Educational Psychologist:

How to Become an Educational Psychologist Jeremy Swinson, Phil Stringer, 2018 Educational psychologists can play a fundamental and inspiring role in people's lives. A vibrant and expanding profession, educational psychology is becoming more influential in the lives of children and in its influence on government policy. But how do you qualify and what is being an educational psychologist really like? How to Become an Educational Psychologist is the first book to provide a clear practical guide to the pathway to qualifying as an educational psychologist. Written by two educational psychologists with a wealth of experience in both education and training and incorporating testimonials from trainees, trainers, and qualified educational psychologists, it explains every step of the journey, including advice on a suitable degree course, making the most of a training placement, how to prepare for the job interview, and the challenges of making the transition from training to qualification. Written for anyone from current students to those interested in a change of career, How to Become an Educational Psychologist is the perfect companion for anyone interested in this varied, rewarding, and popular profession. So, You Are a School Psychologist Jerry L. Turner, 2012-02-03 This book, written in Dr. Turner's unique college lecture style, has real-world practical suggestions that can be immediately implemented. His straightforward, matter-of-fact approach effectively conveys important points without fluff. As a former teacher, counselor, and academic dean, his perspective on education is well-rounded. His formal education includes two master's degrees, a doctorate in psychology, and post-doctoral work in autism and behavior modification. Dr. Turner's book is an excellent first step in the right direction. It is an example of his commitment to doing what is right for students. I found the sections on assessment and the IEP process particularly enlightening. This book would be an informative read for any individual involved in the IEP process. William Shupe, M.A., NPS Principal. Dr. Turner has written a comprehensive book that can save many interns, first-year school psychologists, and even seasoned veterans valuable time if his strategies are utilized. Many people, professionals too, confuse activity with being successful and effective. However, many school psychologists are so busy running from meeting to meeting and are in stomping out fires mode that the day is over before they know it started. They are very active but not very effective. Dr. Turner shows us how planned activity and organization are effective. Dr. Turner provides us with a common-sense model of how to learn good professional habits and make them a part of our professional and daily life. Roger McCoy, PPS school psychologist for Riverside County SELPA. This book is very thorough and innovative in the progressive future of school psychology. As a new School Psychologist entering the field, I love the detailed information and direction. Alice Bass, School Psychologist Intern. Dr. Turner is a licensed educational psychologist in California, lead school psychologist in a mid-size district, private pilot, Marine combat veteran, and adjunct college professor. He is a mentor to interns, guiding them through their 1200 intern hours required by the state. As a former member of the Board of Directors for the California Association of School Psychologists, he is aware of the many pressures and legal issues facing educational psychology and special education. Dr. Turner also received a research grant to study strengths based interventions and is a promoter of shifting the perspective from strengthening weaknesses to building on strengths Educational Psychology Walter Bernard Kolesnik,1963 EDUCATIONAL PSYCHOLOGY KAKKAR, S.
