Fifth Avenue A Very Social Story:

The Grandest Madison Square Garden Suzanne Hinman, 2019-05-23 November 1891 the heart of Gilded Age Manhattan Thousands filled the streets surrounding Madison Square fingers pointing mouths agape After countless struggles Stanford White the country's most celebrated architect was about to dedicate America's tallest tower the final cap set atop his Madison Square Garden the country's grandest new palace of pleasure Amid a flood of electric light and fireworks the gilded figure topping the tower was suddenly revealed an eighteen foot nude sculpture of Diana the Roman Virgin Goddess of the Hunt created by Augustus Saint Gaudens the country's finest sculptor and White's dearest pal The Grandest Madison Square Garden tells the remarkable story behind the construction of the second 1890 Madison Square Garden and the controversial sculpture that crowned it Set amid the magnificent achievements of nineteenth century American art and architecture the book delves into the fascinating private lives of the era's most prominent architect and sculptor and the nature of their intimate relationship Hinman shows how both men pushed the boundaries of America's parochial aesthetic ushering in an era of art that embraced European styles with American vitality Situating the Garden's seminal place in the history of New York City as well as the entire country The Grandest Madison Square Garden brings to life a tale of architecture art and spectacle amid the elegant yet scandal ridden culture of Gotham's decadent era

Fifth Avenue Kate Simon, 1978 Few streets in the world hold the allure of Fifth Avenue And through the years from its opening in 1826 through its development as the locus of New York society to its present status as the hub of luxury commerce in New York it has been the scene of and witness to some of the most extraordinary people and events in our nation's history Now in Fifth Avenue A Very Social History we have a biography of this great boulevard written by Kate Simon author of New York Places and Pleasures one of a series of the most distinguished travel books of our time Her brisk engaging and compelling narrative brings to life worlds now long gone but still palpable today on America's greatest street the World of Money of the Vanderbilts and Whitneys and Astor the highest society of the original Four Hundred and their extravagant balls and parties in mammoth mansions on the Avenue the World of Art and the great Duveen dealer and cultural arbiter of Mabel Dodge Luhan holding forth in her brownstone at the foot of the Avenue hostess to burgeoning circles of Greenwich Village intelligentsia in the 1910s the palaces of Frick and Carnegie and the Guggenheim Museum itself the World of Fashion and the merchants who owned Bonwit's and Bergdorf's Saks and Tiffany's catering to the tastes whims and extravagant spending of Fifth Avenue's swells and ladies the World of the outsiders in Harlem along the Avenue's uppermost reaches or in the pestilential swamp that was to become Central Park and worlds indefinable of Mme Restell the society abortionist of the dazzling Frederick Law Olmsted the architect of Central Park of the raging mobs of the Civil War draft riots of the different sort of money that came along after World War II destroying much of the Avenue's richest heritage and replacing it with grim facades of anonymous office towers Kate Simon has painted a dazzling panorama of a century and a half a tableau vivant illuminated and played out on the pavements of one of the most prestigious avenues in the world Writing Our Lives Steven Joel Rubin, 1991 Twenty eight selections from the writings of some of the best known American Jewish novelists dramatists critics and historians span the social and cultural history of American Jews in the twentieth century Often joyous occasionally tragic they provide a fascinating record from immigration to assimilation from life in the ghetto to the current movement by many to recapture their Jewish identity At once personal and historical the selections are poignant and moving testimonies to the perseverance of the American Jewish people The Creative Destruction of Manhattan, 1900-1940 Max Page, 1999 The oxymoron creative destruction suggests the tensions that are at the heart of urban life between stability and change between particular places and undifferentiated spaces between market forces and planning controls and between the natural and unnatural in city growth Page investigates these cultural counter weights through case studies of Manhattan s development with depictions ranging from private real estate development along Fifth Avenue to Jacob Riis s slum clearance efforts on the Lower East Side from the elimination of street trees to the efforts to save City Hall from demolition Contrary to the popular sense of New York as an ahistorical city the past as recalled by powerful citizens was in fact at the heart of defining how the city would be built BOOK JACKET Major 20th-century Writers, 1991 The Companion Guide to New York Michael Leapman, 1999 The perfect guide to this tremendous city OBSERVER Written with unfailing common sense as well as insight and affection the perfect guide to this tremendous city OBSERVER A true traveller s companion and friend SUNDAY TELEGRAPH For more than thirty years Michael Leapman has been intimately involved with New York as a journalist resident or frequent visitor Here he takes readers with him on a series of walks through the heart of Manhattan and beyond explaining how it came to be the world s most fabulous city as well as revealing its present day secrets When the original edition of this incomparable guide was published in 1983 it won the Thomas Cook award as the guide book of the year After he revised it in 1991 it was chosen by New York Magazine as the best of nearly a hundred books about the city Now he has been back to retrace his steps Thoroughly updated this book is packed with inspiration revelation and sound practical advice MICHAEL LEAPMAN lived in New York for seven years as correspondent for The Times reporting perceptively on the city s delights and foibles He continues to visit New York regularly and to write about it for magazines and other newspapers This is a reissue of a book first published in 1983 and last revised in 2000 It therefore includes references to and descriptions of the World Trade Center These have been left in for historical interest Angel of the Anzacs Carole Van Grondelle, 2000 Nora Luxford s life spanned the twentieth century and circled the globe taking her from turn of the century Hawke s Bay to Hollywood s golden age and the elite circles of New York society She became well known in New Zealand for her radio broadcasts but it was the Anzac club which touched the lives of thousands of young New Zealand and Australian servicemen that she considered was her greatest achievement A Season of Splendor Greg King, 2008-10-01 Journey through the splendor and the excesses of the Gilded Age Every aspect of life in the Gilded Age took
