1. Introduction

Fiction retrieval has become one of the interesting special issues within information science during the past few years. This is a consequence of several facts. The most important of them is the need for fiction retrieval and secondly, the possibilities for creating retrieval systems for fiction have increased, due to the development of computerised environments for information retrieval. The multifaceted approach of analysing and describing texts, which is characteristic of fiction and its retrieval, has been made possible by this development. On the other hand, it has been discovered when computerising library environments that a great amount of the material within libraries has remained unindexed during the years of paper catalogues - and most of that unindexed material has been and still is fictional.

Also the gradual shift to the digital distribution of information requires new tools for analysing the contents of fictional material as well as indexing it. This is due to the fact that texts and other material that have not been analysed and classified and/or indexed in full text databases are hard to retrieve. Thus, the distribution of this kind of information becomes very difficult, if not altogether impossible. Another reason for emphasising the need for content analysis of fictional material is that free text search cannot be used efficiently when searching fictional material. This becomes apparent if we compare it for example with the search and retrieval of natural sciences literature, where the text is usually very topical and unambiguous.

The most valuable influence on the information science of studying the analysis of fictional texts and the information dissemination process of fictional works is that it challenges the traditional theoretical models and thus tests and expands the theoretical tools and concepts of this field of research. ## Fiction As Knowledge:

Understanding Fiction Jürgen Daiber, Eva-Maria Konrad, Thomas Petraschka, 2012      Fictions of Knowledge Y. Batsaki, S. Mukherji, J. Schramm, 2011-11-15 Locating literature at the intersection of distinct areas of thinking on the nature scope and methods of knowledge philosophy theology science and the law this book engages with literary texts across periods and genres to address questions of probability problems of evidence the uses of experiment and the poetics and ethics of doubt      Fiction and Social Reality Mariano Longo, 2016-03-09 In spite of their differing rhetorics and cognitive strategies sociology and literature are often concerned with the same objects social relationships action motivation social constraints and relationships for example As such sociologists have always been fascinated with fictional literature This book reinvigorates the debate surrounding the utility of fiction as a sociological resource examining the distinction between the two forms of writing and exploring the views of early sociologists on the suitability of subjecting literary sources to sociological analysis Engaging with contemporary debates in this field the author explores the potential sociological use of literary fiction considering the role of literature as the exemplification of sociological concepts a non technical confirmation of theoretical insights and a form of empirical material used to confirm a set of theoretically oriented assumptions A fascinating exploration of the means by which the sociological eye can be sharpened by engagement with literary sources Fiction and Social Reality offers a set of methodological principles according to which literature can be examined sociologically As such it will appeal to scholars of sociology and literary studies with interests in research methods and interdisciplinary approaches to scholarly research      Possible Worlds of Fiction and History Lubomír Doležel, 2010-04-05 With Possible Worlds of Fiction and History Lubomír Doležel reexamines the claim made first by Roland Barthes and then popularized by Hayden White that there is no fundamental distinction between fiction and history Doležel rejects this assertion and demonstrates how literary and discourse theory can help the historian to restate the difference between fiction and history He challenges scholars to reassess the postmodern viewpoint by reintroducing the idea of possible worlds Possible worlds semantics reveals that possible worlds of fiction and possible worlds of history differ in their origins cultural functions and structural and semantic features Doležel's book is the first systematic application of this idea to the theory and philosophy of history Possible Worlds of Fiction and History is the crowning work of one of literary theory's most engaged thinkers      Founded in Fiction Thomas Koenigs, 2024-11-26 This monograph presents a new history of early American literature that traces the diverse forms of fiction circulating in the early United States 1789 1861 and how they shaped the way Americans thought and argued about political and cultural issues of their age      The Literary Wittgenstein John Gibson, Wolfgang Huemer, 2004 A stellar collection of articles relating the philosophy of Ludwig Wittgenstein 1889 1951 to core problems in the theory and philosophy of literature written by the most prominent figures in the field      The New Cabinet Cyclopædia and Treasury of Knowledge, 1892      Skepticism Films Philipp Schmerheim, 2017-06-29

