The Cost of Bearing Witness Nena Močnik, Ahmad Ali Ghouri, 2024-04-04 This highly interdisciplinary volume fills the gap in research ethics that has so far omitted to address the psychological physiological and socio political impacts on researchers conducting field based social research in traumatic environments The chapters in this book discuss various facets of secondary trauma from different methodological and theoretical perspectives geographic and historical contexts and address a wide range of questions spanning from recent complex topics to semi historical events and future concerns causing traumatic anxiety While most chapters explore the process of healing and recovery from traumatic experiences during fieldwork based research few chapters also propose constructive approaches for developing personal and institutional methodologies and techniques to better prepare researchers to cope with secondary trauma The book offers useful insights and concrete changes in research methodologies that can help minimize the risk of trauma and new approaches to preventing and handling the consequences of conducting field based social research in traumatic environments It was originally published as a special issue of Social Epistemology

Affective Dimensions of Fieldwork and Ethnography Thomas Stodulka, Samia Dinkelaker, Ferdiansyah Thajib, 2019-08-20 This book illustrates the role of researchers affects and emotions in understanding and making sense of the phenomena they study during ethnographic fieldwork Whatever methods ethnographers apply during field research however close they get to their informants and no matter how involved or detached they feel fieldwork pushes them to constantly negotiate and reflect their subjectivities and positionalities in relation to the persons communities spaces and phenomena they study The book highlights the idea that ethnographic fieldwork is based on the attempt of communication mutual understanding and perspective taking on behalf of and together with those studied With regard to the institutionally silenced yet informally emphasized necessity of ethnographers emotional immersion into the local worlds they research defined as emic perspective narrating through the eyes of the Other seeing the world from the informants point of view etc this book pursues the disentanglement of affect related disciplinary conventions by means of transparent vivid and systematic case studies and their methodological discussion The book provides nineteen case studies on the relationship between methodology intersubjectivity and emotion in qualitative and ethnographic research and includes six section introductions to the pivotal issues of role conflict reciprocity intimacy and care illness and dying failing and attuning and emotion regimes in fieldwork and ethnography Affective Dimensions of Fieldwork and Ethnography is a must have resource for post graduate students and researchers across the disciplines of social and cultural anthropology medical anthropology psychological anthropology cultural psychology critical theory cultural phenomenology and cultural sociology

The Palgrave Handbook of Social Fieldwork Nasir Uddin,Alak Paul,2023-04-14 This handbook offers epistemologically and ontologically important personal accounts of academic and professional researchers having long term intensive comprehensive and ethnographic fieldwork in various social settings and versatile regional contexts across the globe The accounts are cross disciplinary including anthropology sociology geography political sciences gender studies forestry and environmental studies economics and international relations They are also trans regional covering the globe including South Asia Southeast Asia Africa Europe Latin America and North America The book offers a comprehensive portrait of multifaceted challenges that social researchers experience while doing fieldwork in various social settings The accounts provide both challenges of doing fieldwork in the 21st century and the ways how to address redress them in the field by complying with the codes of ethics and the politics of fieldwork Readers will benefit from the handbook by understanding methodological issues from both disciplinary relevance and regional specificity across time and spaces

The Entanglements of Ethnographic Fieldwork in a Violent World Nerina Weiss,Erella Grassiani,Linda Green,2023-02-15 This book focuses on the emotional hazards of conducting fieldwork about or within contexts of violence and provides a forum for field based researchers to tell their stories Increasingly novice and seasoned ethnographers alike whether by choice or chance are working in situations where multidimensional forms of violence conflict and war are facets of everyday life The volume engages with the methodological and ethical issues involved and features a range of expressive writings that reveal personal consequences and dilemmas The contributors use their emotions their scars outrage and sadness alongside their hopes and resilience to give voice to that which is often silenced to make visible the entanglements of fieldwork and its lingering vulnerabilities The book brings to the fore the lived experiences of researchers and their interlocutors alike with the hope of fostering communities of care It will be valuable reading for anthropologists and those from other disciplines who are embarking on ethnographic fieldwork and conducting qualitative empirical research
