400 Indian students A large majority of the students are from Pueblo tribes while others are from Navajo and Apache tribes As a state accredited school it subscribes to curricular safety and other requirements of New Mexico As a nonpublic school devoted to Indian students it has the prerogative to be as distinctive as the ethnic group it serves USE SHORT BLURB COPY FOR CATALOGS This ethnography of the Pueblo Indians and Indian High School eplores some of the ways that host communities in our decentralized society use the perogatives of local consul to create schools that fit local cultural inclinations A Global Perspective of Social Justice Leadership for School Principals Pamela S. Angelle,2017-05-01 Within education there have been some notable attempts to frame social justice in ways that can help to explain and understand the practices of those working in schools especially school leaders The research contained in this book seeks to enhance our understanding of school leaders actions as they work to promote socially just practices and or outcomes in a range of different national contexts The unique nature of this research is that studies took place in numerous schools across the globe in a variety of contexts yet utilized the same research protocols This has allowed the researchers to draw conclusions at an international level about social justice decision making the supports and barriers brought on school leaders by national policy and mandates and the essential nature of context in the work of social justice leadership The audience will include scholars on a global scale given that cases in the book include authors and principals from around the world The book can also serve as a text for leadership preparation courses as well as courses in social justice research design and qualitative research
