Great Western: County Classes David Maidment, 2018-06-30 British Railways David Maidment presents a pictorial history of the county class trains designed by George Jackson Churchward and F W Hawksworth The Great Western Railway had two classes of tender locomotives named after counties The first class of two cylinder 4 4 0 tender locomotives designed by George Jackson Churchward were introduced in the 1900s to provide efficient motive power including lines on the North West route between Hereford and Shrewsbury owned jointly by the Great Western and the London and North Western Railway The 4 4 0 counties were in service until the early 1930s when they were withdrawn and replaced by more modern motive power The 4 4 0 counties were paralleled in design by the county 4 4 2 tanks which operated suburban services in the London area and were also withdrawn in the early 1930s In 1945 the Great Western introduced the County Class 4 6 0 tender locomotives designed by F W Hawksworth These two cylinder machines had a high pressure boiler that was meant to give the same tractive effort as a Castle Class 4 6 0 four cylinder locomotive After modifications and boiler pressure reduction the County Class 4 6 0s operated in express and semi fast train service until the last members of the class were withdrawn in 1964 Great Western County Classes The Churchward 4 4 0s 4 4 2 Tanks and Hawksworth 4 6 0s details the fascinating history of the trains that were a crucial part of England's twentieth century transportation system

Great Western Castle Class 4-6-0 Locomotives, 1923-1959 David Maidment, Bob Meanley, 2023-02-16 The Great Western Castles were one of the most successful locomotive designs of the twentieth century in terms of both performance and efficiency Designed by Charles Collett in 1923 based on the 1907 Churchward Star class 155 were constructed almost continuously apart from the war years between 1923 and 1950 in addition to fifteen rebuilt Stars and one rebuilt from the Great Bear Pacific Many were modernised with increased superheat and double chimneys in the late 1950s and the class continued to be the mainstay of all Western Region express passenger services to the West Country South Wales Gloucestershire Herefordshire and the West Midlands until replaced by the WR diesel hydraulic fleet in the early 1960s This book covers their design in a chapter written by Bob Meanley who masterminded the restoration at Tyseley Works of the Castles Earl of Mount Edgcumbe and Clun Castle and their history operation and performance from the high speed of the 1930s through to their rejuvenation in the 1950s leaving experience of their last years and preservation to another volume David Maidment had close experience of the class when working at Old Oak Common between 1957 and 1962 and includes his personal experiences there and on the road from his first encounter with one as a six year old boy The book includes 350 photographs some 40 in color and 23 detailed Swindon technical drawings

Tender Locomotives David Maidment,2017-02-14 The Great Western Railway experienced the trauma and disruption of the end of the broad gauge in 1892 and were faced with equipping the network with suitable motive power especially in Devon and Cornwall where the last track conversion had taken place West of Newton Abbot the GWR had relied on a variety of 4 4 0 2 4 0 0 4 2 and 0 4 4 side and saddle tanks often doubled headed and Dean set about designing a sturdy outside framed powerful 4 4 0 with 5ft 8in coupled wheels the Dukes to tackle increasing loads over the heavily graded main line Then Churchward came to assist the ailing Locomotive Superintendent using his knowledge and experience of American and continental practice to develop the Dean designs He improved the efficiency and performance of the boilers using the Belgian Belpaire firebox then developed the tapered cone boiler and applied it to the chassis of the Duke s to form the Camel class later known as the Bulldogs which eventually numbered 156 locomotives Finally in the 1930s when engines of the Duke route availability were still required but their frames were life expired their boilers were matched with the stronger frames of the Bulldogs to form the Dukedog class which lasted until the 1950s particularly on the former Cambrian lines in mid Wales This book recounts the design construction and operation of these small wheeled outside framed locomotives with many rare photos of their operation in the first decade of the twentieth century as well as in more recent times The Great
