is not judged purely by visual literacy and technical qualities but also requires intellectual engagement with its subject matter. Illustration: A Theoretical Contextual Perspective 2nd Edition examines the breadth and many uses of this diverse discipline through nearly 300 colour examples. From developing a brief, conducting research and analysing visual language, the book goes on to explore the role of illustration in documentation, commentary, storytelling, persuasion and identity. It concludes with an overview of current professional practice, demonstrating that the ability to communicate meaningfully and effectively for a global audience is key to navigating today's creative industries. Examples of work from award-winning illustrators showcase a huge range of applications, from the author's own collaboration with the British Museum of Natural History and Olivier Kugler's Portraits of Syrian Refugees in Iraqi Kurdistan to Levi Pinfold's fictional picture book Black Dog and Malika Favre's promotional images for the BAFTA British Academy of Film and Television Arts Film Awards.

Illustration: A Theoretical and Contextual Perspective Alan Male, 2007-07-25. Successful forward-thinking illustrators no longer operate the way many did and still do as merely colouring in technicians receiving briefs that are heavily directed and prescribed regarding content and overall visual concept. Nowadays, illustrators need to be educated socially and culturally, aware communicators having knowledge, understanding and insight regarding the context within which they are working, the subject matter that they are engaged with and to be able professionals working within the parameters and needs of the market place and target audiences. They need to utilise a breadth of intellectual and practical skills, some that might once be regarded as transferable from other disciplines but are now considered essential if the illustrator has ambitions to transcend the basic role of commissioned hack. This book introduces the concept of the illustrator as a specialist or authority on a particular subject or as an originator of either fiction and or non-fiction material. Examples include effective and creative written communication and authorship, academic research, art direction and design management. The book focuses on illustration education and theory, in particular the latter stages of undergraduate development and post graduate study and research, such as theoretical and intellectual processes, research and visual language. Definitions and philosophies of what illustration is are also featured together with a relevant historical overview. 50 Markets of Illustration John
