Misadventures in Archaeology Carolyn D. Dillian,Charles A. Bello,2020-03-13 A comprehensive portrait of the controversial self taught archaeologist C C Abbott In the late nineteenth century Charles Conrad Abbott a medical doctor and self taught archaeologist gained notoriety for his theories on early humans He believed in an American Paleolithic represented by an early Ice Age occupation of the New World that paralleled that of Europe a popular scientific topic at the time He attempted to prove that the Trenton gravels glacial outwash deposits near the Delaware River contained evidence of an early primitive population that pre dated Native Americans His theories were ultimately overturned in acrimonious public debate with government scientists most notably William Henry Holmes of the Smithsonian Institution His experience and the rise and fall of his scientific reputation paralleled a major shift in the field toward an increasing professionalization of archaeology and science as a whole This is the first biography of Charles Conrad Abbott to address his archaeological research beyond the Paleolithic debate including his early attempts at historical archaeology on Burlington Island in the Delaware River and prehistoric Middle Woodland collections made throughout his lifetime at Three Beeches in New Jersey now the Abbott Farm National Historic Landmark It also delves into his modestly successful career as a nature writer As an archaeologist he held a position with the Peabody Museum at Harvard University and was the first curator of the American Section at the Penn Museum He also attempted to create a museum of American archaeology at Princeton University Through various sources including archival letters and diaries this book provides the most complete picture of the quirky and curmudgeonly C C Abbott

Archaeology of the Ionian Sea Christina Souyoudzoglou-Haywood,Christina Papoulia,2021-12-22 Presents a thematic collection of papers dealing with the Stone Age and Bronze Age archaeology of the Ionian Sea situated off the south western Balkan peninsula It is based on an international conference held in Athens Greece in January 2020 The eastern Ionian occupies a geographically complex area which since the Pleistocene has undergone significant alterations due to tectonic activity and sea level fluctuations This dynamic environment where islands mainland and sea intertwined to present different landscapes and seascapes to the human communities exploring the region at different times in the past provides an ideal setting for their study from a diachronic perspective This book deals thematically with the processes of circulation of people materials artefacts and ideas by examining patterns of settlement burial and multi layered interconnections between the different communities via land and sea It investigates aspects of regional and interregional communication isolation collective memory and the creation of distinct identities within and between different cultural and social groups It focuses on the islands of the Central Ionian Sea offering new data from excavations and surveys on Zakynthos Kefalonia Ithaki and the smaller islands of the Inner Ionian Archipelago between Lefkada and Akarnania The cultural interchange between the islands and the continental coasts is reflected in the volume with the addition of chapters dealing with contemporary sites in west Greece and southeast Italy The Ionian often regarded as at the fringes of the Aegean the Balkan and the central Mediterranean archaeological discourse has lately offered new and exciting data that not only enrich but also alter our perceptions of mobility settlement and interaction The collection of papers in this book enhances theoretical discussions by offering a geographically and culturally comparative approach ranging from the earliest Palaeolithic evidence of human presence in the region to the end of the Bronze Age

An Archaeology of Asian Transnationalism Douglas E. Ross,2013-10-22 In the early twentieth century an industrial salmon cannery thrived along the Fraser River in British Columbia Chinese factory workers lived in an adjoining bunkhouse and Japanese fishermen lived with their families in a nearby camp Today the complex is nearly gone and the site overgrown with vegetation but artifacts from these immigrant communities linger just beneath the surface In this groundbreaking comparative archaeological study of Asian immigrants in North America Douglas Ross excavates the Ewen Cannery to explore how its immigrant workers formed a new cultural identity in the face of dramatic displacement Ross demonstrates how some homeland practices persisted while others changed in response to new contextual factors reflecting the complexity of migrant experiences Instead of treating ethnicity as a bounded stable category Ross shows that ethnic identity is shaped and transformed as cultural traditions from home and host societies come together in the context of local choices structural constraints and consumer society devotion to Hawaiian shirts      Archaeology at Shiloh Indian Mounds, 1899-1999 Paul D. Welch, 2006 One hundred years of archaeological excavations at an important American landmark the Shiloh Indian Mounds archaeological site a National Historic Landmark The Shiloh Indian Mounds archaeological site a National Historic Landmark is a late prehistoric community within the boundaries of the Shiloh National Military Park on the banks of the Tennessee River where one of the bloodiest battles of the Civil War was fought in April 1862 Dating between AD 1000 and 1450 the archaeological site includes at least eight mounds and more than 100 houses It is unique in that the land has never been plowed so visitors can walk around the area and find the collapsed remains of 800 year old houses and the 900 meter long palisade with bastions that protected the village in prehistoric times Although its location within a National Park boundary has protected the area from the recent ravages of man riverbank erosion began to undermine the site in the 1970s In the mid 1990s Paul Welch began a four year investigation culminating in a comprehensive report to the National Park Service on the Shiloh Indian Mounds These published findings confirm that the Shiloh site was one of at least fourteen Mississippian mound sites located within a 50 km area and that Shiloh was abandoned in approximately AD 1450 It also establishes other parameters for the Shiloh archaeological phase This current volume is intended to make information about the first 100 years of excavations at the Shiloh site available to the archaeological community
