Sluka, 2012-01-24 Newly revised Ethnographic Fieldwork An Anthropological Reader Second Edition provides readers with a picture of the breadth variation and complexity of fieldwork The updated selections offer insight into the ethnographer s experience of gathering and analyzing data and a richer understanding of the conflicts hazards and ethical challenges of pursuing fieldwork around the globe Offers an international collection of classic and contemporary readings to provide students with a broad understanding of historical methodological ethical reflexive and stylistic issues in fieldwork Features 16 new articles and revised part introductions with additional insights into the experience of conducting ethnographic fieldwork Explores the importance of fieldwork practice in achieving the core theoretical and methodological goals of anthropology Highlights the personal and professional challenges of field researchers from issues of professional identity fieldwork relations activism and the conflicts hazards and ethical concerns of community work Observers Observed George W. Stocking, 1984-01-17 History of Anthropology is a new series of annual volumes each of which will treat an important theme in the history of anthropological inquiry For this initial volume the editors have chosen to focus on the modern cultural anthropology intensive fieldwork by participant observation Observers Observed includes essays by a distinguished group of historians and anthropologists covering major episodes in the history of ethnographic fieldwork in the American British and French traditions since 1880 As the first work to investigate the development of modern fieldwork in a serious historical way this collection will be of great interest and value to anthropologist historians of science and the social sciences and the general readers interested in the way in which modern anthropologists have perceived and described the cultures of others Included in this volume are the contributions of Homer G Barnett University of Oregon James Clifford University of California Santa Cruz Douglas Cole Simon Frazer University Richard Handler Lake Forest College Curtis Hinsley Colgate University Joan Larcom Mount Holyoke College Paul Rabinow University of California Berkeley and the editor , Constructing the Field Vered Amit, 2003-12-16 Ethnographic fieldwork is traditionally seen as what distinguishes social and cultural anthropology from the other social sciences This collection responds to the intensifying scrutiny of fieldwork in recent years It challenges the idea of the necessity for the total immersion of the ethnographer in the field and for the clear separation of professional and personal areas of activity The very existence of the field as an entity separate from everyday life is questioned Fresh perspectives on contemporary fieldwork are provided by diverse case studies from across North America and Europe These contributions give a thorough appraisal of what fieldwork is and should be and an extra dimension is added through fascinating accounts of the personal experiences of anthropologists in the field

Affective Dimensions of Fieldwork and Ethnography Thomas Stodulka, Samia Dinkelaker, Ferdiansyah Thajib, 2019-08-20 This book illustrates the role of researchers affects and emotions in understanding and making sense of the phenomena they study during ethnographic fieldwork Whatever methods ethnographers apply during field research however close they get to their informants and no matter how involved or detached they feel fieldwork pushes them to constantly negotiate and reflect their subjectivities and positionalities in relation to the persons communities spaces and phenomena they study The book highlights the idea that ethnographic fieldwork is based on the attempt of communication mutual understanding and perspective taking on behalf of and together with those studied With regard to the institutionally silenced yet informally emphasized necessity of ethnographers emotional immersion into the local worlds they research defined as emic perspective narrating through the eyes of the Other seeing the world from the informants point of view etc this book pursues the disentanglement of affect related disciplinary conventions by means of transparent vivid and systematic case studies and their methodological discussion The book provides nineteen case studies on the relationship between methodology intersubjectivity and emotion in qualitative and ethnographic research and includes six section introductions to the pivotal issues of role conflict reciprocity intimacy and care illness and dying failing and attuning and emotion regimes in fieldwork and ethnography Affective Dimensions of Fieldwork and Ethnography is a must have resource for post graduate students and researchers across the disciplines of social and cultural anthropology medical anthropology psychological anthropology cultural psychology critical theory cultural phenomenology and cultural sociology The Art of Fieldwork Harry F. Wolcott, 2005 In this long anticipated second edition of The Art of Fieldwork prominent anthropologist Harry F Wolcott updates his original groundbreaking text which both challenges and petitions anthropology and its practitioners to draw not only on the traditional precepts of science but also on the richness of artistry in the collection interpretation and expression of fieldwork data Each of the original chapters have been thoughtfully revised to reflect the past nine years of anthropological development Combined with a new final chapter this refreshing text makes an exciting reentry into the ongoing debate of the processes challenges and rewards of fieldwork methodology Researchers in qualitative methods and field methods_ and fieldworkers across disciplines_ will find this well crafted approachable book a thought provoking read

Anthropological Locations Akhil Gupta, James Ferguson, 2023-09-01 Among the social sciences anthropology relies most fundamentally on fieldwork the long term immersion in another way of life as the basis for knowledge In an era when anthropologists are studying topics that resist geographical localization this book initiates a long overdue discussion of the political and epistemological implications of the disciplinary commitment to fieldwork These innovative stimulating essays carefully chosen to form a coherent whole interrogate the notion of the field showing how the concept is historically constructed and exploring the consequences of its dominance The essays discuss anthropological work done in places in refugee camps on television or among populations gays and lesbians homeless people in the United States that challenge the traditional boundaries of the field The contributors suggest alternative methodologies appropriate for contemporary problems and ultimately propose a reformation of the discipline of anthropology Among the social sciences anthropology relies most fundamentally on fieldwork the long term immersion in another way of life as the basis for knowledge In an era when anthropologists are studying topics that resist geographical localization this book

