Fiction and the Shape of Belief Sheldon Sacks, The Routledge Handbook of Fiction and Belief Alison James, Akihiro Kubo, Françoise Lavocat, 2023-12-22 The Routledge Handbook of Fiction and Belief offers a fresh reevaluation of the relationship between fiction and belief surveying key debates and perspectives from a range of disciplines including narrative and cultural studies science religion and politics This volume draws on global cutting edge research and theory to investigate the historically variable understandings of fictionality and allows readers to grasp the role of fictions in our understanding of the world This interdisciplinary approach provides a thorough introduction to the fundamental themes of Theoretical and Philosophical Perspectives on Fiction Fiction Fact and Science Social Effects and Uses of Fiction Fiction and Politics Fiction and Religion Questioning how fictions in fact shape mediate or distort our beliefs about the real world essays in this volume outline the state of theoretical debates from the perspectives of literary theory philosophy sociology religious studies history and the cognitive sciences It aims to take stock of the real or supposed effects that fiction has on the world and to offer a wide reaching reflection on the implications of belief in fictions in the so called post truth era

Theoretical Schools and Circles in the Twentieth-Century Humanities Marina Grishakova, Silvi Salupere, 2015-04-10 Schools and circles have been a major force in twentieth century intellectual movements They fostered circulation of ideas within and between disciplines thus altering the shape of intellectual inquiry This volume offers a new perspective on theoretical schools in the humanities both as generators of conceptual knowledge and as cultural phenomena The structuralist semiotic phenomenological and hermeneutical schools and circles have had a deep impact on various disciplines ranging from literary studies to philosophy historiography and sociology The volume focuses on a set of loosely interrelated groups with a strong literary linguistic and semiotic component but extends to the fields of philosophy and history the interdisciplinary conjunctions arising from a sense of conceptual kinship It includes chapters on unstudied or less studied groups such as Tel Aviv School of poetics and semiotics or the research group Poetics and Hermeneutics The volume presents a significant supplement to the standard historical accounts of literary critical and related theory in the twentieth century It enhances and complicates our understanding of the twentieth century intellectual and academic history by showing schools and circles in the state of germination dialogue controversy or decline in their respective historical and institutional settings while reaching simultaneously beyond those dense settings to the new cultural and ideological situations of the twenty first century

Windows to the World: Literature in Christian Perspective Leland Ryken, 2000-04-10 This is a teacher's book written by an able teacher. Most people are interested in literature because of a deep love for literature itself. They want to understand the reasons for that love. Ryken helps us do this but he also helps Christians understand and validate their love for literature. Ryken has also provided a solid means for non-Christians to understand a Christian perspective on literature. It Windows to the World comes closer to defining the goal and task of the teacher of literature than any work I have read. Christianity and Literature

Now Don't Try to Reason with Me Wayne C. Booth, 1970 In this entertaining collection of essays Wayne Booth looks for the much maligned middle ground for reason a rhetoric that can unite truths of the heart with truths of the head and allow us all to discover shared convictions in mutual inquiry. First delivered as lectures in the 1960s when Booth was a professor at Earlham College and the University of Chicago. Now Don't Try to Reason with Me still resounds with anyone struggling for consensus in a world of us versus them. Professor Booth's earnestness is graced by wit, irony and generous humor. Louis Coxe New Republic

Narratology Genevieve Liveley, 2019-03-28 This volume explores the extraordinary contribution that classical poetics has made to twentieth and twenty first century theories of narrative aiming not to argue that modern narratologies simply present old wine in new wineskins but rather to identify the diachronic affinities shared between ancient and modern stories about storytelling. By recognizing that modern narratologists bring a particular expertise to bear upon ancient literary theory and by interrogating ancient and modern narratologies through the mutually imbricating dynamics of their reception it seeks to arrive at a better understanding of both. Each chapter selects a key moment in the history of narratology on which to focus providing an overview of significant phases before offering detailed analyses of core theories and texts from the Russian formalists and Chicago school neo-Aristotelians through the prestructuralists, structuralists and poststructuralists up to the latest unnatural and antimimetic narratologists. The reception history that thus unfolds offers some remarkable plot twists and yields valuable insights into the interpretation of some notoriously difficult ancient works. Plato in the Republic is unmasked as an unreliable narrator and theorist while Aristotle's On Poets reveals a rare glimpse of the philosopher putting narrative theory into practice in the role of storyteller. Horace's Ars Poetica and the works of ancient scholia by critics and commentators evince a rhetorically conceived poetics and sophisticated reader response based narratology which indicate a keen interest in audience affect and cognition anticipating the cognitive turn in narratology's most recent postclassical phase.

The Utopian Novel in America, 1886-1896 Jean Pfaelzer, 2010-11-23 In the late 1800s Americans flocked to cities, immigration, slums and unemployment burgeoned and America's role in foreign affairs grew. This period also spawned a number of fictional glimpses into the future. After the publication of Edward Bellamy's Looking Backward in 1888 there was an outpouring of utopian fantasy many of which promoted socialism while others presented refined versions of capitalism Jean Pfaelzer's study traces the impact of the utopian novel and the narrative structures of these sentimental romances She discusses progressive pastoral feminist and apocalyptic utopias as well as the genre's parodic counterpart the dystopia

Theory and the Novel Jeffrey Williams, 1998-12-03 Narrative features such as frames digressions or authorial intrusions have traditionally been viewed as distractions from or anomalies in the narrative proper In Theory and the Novel Jeffrey Williams exposes these elements as more than simple disruptions analysing them as registers of narrative reflexivity that is moments that represent and advertise the functioning of narrative itself Williams argues that narrative encodes and advertises its own functioning and modal form He takes a range of novels from the English canon Tristram Shandy Joseph Andrews The Turn of the Screw Wuthering Heights Lord Jim and Heart of Darkness are amongst the novels examined and shows how narrative technique is never beyond or outside plot He poses a series of theoretical questions such as about reflexivity imitation and fictionality to offer a striking and original contribution to readings of the English novel as well as to discussions of theory in general

Unsettled Accounts Simon J. James, 2003-12-08 Simon J James examines how Gissing's work reveals an unhappy accommodation with money's underwriting of human existence and culture and how daily life in all its forms moral intellectual familial and erotic is transcended or made irrelevant by its commodification

Startling Figures Michael O'Connell, 2023-08-01 Startling Figures is about Catholic fiction in a secular age and the rhetorical strategies Catholic writers employ to reach a skeptical indifferent or even hostile audience Although characters in contemporary Catholic fiction frequently struggle with doubt and fear these works retain a belief in the possibility for transcendent meaning and value beyond the limits of the purely secular Individual chapters include close readings of some of the best works of contemporary American Catholic fiction which shed light on the narrative techniques that Catholic writers use to point their characters and their readers beyond the horizon of secularity and toward an idea of transcendence while also making connections between the widely acknowledged twentieth century masters of the form and their twenty first century counterparts This book is focused both on the aspects of craft that Catholic writers employ to shape the reader's experience of the story and on the effect the story has on the reader One recurring theme that is central to both is how often Catholic writers use narrative violence and other similar disorienting techniques in order to unsettle the reader These moments can leave both characters within the stories and the readers themselves shaken and unmoored and this O'Connell argues is often a first step toward the recognition and even possibly the acceptance of grace Individual chapters look at these themes in the works of Flannery O'Connor J.F. Powers Walker Percy Tim Gautreaux Alice McDermott George Saunders and Phil Klay and Kirstin Valdez Quade
