After-School Programs to Promote Child and Adolescent

Development Institute of Medicine, National Research Council, Commission on Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Board on Children, Youth, and Families, Committee on Community-Level Programs for Youth, 2000-09-12 This report summarizes the presentations and discussion at a workshop entitled Opportunities to Promote Child and Adolescent Development During the After School Hours convened on October 21 1999 The workshop was organized by the Board on Children Youth and Families and its Forum on Adolescence of the National Research Council and the Institute of Medicine with funding from the David and Lucile Packard Foundation This workshop brought together policy makers researchers and practitioners to examine research on the developmental needs of children and adolescents ages 5 to 14 years and the types of

after school programs designed to promote the health and development of these young people. Intended to provide a forum for discussion among the various stakeholders, the workshop did not generate conclusions about the types of programs that are most effective nor did it generate specific recommendations about after school programs or promote a particular approach. The workshop coincided with release of the Packard Foundation's fall 1999 issue of The Future of Children entitled "When School Is Out: Focusing on after school programs." The journal provided some context for the workshop, providing a backdrop for discussing the importance of after school programs, the types of programs that exist across the country, and the policy climate that surrounds after school programs. This report summarizes the workshop.