Fieldwork Journal Kenneth J Guest, 2023 Helping students apply their anthropological toolkit to the real world Being an Anthropologist Franz Boas, 1970 Doing Cultural Anthropology Michael V. Angrosino, 2006-08-10 As a practical bridge between the classroom and the field this down to earth hands on collection offers an impressive range of insightful focused vignettes about cultural research that will jumpstart students thinking about the practice of anthropology Reflecting the contributions of nearly two dozen practicing social scientists each clearly written chapter of Doing Cultural Anthropology covers the fundamentals of a different data collection technique Following an overview of a particular ethnographic method each author describes his or her own research project and shows how that technique is utilized Learning by doing remains the thrust of the latest edition which includes two new chapters plus significant revisions to five of the original contributions Each chapter ends with suggestions for student projects that promote hands on exposure to what ethnographers actually do Readers are given just enough information to appreciate the technique and to practice it for themselves

Encountering Morocco David Crawford, Rachel Newcomb, 2013-05-15 Encountering Morocco introduces readers to life in this North African country through vivid accounts of fieldwork as personal experience and intellectual journey We meet the contributors at diverse stages of their careers from the unmarried researcher arriving for her first stint in the field to the seasoned fieldworker returning with spouse and children They offer frank descriptions of what it means to take up residence in a place where one is regarded as an outsider learn the language and local customs and struggle to develop rapport Moving reflections on friendship kinship and belief within the cross cultural encounter reveal why study of Moroccan society has played such a seminal role in the development of cultural anthropology

Taboo Don Kulick, Margaret Willson, 2003-09-02 Taboo looks at the ethnographer and sexuality in anthropological fieldwork and considers the many roles that sexuality plays in the anthropological production of knowledge and texts How does the sexual identity that anthropologists have in their home society affect the kind of sexuality they are allowed to express in other cultures How is the anthropologists sexuality perceived by the people with whom he or she does research How common is sexual violence and intimidation in the field and why is its existence virtually unmentioned in anthropology These are but a few of the questions to be confronted exploring from differing perspectives the depth of the influence this tabooed topic has on the entire practice and production of anthropology A long overdue text for all students and lecturers of anthropology many post fieldwork readers will find a resonance of issues they have previously faced or tried to avoid and those who are still to undertake fieldwork will find articles that refer to other kinds of personal and professional experience as well as providing invaluable preparations for coping in the field Constructing the Field, 2000 Fieldwork is Not what it Used to be James D. Faubion, George E. Marcus, 2009 In recent times anthropologists have been challenged to rethink the nature of ethnographic research the meaning of fieldwork and the role of ethnographers In this book the authors look at the still traditional training of ethnographers and at alternative models for professional fieldwork training and its intellectual contexts Field Ethnography Paul Kutsche, 1998 For undergraduate level courses in Ethnographic Field Methods and Introduction to Cultural Anthropology Unlike other ethnographic field manuals which are either written for the graduate or professional levels or are narrowly restrictive in their methodological approach this manual focuses specifically on the needs of introductory level students It takes them by the hand and leads them step by step through the entire process through tasks that range from simple to complex and that invite students to use their own lives as tools to understand various categories of culture This task oriented and reflective approach makes this the first field manual to emphasize the investigative instrument the ethnographer as well as the cultural situations informants and techniques of analysis The Art of Fieldwork Harry F. Wolcott, 2004-12-01 In this long anticipated second edition of The Art of Fieldwork prominent anthropologist Harry F Wolcott updates his original groundbreaking text which both challenges and petitions anthropology and its practitioners to draw not only on the traditional precepts of science but also on the richness of artistry in the collection interpretation and expression of fieldwork data Each of the original chapters have been thoughtfully revised to reflect the past nine years of anthropological development Combined with a new final chapter this refreshing text makes an exciting reentry into the ongoing debate of the processes challenges and rewards of fieldwork methodology Researchers in qualitative methods and field methods_ and fieldworkers across disciplines_ will find this well crafted approachable book a thought provoking read Being an Anthropologist George Dearborn Spindler, 1970-01-01 Anthropologists in a Wider World Paul Dresch, Wendy James, David J. Parkin, 2000 A dozen papers reflect the newer perspective of studying historical patterns wider regions and global networks beyond traditional anthropological fieldwork New wave scholars reflect on their field and desk experiences and may let the field come to them e g an ethnomusicologist studies the fieldwork of others and observes non Western performances in a British museum Includes bandw photos of authors studies and a substantial bibliography The editors and
