Marxist theories have had a profound influence on crime fiction beginning with the works of the American writers of the 1930s This study explores the development of a Swedish Marxist noir subgenre after the 1990s through a Marxist reading of central works from the Marlowe novels of Raymond Chandler to the 1960s social crime fiction of Sjowall Wahloo to modern bestselling authors such as Henning Mankell Stieg Larsson Roslund Hellstrom Jens Lapidus Arne Dahl and others The works of these writers show a common thread of Marxist worldview in their portrayal of a modern world gone wrong Memory, Identity, Community Lewis P. Hinchman, Sandra Hinchman, 1997-01-01 This multidisciplinary volume documents the resurrection of the importance of narrative to the study of individuals and groups and argues that narrative may become a lingua franca of future debates in the human sciences Chartist Fiction Ian Haywood, 2018-01-29 First published in 2001

When the Chartist leader Ernest Jones emerged from prison in 1850 he was determined to capture the public's attention with a controversial and topical novel The result of his endeavours was the remarkable Woman's Wrongs a series of five tales exploring women's oppression at every level of society from the working class to the aristocracy Each story presents a graphic often harrowing account of the social economic and emotional victimization of women and taken together the tales comprise a devastating indictment of Victorian patriarchal attitudes and sexual inequalities In his substantial Introduction Ian Haywood places the novel in the context of Jones's career as a Chartist author and editor and in the wider context of the woman question Some of the topics covered by the Introduction include the radical press and popular enlightenment Jones's rivalry with George W M Reynolds and the needlewoman as radical icon This title will be of interest to students of history

Schools as Dangerous Places Tom A. O'Donoghue, 2007 The lack of serious study on how dangerous schools as institutions can be is a little surprising given that the matter was put squarely on the research agenda in persuasive fashion by Waller back in 1932 The lack of response to the possibilities opened up means that a vibrant research agenda still awaits construction This book will stimulate debate on the matter from the historical perspective It consists of fifteen chapters drawing on historical case studies from the United States Canada England Ireland Scotland and Australia written by international scholars in the field These chapters are helpfully grouped into three sections The first section focuses on certain dangers to which pupils were exposed in the past and on certain dangerous practices which they promoted The second section examines dangers to which teachers were exposed in the past along with dangerous practices which they themselves promoted In the final and third section the chapters explore the dangers to which teachers and students were exposed in the past at the university level Throughout the book the emphases range from dangers emanating from the institutions themselves and the patterns of relationships that developed in them to what occurred due to particular ideologies and practices connected with sport sex religion and science Schools as Dangerous Places delivers a historical perspective of schools in a manner that is most unusual This unique study helps us examine education through a very different lens

The Codes of Advertising Sut Jhally, 2014-05-22 This book examines the commercial speech of advertising as a cultural phenomenon whose social significance far exceeds its economic influence Jhally argues that by selling viewing time to advertisers television converts audiences into laborers who work for the media in the same way that workers do in a factory By watching commercial messages on TV viewers actively create symbolic meaning but also generate profit for the media in return for the wage of entertainment