Skepticism Films Knowing and Doubting the World in Contemporary Cinema introduces skepticism films as updated configurations of skepticist thought experiments which exemplify the pervasiveness of philosophical ideas in popular culture Philipp Schmerheim defends a pluralistic film philosophical position according to which films can be but need not be expressions of philosophical thought in their own right It critically investigates the influence of ideas of skepticism on film philosophical theories and develops a typology of skepticism films by analyzing The Truman Show Inception The Matrix Vanilla Sky The Thirteenth Floor Moon and other contemporary skepticism films With its focus on skepticism as one of the most significant philosophical problems Skepticism Films provides a better understanding of the dynamic interplay between film theories of film and philosophy Fictional Discourse and the Law Hans J. Lind,2020-04-14 Drawing on insights from literary theory and analytical philosophy this book analyzes the intersection of law and literature from the distinct and unique perspective of fictional discourse Pursuing an empirical approach and using examples that range from Victorian literature to the current judicial treatment of rap music the volume challenges the prevailing fact fiction dichotomy in legal theory and practice by providing a better understanding of the peculiarities of legal fictionality while also contributing further material to fictional theory s endeavor to find a transdisciplinary valid criterion for a definition of fictional discourse Following the basic presumptions of the early law as literature movement past approaches have mainly focused on textuality and narrativity as the common denominators of law and literature and have largely ignored the topic of fictionality This volume provides a much needed analysis of this gap The book will be of interest to scholars of legal theory jurisprudence and legal writing along with literature scholars and students of literature and the humanities ECKM 2021 22nd European Conference on Knowledge Management Dr Alexeis Garcia-Perez ,Professor Lyndon Simkin,2021-09-02 The Imperial Archive Thomas Richards,1993-11-17 Argues that by meeting the vast administrative challenge of the British Empire thorough maps and surveys censuses and statistics Victorian administrators developed a new symbiosis of knowledge and power The book draws on works by Rudyard Kipling H G Wells and Bram Stoker About Time Mark Currie,2010-10-12 Why have theorists approached narrative primarily as a form of retrospect Mark Currie argues that anticipation and other forms of projection into the future are vital for an understanding of narrative and its effects in the world The Cultural Memory of Africa in African American and Black British Fiction, 1970-2000 Leila Kamali,2016-12-10 This book offers a new approach to reading the cultural memory of Africa in African American fiction from the post Civil Rights era and in Black British fiction emerging in the wake of Thatcherism The critical period between the decline of the Civil Rights Movement and the dawn of the twenty first century saw a deep contrast in the distinctive narrative approaches displayed by diverse African diaspora literatures in negotiating the crisis of representing the past Through a series of close readings of literary fiction this work examines how the cultural memory of Africa is employed in diverse and specific negotiations of narrative time in order to engage and shape contemporary identity and citizenship By addressing the practice of remembering Africa the book argues for the signal importance of the African diaspora's literary interventions and locates new paradigms for cultural identity in contemporary times

Reading for Learning Maria Nikolajeva, 2014-06-15 How does reading fiction affect young people How can they transfer fictional experience into real life Why do they care about fictional characters How does fiction enhance young people's sense of selfhood Supported by cognitive psychology and brain research this ground breaking book is the first study of young readers cognitive and emotional engagement with fiction It explores how fiction stimulates perception attention imagination and other cognitive activity and opens radically new ways of thinking about literature for young readers Examining a wide range of texts for a young audience from picturebooks to young adult novels the combination of cognitive criticism and children's literature theory also offers significant insights for literary studies beyond the scope of children's fiction An important milestone in cognitive criticism the book provides convincing evidence that reading fiction is indispensable for young people's intellectual emotional and social maturation

The I Bepe Popu, 2024-01-31 This book presents a complete explanation of consciousness and a probable history from inert matter to the formation of single celled life then to multicellular and intelligent life and finally describes human consciousness In this book consciousness is defined and the living effect that corresponds to it is described It explains consciousness and all its states and characteristics in a very complete way This book is part of Bepe Popu's Theory of Everything which aims to explain everything from the formation of the universe to the emergence of life intelligent life humanity and describes a universal cyclical performance but the most unusual thing is that the theory is based on classical physics According to this theory reality is constantly changing since new effects are constantly taking shape generating a single future reality that is the succession of the previous reality Probable effects are those that are likely to occur When these effects come to fruition they become part of the current reality that will form the future reality The author maintains that reality is the sum of all concrete effects from probable effects This means that any specific effect that occurs can be reproduced in the future if the conditions are met but they will be different effects because they occur in a present different from the previous one because their own probable condition occurs The author also maintains that concrete effects will continue to be part of future realities because any present effect will be a cause of future effects and future effects will be causes of the following effects Thus a continuity is maintained that gives the cumulative character of physical reality

The Bookman, 1919 Artificial Intelligence Perspectives in Intelligent Systems Radek Silhavy, Roman Senkerik, Zuzana Kominkova Oplatkova, Petr Silhavy, Zdenka Prokopova, 2016-04-26 This volume is based on the research papers presented in the 5th Computer Science On line Conference The volume Artificial Intelligence Perspectives in Intelligent Systems presents modern trends and methods to real world problems and in particular exploratory research that describes novel approaches in the field of artificial intelligence New algorithms in a variety of fields are also presented The Computer Science On line Conference CSOC 2016 is intended to provide an international forum for discussions on the latest research results in all areas related to Computer

Science The addressed topics are the theoretical aspects and applications of Computer Science Artificial Intelligences Cybernetics Automation Control Theory and Software Engineering      Puzzling Stories Steven Willemsen, Miklós Kiss, 2022-08-12 Many films and novels defy our ability to make sense of the plot While puzzling storytelling strange incongruities inviting enigmas and persistent ambiguities have been central to the effects of many literary and cinematic traditions a great deal of contemporary films and television series bring such qualities to the mainstream but wherein lies the attractiveness of perplexing works of fiction This collected volume offers the first comprehensive multidisciplinary and trans medial approach to the question of cognitive challenge in narrative art bringing together psychological philosophical formal historical and empirical perspectives from leading scholars across these fields      Nature Knowledge Glauco Sanga, Gherardo Ortalli, 2004-11 Numerous scholars in particular anthropologists historians economists linguists and biologists have over the last few years studied forms of knowledge and use of nature and of the ways nature can be protected and conserved Some of the most prominent scholars have come together in this volume to reflect on what has been achieved so far to compare the work carried out in the past to discuss the problems that have emerged from different research projects and to map out the way forward      Some Elements Towards the At-one-ment of Knowledge and Belief William Routh, 1903
