Roberts,2005 This volume covers sixty five species with life history accounts and individual photographs or pen and ink drawings made by the author During the second half of the twentieth century since the birth of Pakistan the author has witnessed many changes in the natural landscape of the country These profound changes necessitated by mankind s ever increasing need to develop both food and industrial resources have inevitably resulted in a rapidly dwindling number of all our larger and more spectacular mammals This field guide reveals through accounts of their biology their need for adequate living space freedom from constant disturbance and persecution from man and the threats posed by domestic flocks The accounts show how they space themselves out yet maintain contact with their kin when precious food resources are hard to find How even the largest and fiercest mammals are shy and secretive needing undisturbed places for their continued survival It is hoped that this field guide will create a better awareness of our natural wildlife heritage which we are so imminently in danger of losing That in the future there will be a determination to make some sacrifice in development needs to ensure their continued survival BOOK JACKET Mammals of Ethiopia, Eritrea, Djibouti and Somalia TREVOR.
