Next-generation Computers Edward A. Torrero, 1985 Computer in Biological Sciences , Finance and Technological Change E. Santarelli, 1995-11-15 A pioneering and valuable study linking finance to innovative activity not only is the theoretical framework sound thought provoking and creative but amply supported through systematic empirical testing David B Audretsch Wissenschaftszentrum Berlin für Sozialforschung This book broadens the economic explanation of technological change by assuming that development and diffusion of new technologies are closely related to the financial arrangements and institutions which prevail in any given historical period To support his hypothesis the author combines theoretical prescriptions with empirical evidence the interdependences between technology and finance suggested in the first part of the book are therefore analysed from a historical perspective and a theoretical model is then applied to explain how R D is funded by new and already established firms in the data processing industry The book concludes with a survey of policy interventions towards various sources of innovation financing

Structural Change: The Challenge to Industrial Societies Herbert Hax, Willy Kraus, Kiyoshi Tsuchiya, 2013-03-09 The highly developed industrial countries today have to face the challenge of accelerated structural change The problems arising from this process are tackled in very different ways In the public discussion the different approaches of Japan on the one side and of Western European countries on the other have received considerable attention Structural change in its economic social and political aspects has been the subject of the 8th German Japanese Seminar on Economics and Social Sciences held at Cologne from the 24th to the 27th of September 1984 The tradition of German Japanese Seminars on Economics and Social Sciences goes back to 1966 when the first meeting was held at Tokyo Among the first participants were Dr Hiromi Arizawa Dr Kazuo Okochi both professors at the University of Tokyo and Dr Karl Hax professor at Frankfurt University The objective of all seminars which have been held since has been the analysis of economic and social problems of immediate interest in both countries The records of former seminars which have been published partly in Japanese partly in German throw light upon the shift of emphasis toward new problems which took place during a period of 18 years Power in a Changing World Economy Benjamin J. Cohen, Eric M.P.

Chiu, 2013-10-30 This book is about power in a changing world economy Though power is ubiquitous in the study of International Political Economy the concept is underdeveloped in formal theoretical terms This collection of essays analyses recent experience in East Asia to advance our theoretic understanding of state power in IPE Over the last quarter century no other region of the world has had a greater impact on the global distribution of economic resources and capabilities China with its peaceful rise now stands as the second largest national economy on the face of the earth South Korea and Taiwan have become industrial powerhouses Hong Kong and Singapore are among the world's most important financial centres and new poles of growth have emerged in several southeast Asian countries all while Japan long the region's dominant market has slipped into seemingly irreversible decline The volume's nine essays contributed by leading scholars in the United States Britain and Taiwan aim to extract relevant inferences and insights from these developments for the study of state power All are framed by a core agenda encompassing four key clusters of questions concerning the meaning sources uses and limits of power These essays ask What new lessons are offered for power analysis in International Political Economy Observing

Dynamics of Technological Change Girifalco, 2012-12-06 Technology is not an end in itself but a way of satisfying human wants It shows us how to solve the age old economic problem of surviving and prospering in a hard world But to optimize the benefits of technological advance requires an understanding of how it happens The purpose of this book is to provide some of that understanding The subject is so enormous and so intertwined with every human activity that a small selection of it and that from a special viewpoint is inevitable The selection of subject matter has been of course conditioned

by what interests me and is somewhat heterogeneous However it is connected by two major themes The first is that it emphasizes the dynamic nature of technology in the sense that it must be approached as a process evolving in time that can often be described in quantitative terms The second is that I have chosen topics that I believe are essential for a strategic sense of how to plan for execute and respond to technological change These two themes complement each other because the strategic sense requires an appreciation of the dynamics and the dynamics naturally lead to a consideration of how to deal with technology so that it can be used to achieve human objectives The unifying thought behind the book is that technological change has a systemic as well as an idiosyncratic aspect Employment problems under the conditions of rapid technological change Jürgen Müller,Theodor Dams,Masaichi Mizuno,1988-02-23 Papers presented at the 8th seminar jointly sponsored by the Economics Faculties of Freiburg University Fed Rep of Germany and Nagoya University Japan and held in 1984 in Freiburg Promote and Support Innovation and Change Ann Howard,2002 Computerworld ,1981-11-09 For more than 40 years Computerworld has been the leading source of technology news and information for IT influencers worldwide Computerworld s award winning Web site Computerworld com twice monthly publication focused conference series and custom research form the hub of the world s largest global IT media network
