Growing Up Stupid Under The Union Jack A Memoir:

Growing Up Stupid Under the Union Jack Austin Clarke, 1998 Austin Clarke's classic story of British colonial education is the subject of Growing Up Stupid Under the Union Jack. It is the story of a boy whose mother struggled against seemingly impossible odds to give her son the best available education. Generations of Barbadians and West Indians will identify with young Austin Clarke from the absentee father to the challenges of a daily life in a society based on colour and class prejudice and a rigid set of customs and rules imported from England and imposed on Caribbean society. Growing Up Stupid Under the Union Jack is more than a memoir; it provides a rare in-depth look into the nature of the colonial condition told with humour, wit, and an authentic Bajan voice. There are No Elders Austin Clarke, 2007 A compelling collection that explores the lives of Afro Caribbean immigrants living in Canada; these eight short stories delve into the experiences of displaced persons living in contemporary society, all with a richness of language and rhythm that is authentically urban. African Diasporas in the New and Old Worlds, 2021-11-01 In the humanities, the term diaspora recently emerged as a promising and powerful heuristic concept. It challenged traditional ways of thinking and invited reconsiderations of theoretical assumptions about the unfolding of cross-cultural and multi-ethnic societies about power relations, frontiers and boundaries about cultural transmission, communication and translation. The present collection of essays by renowned writers and scholars addresses these issues and helps to ground the ongoing debate about the African diaspora in a more solid theoretical framework. Part I is dedicated to a general discussion of the concept of African diaspora, its origins and historical development. Part II examines the complex cultural dimensions of African diasporas in relation to significant sites and figures, including the modes and modalities of creative expression from the perspective of both artists/writers and their audiences. Finally, Part III focusses on the resources, collections and archives and iconographies that are available today. As most authors argue, the African diaspora should not be seen merely as a historical phenomenon but also as an idea or ideology and an object of representation. By exploring this new ground, the essays assembled here provide important new insights for scholars in American and African American Studies, Cultural Studies, Ethnic Studies and African Studies. The collection is rounded off by an annotated listing of black

A Passage to England John Western, 1992 Since World War II London has become a significantly multiracial city Some of the earliest agents of its transformation were young men and women recruited in the late 1950s from Barbados then a British colony to work in the metropolis s nationalized public transportation system and in its hospitals These Barbadians met married settled in London and raised Londoner children In 1987 88 John Western conducted a series of interviews with twelve such families both parents and children Their vivid words fill A Passage to England with insight human and often poignancy Here is a rich perspective on thirty years or more of London social history Western structured the interviews to allow the Barbadians a lot of freedom to discuss whatever came to mind concerning either their own life histories and achievements or wider themes of culture politics and society Topics covered range from matters of race to Margaret Thatcher and the change her decade in power has wrought in Britain One development for example is the strikingly entrepreneurial spirit now embraced by some of the young British blacks veritabily Mrs Thatcher s Children Ultimately many of the interviewees focused on the changes they see in their ancestral island in the Caribbean to which all of them have returned for visits For this migrant generation especially as the prospect of retirement begins to grow increasingly important inevitable questions regard the definitions of home and belonging must be confronted Does one stay in London with one s children and grandchildren or does one return to Barbados which for many seems no longer the same island as the one they left a working lifetime ago Within the context of an ever increasing complement of geographically mobile people worldwide Western s study provides unique insights into the particular ambiguities a particular set of person have wrestled with at a particular moment in history but the import of the Barbadian Londoners story is universal

Caribbean Children's Literature, Volume 1 Betsy Nies, Melissa García Vega, 2023-05-18 Contributions by Mar a V Acevedo Aquino Consuella Bennett Florencia V Cornet Stacy Ann Creech Zeila Frade Melissa Garc a Vega Ann Gonz lez Louise Hardwick Barbara Lalla Megan Jeanette Myers Betsy Nies Karen Sanderson Cole Karen Sands O Connor Geraldine Elizabeth Skeete and Aisha T Spencer The world of Caribbean children s literature finds its roots in folktales and storytelling As countries distanced themselves from former colonial powers post 1950s the field has taken a new turn that emerges not just from writers within the region but also from those of its diaspora Rich in language diversity and history contemporary

Caribbean children's literature offers a window into the ongoing representations of not only local realities but also the fantasies that structure the genre itself. Young adult literature entered the region in the 1970s offering much needed representations of teenage voices and concerns. With the growth of local competitions and publishing awards the genre has gained momentum providing a new field of scholarly analyses. Similarly the field of picture books has also deepened. Caribbean Children's Literature Volume 1: History, Pedagogy and Publishing includes general coverage of children's literary history in the regions where the four major colonial powers have left their imprint, addresses intersections between pedagogy and children's literature in the Anglophone Caribbean, explores the challenges of producing and publishing picture books and engages with local authors familiar with the terrain. Local writers come together to discuss writerly concerns and publishing challenges. In new interviews conducted for this volume international authors Edwidge Danticat, Junot Díaz and Olive Senior discuss their transition from writing for adults to creating picture books for children. Worrell Simon Lister, 2024-06-06

WINNER OF THE MCC CRICKET SOCIETY BOOK OF THE YEAR AWARD The definitive telling of the life of a West Indian hero Sir Clive Lloyd. The brilliant all rounder Frank Worrell had to wait until 1960 to become the first permanent Black captain of the West Indies cricket team, denied for a decade by the elitism, insularity and racism of Caribbean cricket's rulers. When his chance finally came, Worrell transformed a talented but unfocused team into the most exciting side in the world and led his men into unforgettable series against Australia and England. Worrell was universally admired as one of cricket's great captains when he was knighted in 1964, but three years later he was dead, aged just forty-two. Not merely an extraordinarily talented and record-breaking sportsman, he served the University of the West Indies after his retirement, along with the cricket team and the political federation, one of the three truly unifying elements across a fractious and diverse region. This biography, by the author of the acclaimed Fire in Babylon and with a foreword by Sir Clive Lloyd, is the definitive telling of Frank Worrell's life and legacy. It reveals how an upbringing in Barbados, cricketing adventures around the world and a determination not to be cowed by the powers that ran island cricket shaped a great West Indian cricketer into a great West Indian who changed the game forever. The Cambridge Companion to Canadian Literature Eva-Marie Kröller, 2017-06-08. A fully revised second edition of this multi-author account of Canadian literature from Aboriginal writing to Margaret Atwood.

