John Halliday,2018-05-11 Originally published in 1990 This book is concerned with the logic of the relationship between educational theory and practice It is a fundamental examination of three ideas Vocationalism the idea that the central purpose of education is to prepare people for work Managerialism the idea that this preparation can be managed by those not intimately concerned with the practice of teaching Consumerism the idea that education should be led by the demands of the market Halliday argues that promoters of these ideas share a mistaken belief in the value of pursuing a supposed ideal of objective precision in education He traces the theoretical origins of this ideal and its practical consequences In particular he argues that educational development is likely to remain ossified within a particular theoretical framework unless competing developments are allowed to flourish alongside one another He concludes by outlining the ways in which this competition might be managed The SAGE Handbook of Philosophy of Education Richard Bailey,Robin Barrow,David

Carr,Christine McCarthy,2010-03-23 This book provides an authoritative yet accessible guide to the Philosophy of Education

its scope its key thinkers and movements and its potential contribution to a range of educational concerns The text offers a balanced view of three key dimensions first in giving an equal weight to different styles and modes of philosophy second by including past and present perspectives on philosophy of education and third in covering both the general perennial issues in philosophy and issues of more contemporary concern Section one of the book exemplifies different styles of philosophy paying attention to the contemporary debates as to the nature possibilities and limitations of these different approaches to philosophy of education Section two is devoted to particular thinkers of the past and more general coverage of the history of philosophy of education Section three is dedicated to contemporary philosophic thought on education providing the basis and reference point for an exploration of contemporary issues The handbook is designed primarily to be useful to students studying the field of philosophy of education in the context of the study of educational foundations or theory But it is also designed to be of use to practising teachers who wish to gain easy access to current philosophical thinking on particular contemporary educational issues and to educationalists of all types who want a succinct guide to questions relating to the nature the history and the current state of the art of philosophy of education Education and Psychology in Interaction Brahm Norwich,2002-11 The author takes an in depth look at how these subjects relate to each other and at the current state of this relationship He develops the theme that despite differences in aims education and psychology are interconnected

Education, Values and Mind (International Library of the Philosophy of Education Volume 6) David Cooper, 2010-02-25 The subjects discussed in this volume range from political education to the education of the emotions and from motivation to the training of teachers Apart from its value as a testimony to Professor Peters impact the volume will stimulate reflection on central issues in the philosophies of education mind and value

Understanding and Researching Professional Practice, 2019-02-11 Understanding and researching professional practice is crucial both to enhancing the quality of professional learning and to improving professional education more generally Yet professional practice remains something that is little known theoretically and philosophically despite a longstanding interest in what might be called the meta field of professional practice learning and education The contributors to this book drawn from fields such as education allied health psychology and business explore different aspects of practice in the professions professionalism and research This includes engaging with the burgeoning literature on practice theory and philosophy including the increasingly influential neo Aristotelian tradition and taking account of growing interest in practice thinking across contemporary scholarship It considers issues such as the primacy of practice the nature of professional judgement the role of experience ethics context and the practitioner standpoint As such it raises important and timely questions about practice ontologies epistemologies and methodologies and also praxis and politics This is especially needed in a context otherwise increasingly organised by neoliberalism economic rationality anxious managerialism and what some see as a general drive towards de professionalisation and new nuances and intensities of regulation

For Education Carr, Wilfred, 1995-02-01 In this text Carr provides a justification for reconstructing educational theory and research as a form of critical inquiry In doing this he confronts such philosophical questions as what is educational theory what is an educational practice and how are theory and practice related

Beyond Liberal Education Robin Barrow, Patricia White, 2013-01-11 This collection of essays by philosophers and educationalists of international reputation all published here for the first time celebrates Paul Hirst s professional career The introductory essay by Robin Barrow and Patricia White outlines Paul Hirst s career and maps the shifts in his thought about education showing how his views on teacher education the curriculum and educational aims are interrelated Contributions from leading names in British and American philosophy of education cover themes ranging from the nature of good teaching to Wittgensteinian aesthetics The collection concludes with a paper in which Paul Hirst sets out his latest views on the nature of education and its aims The book also includes a complete bibliography of works by Hirst and a substantial set of references to his writing

Adult Education as Theory, Practice and Research Robin Usher, Ian Bryant, 2014-06-23 The authors argue that the aim of research should be to improve practice through a process of critical reflection Focusing clearly on the everyday concerns and problems of practitioners they emphasize the importance of practical knowledge Their definition of practice is wide and includes the generation of theory and the doing of research as well as front line teaching They show how notions of adult learning and the adult learner have been constituted mainly through theory and research in psychology and sociology and examine action research as a mode of understanding They conclude by looking at the curriculum implications for the teaching of adult education as reflective practice

In Search of Subjectivities Michael A. Peters, Marek Tesar, 2015-11-19 While traditionally identified as a practice based endeavour the many dimensions of teacher education raise important philosophical issues that emphasise the centrality of ethics to questions of relationality and professional practice This second volume of the Educational Philosophy and Theory reader series demonstrates the continuing relevance of philosophical approaches to the field of teacher education The collection of texts focuses on a wide range of topics including teacher education in a cross cultural context the notion of unsuccessful teaching democratic teacher education the reflective teacher the ethics and politics of teacher identity and subjectivity and performance in teaching Chapters also explore teacher education based on experiential learning as experience demonstrating the continuing relevance of philosophical approaches to the field In Search of Subjectivities will interest academics researchers and postgraduate students in the fields of philosophy of education philosophy education educational theory teacher education experiential philosophy ethics policy and politics of education and professional practice

Emerging Perspectives from Social Realism on Knowledge and Education Graham McPhail, Richard Pountney, Leesa Wheelahan, 2024-10-28 This book brings the key ideas and concepts of social realism to bear on current debates in the fields of knowledge and curriculum The key concern of this collection is to highlight matters related to knowledge and the influence these dimensions have on the formation of curricula pedagogy identity and equity in educational contexts Presenting new perspectives on the place of various types and forms of knowledge in contemporary education this book explores two central questions what type of knowledge is most important to include in a curriculum and what is meant by disciplinary knowledge The chapters use empirical examples to illustrate how the issues play out on a global stage interweaving the social justice concern of equitable access to disciplinary knowledge throughout In particular the authors address the emerging theorisation of issues related to the decolonisation of curricula the recontextualisation of non traditional knowledge into the curriculum and teacher education Offering new philosophical and theoretical perspectives this book will be of interest to researchers scholars and students examining the fields of knowledge and curriculum and the sociology of education more broadly

The Study of Education Peter Gordon, 2019-05-20 The inaugural lectures published in this volume reflect the many changes which have taken place in the study of education between the late 1970s and the mid 1980s Changes in society are reflected in the lectures on special needs education and multicultural education and the contributions of educational administration and comparative educations as a field of study
