Fiction Is Folks:

Fiction is Folks Robert Newton Peck, 1987 Gives practical advice on creating fictional characters identifies common mistakes new writers often make and shows how to make characters relate to other characters in the story Morality, Identity and Narrative in the Fiction of Richard Ford Brian Duffy, 2008 Morality Identity and Narrative in the Fiction of Richard Ford is only the second monograph on the work of Richard Ford and the only one to deal with all three Frank Bascombe novels The book offers comprehensive readings of the trilogy and the stories of Women with Men and A Multitude of Sins thus bringing critical work on Ford up to date It draws on the moral theories of Alasdair MacIntyre and Charles Taylor and on the work on narrative and identity of French philosopher Paul Ricoeur But it also explores in detail the portrait of contemporary American society and culture offered in the trilogy Annual Report of the Saint Louis Public Library St. Louis Public Library, 1923 Narrative of Chinese and Western Popular Fiction Yonglin Huang, 2018-09-26 This book presents a comprehensive and systematic study of the narrative history and narrative methods of Chinese and Western popular fiction from the perspectives of narratology comparative literature and art and literature studies by adopting the methodology of parallel comparison The book is a pioneering work that systematically investigates the similarities and differences between Chinese and Western popular fiction and traces the root causes leading to the differences By means of narrative comparison it explores the conceptual and spiritual correlations and differences between Chinese and Western popular fiction and by relating them to the root causes of cultural spirit allows us to gain an insight into the cultural heritage of different nations The book is structured in line with a cause and effect logical sequence and moves from the macroscopic to the microscopic from history to reality and from theory to practice The integration of macro level theoretical studies and micro level case studies is both novel and effective This book was awarded Second Prize at the Sixth Outstanding Achievement Awards in Scientific Research for Chinese Institutions of Higher Learning Humanities Social Sciences 2013

Fiction's Inexhaustible Voice Stephen M. Ross, 1989 William Faulkner recognized voice as one of the most distinctive and powerful elements in fiction when he delivered his Nobel Prize acceptance speech describing the last sound at the end of the world as man's puny inexhaustible voice still talking As a testimonial of an artist's faith in his art the speech raised the value of voice to its highest reach for man as one of the props the pillars to help him endure and prevail In Fiction's Inexhaustible Voice Stephen Ross explores the nature of voice in William Faulkner's fiction by examining the various modes of speech and writing that his texts employ Beginning with the proposition that voice is deeply involved in the experience of reading Faulkner Ross uses theoretically grounded notions of voice to propose new ways of explaining how Faulkner's novels and stories express meaning showing how Faulkner used the affective power of voice to induce the reader to forget the silent and originless nature of written fiction Ross departs from previous Faulkner criticism by proceeding not text by text or chronologically but by construction a workable taxonomy which defines the types of voice in Faulkner's fiction phenomenal voice a depicted event or object within the represented fictional world mimetic voice the illusion that a person is speaking psychic voice one heard only in the mind and overheard only through fiction s omniscience and oratorical voice an overtly intertextual voice which derives from a discursive practice Southern oratory recognizable outside the boundaries of any Faulkner text and identifiable as part of Faulkner s biographical and regional heritage In Faulkner s own experience listening was important As he once confided to Malcolm Cowley I listen to the voices and when I put down what the voices say it s right In Fiction s Inexhaustible Voice Ross conducts a careful analysis of this fundamental source of power in Faulkner s fiction concluding that the preponderance of voice imagery represented talking verbalized thought and oratorical rhetoric and posturing makes the novels and stories fundamentally vocal They derive their energy from the play of voices on the imaginative field of written language Janesville Junior-Senior High School English Course of Study Janesville (Wis.).

The Subject of Race in American Science Fiction

Sharon DeGraw,2006-12-19 While the connections between science fiction and race have largely been neglected by scholars racial identity is a key element of the subjectivity constructed in American SF In his Mars series Edgar Rice Burroughs primarily supported essentialist constructions of racial identity but also included a few elements of racial egalitarianism Writing in the 1930s George S Schuyler revised Burroughs normative SF triangle of white author white audience and white protagonist and promoted an individualistic highly variable concept of race instead While both Burroughs and Schuyler wrote SF focusing on racial identity the largely separate genres of science fiction and African American literature prevented the similarities between the two authors from being adequately acknowledged and explored Beginning in the 1960s Samuel R Delany more fully joined SF and African American literature Delany expands on Schuyler s racial constructionist approach to identity including gender and sexuality in addition to race Critically intertwining the genres of SF and African American literature allows a critique of the racism in the science fiction and a more accurate and positive portrayal of the scientific connections in the African American literature Connecting the popular fiction of Burroughs the controversial career of Schuyler and the postmodern texts of Delany illuminates a gradual change from a stable essentialist construction of racial identity at the turn of the century to the variable social construction of poststructuralist subjectivity today *Windows of
