Crockett, 1993-12 In this introductory treatment of Christian education the authors assume that religious education begins with the basic human need to make meaning The church and its education fail when they do not take into account people's life experiences and their search for faithfulness Teachers and pastors learn first to understand how their own meanings have been shaped then to name and clarify how religious meaning is transmitted and transformed through personal experience Several personal and congregational stories are woven throughout the text to help the reader better understand how meaning learning and vocation converge as Christians grow in faith and understanding Readers are encouraged to apply new insights to their own lives through activities that are suggested throughout the text A Key Concept Index provides easy access to primary terms and ideas      Educating for Redemptive Community Denise Janssen, 2015-10-01 Jesus made claims about redemptive community throughout his ministry when he called people to extravagant grace Even in the midst of the oppression of his day Jesus preached and taught that redemptive community was possible if his followers would simply stop hoarding hiding and excluding What a prophetic word for today in the midst of modern day oppression and fears of scarcity In this edited volume in honor of religious education scholars Jack Seymour and Margaret Ann Crain eight of their PhD advisees each scholars in their own right join Seymour and Crain to lay out their vision of redemptive community Rooted in their own scholarship each contributor proposes ways in which Jesus vision of redemptive community can become reality in churches and congregations and in our larger world In addition to essays by Jack Seymour and Margaret Ann Crain scholars contributing to this volume include Dori Grinenko Baker Reginald Blount Evelyn L Parker Mai Anh Le Tran Leah Gunning Francis Carmichael Crutchfield Debora B A Junker and Denise Janssen The foreword by Mary Elizabeth Moore and afterword by Seymour and Crain set the volume in the larger context of the church and academy      Reframing Christian Education for a Global Generation Heesung Hwang, 2024-09-24 This groundbreaking book serves as a case study delving into the unique challenges faced by the global generation as they navigate the complexities of their hybrid identities Heesung Hwang drawing from her extensive experience as both a minister and theologian presents a compelling vision for religious education inspired by the traditional Korean concept of madang In this open space faith communities gather to engage in communal interaction fostering generative environments where all members are valued and their contributions esteemed Through the lens of madang Hwang invites readers to reimagine religious education as a holistic experience that transcends traditional boundaries encompassing storytelling conversation play and relationship building This transformative work challenges religious educators to embrace innovative approaches that honor the diverse cultural and religious backgrounds of young people ultimately paving the way for redemptive communities that empower the next generation to shape new cultural and religious expressions within society Reframing

Thinking Theologically about Language Teaching Cheri L. Pierson, Will Bankston, 2017-08-31 Christians can often overlook the need to bring their daily vocations in accord with the reality created sustained and purposed through Christ This is no less true for language teachers who find themselves at a difficult interdisciplinary crossroads where the paths of linguistics culture and education merge This challenge should not discourage these educators but instead aid them in their journey to form a pedagogy rooted in theological truths from Scripture one that provides a nuanced approach that glorifies God in a manner specific to the language classroom The contributors of this book outline why and how theology must inform teaching methods so that Christian language educators might better serve their students with both faith and excellence thereby pointing them to the

is missing and that exists in a dormant continuum with all of us Dr Maram draws on her experiences as a forensic psychologist a Jungian therapist and most centrally a daughter to a father who suffered from psychopathy to challenge the strict separation of us and them in diagnostic criteria and in relationship Beyond the yearnings to make logical sense of psychopathy she eloquently expresses the ways in which Eros or the Feminine Principle is often missing or devalued in both professional work and in personal life Authentic not sentimental engagingly written and filled with personal story Dr Maram's genuine feeling and her capacity to communicate it is what makes this book a gem and a much needed contribution to accepting and healing the dark and cold frozen dimensions of ourselves By going consciously into dark experiences of psychopathy with love appreciation for symbol compassion and a touch of humor Dr Maram shows us the gold the possibility of authentic life that lies hidden in what seems most unacceptable and most destructive to ourselves and others Thomas Elsner J D M A Jungian Analyst