The Austin Clarke Library Austin Clarke, 2015-08-22. Gathered together are three extraordinary books by renowned storyteller and memoirist Austin Clarke. Membering Clarke's breathtaking memoir spans over fifty years of his life as a writer chronicling his coming to Canada in the fifties, formative experiences with Malcolm X, Chinua Achebe and LeRoi Jones and bursting with cultural insights and poignant memories from a narrative master. In The Polished Hoe, winner of the Giller Prize and the 2003 Commonwealth Writers Prize, when an elderly Bimshire village woman calls the police to confess to a murder, the result is a shattering all-night vigil that brings together elements of the African diaspora in one epic sweep. Set on the post-colonial West Indian island of Bimshire in 1952, The Polished Hoe unravels over the course of 24 hours but spans the lifetime of one woman and the collective experience of a society informed by slavery Choosing His Coffin is a selection of Clarke's finest work from more than forty years of storytelling drawing on his Caribbean roots and his years in Canada These stories range in theme from growing up in West Indian society and what it means to be black in both the United States and Canada to surviving as an immigrant in a predominantly Anglo Saxon culture What's a Black Critic to Do? Donna Bailey Nurse, 2009 This collection of profiles interviews essays and reviews on such well known writers as Ken Burns Dionne Brand Austin Clarke and Edwidge Danticat constitutes a frank conversation on the significance of race in the work of contemporary Black artists Positioning Gender and Race in (Post)colonial Plantation Space E.

Stoddard, 2012-11-09 Stoddard uses the Anglophone Caribbean and Ireland to examine the complex inflections of women and race as articulated in between the colonial discursive and material formations of the eighteenth century and those of the post colonial twentieth century as structured by the defined spaces of the colonizers estates Who's Who of Twentieth Century Novelists Tim Woods, 2008-02-21 Taking in novelists from all over the globe from the beginning of the century to the present day this is the most comprehensive survey of the leading lights of twentieth century fiction Superb breadth of coverage and over 800 entries by an international team of contributors ensures that this fascinating and wide ranging work of reference will be invaluable to anyone with an interest in modern fiction Authors included range from Joseph Conrad to Albert Camus and Franz Kafka to Chinua Achebe Who's Who of Twentieth Century Novelists gives a superb insight into the richness and diversity of the twentieth century novel The Making and Unmaking of Colonial Cities Julia C. Obert, 2023-09-15 The Making and Unmaking of Colonial Cities is a comparative study of architectural space in four post colonial capitals Belfast Northern Ireland Windhoek Namibia Bridgetown Barbados and Hanoi Vietnam Each chapter takes up one of these cities outlining its history of building and urban planning under colonial rule and linking that history to its contemporary shape and scope This genealogical information is drawn from primary source documents and archival materials The chapters then look to local literary texts to better understand the lingering impact of colonial building practices on individuals living in post colonial cities today These texts often foreground the difficulty of moving through a city that can never feel comfortably one's own legacies of racial segregation buildings that disregard indigenous resources and street names that serve as constant reminders of a history of oppression for example can produce feelings of anxiety even of unbelonging for native subjects However the literature also highlights ways in which the subversive wanderings of particular pedestrians taking shortcuts trespassing in forbidden places diverting spaces from their intended uses can contest official topography Bodies can therefore move against the power of a repressive regime at least to some degree even when that power is literally set in stone Obert argues for the significance of these small gestures of reclamation suggesting that we must counterpose the potential flexibility of lived space to the prohibitions of the map in order to more fully understand post colonial power relations In the Service of God and Humanity Tunde Adeleke, 2021-04-01 An analysis of Black activist Martin R Delany's humanist vision for a world where everyone feels validated and empowered Martin R Delany 1812 1885 was one of the leading and most influential Black activists and nationalists in American history His ideas have inspired generations of activists and movements including Booker T Washington in the late nineteenth century Marcus Garvey in the early 1920s Malcolm X and Black Power in 1960s and even today s Black Lives Matter Extant scholarship on Delany has focused largely on his Black nationalist and Pan Africanist ideas Tunde Adeleke argues that there is so much more about Delany to appreciate In the Service of God and Humanity reveals and analyzes Delany s contributions to debates and discourses about strategies for elevating Black people and improving race relations in the nineteenth century Adeleke examines Delany s view of Blacks as Americans who deserved the same rights and privileges accorded Whites While he spent the greater part of his life pursuing racial equality his vision for America was much broader Adeleke argues that Delany was a quintessential humanist who envisioned a social order in which everyone regardless of race felt validated and empowered Through close readings of the discourse of Delany s humanist visions and aspirations Adeleke illuminates many crucial but undervalued aspects of his thought He discusses the strategies Delany espoused in his quest to universalize America s most cherished values life liberty and the pursuit of happiness and highlights his ideological contributions to the internal struggles to reform America The breadth and versatility of Delany s thought become more evident when analyzed within the context of his American centered aspirations In the Service of God and Humanity reveals a complex man whose ideas straddled many complicated social political and cultural spaces and whose voice continues to speak to America today
