ethnographic findings can enhance Amerindian scholarship overall Fortis also explores the fact that to ask what it means for the Kuna people to carve the figure of a person is to pose a riddle about the culture's complete concept of knowing Also incorporating notions of landscape islands gardens and ancient trees as well as cycles of life including the influence of illness Fortis places the statues at the center of a network of social relationships that entangle people with nonhuman entities As an activity carried out by skilled elderly men who possess embodied knowledge of lifelong transformations the carving process is one that mediates mortal worlds with those of immortal primordial spirits Kuna Art and Shamanism immerses readers in this sense of unity and opposition between soul and body internal forms and external appearances and image and design
