Anthology of American Literature: Colonial through romantic George L. McMichael, 2000 For courses in American Literary Survey This leading two volume anthology represents America's literary heritage from the colonial times of William Bradford and Anne Bradstreet to the contemporary era of Saul Bellow and Alice Walker Volume I covers Christopher Columbus through Walt Whitman and Emily Dickinson      Guía bibliográfica para el estudio de la literatura de los Estados Unidos Carme Manuel Cuenca, 2011-11-28 Carme Manuel presenta en aquest volum una selecció de les principals publicacions editades per a l'estudi de la literatura dels Estats Units      Anthology of American Literature George McMichael, Frederick C. Crews, 1997 Represents the American literary works most respected by modern scholars Volume I covers Christopher Columbus through Walt Whitman and Emily Dickinson This book also emphasizes the contributions to the American literary canon made by women and minority authors Extensive explanatory headnotes and footnotes link the works and authors of a period and provide readers with additional insights into each selection New to this edition is an expanded presentation of Native American literature myths tales autobiography etc      The Elusive Prominence of Maxwell Anderson in the American Theater Russell Dinapoli, 2011-11-28 Instructivo ameno y documentado de manera soberbia este libro constituye el primer estudio relevante sobre Maxwell Anderson publicado en España El trabajo de DiNapoli ofrece una excelente introducción a este interesante aunque controvertido dramaturgo      Concise Anthology of American Literature George McMichael, Frederick C. Crews, J. C. Levenson, 1998 The one volume concise edition provides a varied representation of writers who give voice to the American experience Although the concise edition offers fewer complete long works than the two volume set still included are Franklin The Autobiography Melville Billy Budd Miller Death of a Salesman and Twain Adventures of Huckleberry Finn      Reference Works in British and American Literature James K. Bracken, 1990

Writing the Environment in Nineteenth-Century American Literature Steven Petersheim, Madison Jones IV, 2015-09-17 The nineteenth century roots of environmental writing in American literature are often mentioned in passing and sometimes studied piece by piece Writing the Environment in Nineteenth Century American Literature The Ecological Awareness of Early Scribes of Nature brings together numerous explorations of environmentally aware writing across the genres of nineteenth century literature Like Lawrence Buell the authors of this collection find Thoreau's writing a touchstone of nineteenth century environmental writing particularly focusing on Thoreau's claim that humans may function as scribes of nature However these studies of Thoreau's antecedents contemporaries and successors also reveal a range of other writers in the nineteenth century whose literary treatments of nature are often more environmentally attuned than most readers have noticed The writers whose works are studied in this collection include canonical and forgotten writers men and women early nineteenth century and late nineteenth century authors pioneers and conservationists They drew attention to the conflicted relationships between humans and the American continent as experienced by Native Americans and European Americans Taken together these essays offer a fresh perspective on the roots of environmental literature in nineteenth century American nonfiction fiction and poetry as well as in multi genre compositions such as the travel writings of Margaret Fuller Bringing largely forgotten voices such as John Godman alongside canonical voices such as Nathaniel Hawthorne Herman Melville Walt Whitman and Emily Dickinson the authors whose writings are studied in this collection produced a diverse tapestry of nascent American environmental writing in the nineteenth century From early nineteenth century writers such as poet Philip Freneau and novelist Charles Brockden Brown to later nineteenth century conservationists such as John James Audubon and John Muir Scribes of Nature shows the development of an environmental consciousness and a growing conservationist ethos in American literature Given their often surprisingly healthy respect for the natural environment these nineteenth century writers offer us much to consider in an age of environmental crisis The complexities of the supposed nature culture divide still work into our lives today as economic and environmental issues are often seen at loggerheads when they ought to be seen as part of the same conversation of what it means to live healthy lives and to pass on a healthy world to those who follow us in a world where human activity is becoming increasingly threatening to the health of our planet

Catalog of Copyright Entries. Third Series Library of Congress. Copyright Office, 1978 Literature of Suburban Change Martin Dines, 2020-03-02 Explores how American writers articulate the complexity of twentieth century suburbia Examines the ways American writers from the 1960s to the present including John Updike Richard Ford Gloria Naylor Jeffrey Eugenides D J Waldie Alison Bechdel Chris Ware Jhumpa Lahiri Junot Diaz and John Barth have sought to articulate the complexity of the US suburbs Analyses the relationships between literary form and the spatial and temporal dimensions of the environment Scrutinises increasingly prominent literary and cultural forms including novel sequences memoir drama graphic novels and short story cycles Combines insights drawn from recent historiography of the US suburbs and cultural geography with analyses of over twenty five texts to provide a fresh outlook on the literary history of American suburbia The Literature of Suburban Change examines the diverse body of cultural material produced since 1960 responding to the defining habitat of twentieth century USA the suburbs Martin Dines analyses how writers have innovated across a range of forms and genres including novel sequences memoirs plays comics and short story cycles in order to make sense of the complexity of suburbia Drawing on insights from recent historiography and cultural geography Dines offers a new perspective on the literary history of the US suburbs He argues that by giving time back to these apparently timeless places writers help reactivate the suburbs presenting them not as fixed finished and familiar but rather as living multifaceted environments that are still in production and under exploration      The ISLE Reader Michael P. Branch, Scott Slovic, 2003 This volume gathers nineteen of the most representative and defining essays from the journal ISLE Interdisciplinary Studies in Literature and Environment over the course of its first ten years Following an introduction that traces the stages of ecocriticism's development The ISLE Reader is organized into three sections each of which reflects one of the general goals the journal has sought to accomplish The section titled Re evaluations provides new readings of familiar environmental writers and new environmental perspectives on authors or literary traditions not usually considered from a green perspective The writings in Reaching Out to Other Disciplines promote cross pollination among various disciplines and methodologies in the environmental arts and humanities The writings in the final section New Theoretical and Practical Paradigms are especially significant for the conceptual and methodological terrain they map The ISLE Reader documents the state of research in ecocriticism and related interdisciplinary fields provides a survey of the field and points to new methodologies and possibilities for the future
